CITES GREAT CRISIS

Sen. Byrd Lashes Supreme Court In Bitterest Attack

BERRYVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd D-Va., in a major speech delivered in his apple orchard, lashed out in one of his bitterest attacks on the U.S. Supreme Court Saturday and said he was "firmly and four-square" behind the state's stand of "refusing to obey an illegal decision of the Warren court."

Byrd, patriarch of Virginia's dominant Democratic Party, said the Supreme Court's desegregation decision "has brought Virginia to its greatest crisis since the war between the states."

Byrd addressed more than 3,500 guests seated on brand new apple boxes at his 34th annual box lunch picnic in his sprawling apple orchard here. He was interrupted more than 10 times and was given a standing ovation at the end.

State House of Delegates Speaker E. Blackburn Moore presented Byrd with a framed legislative resolution praising Byrd and signed by every member of the Legislature, Democrats and Republicans alike. "No citizen of Virginia has ever been so honored," Moore said.

ALMOND WIRES

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, who was unable to attend, sent greetings and described Byrd as "the greatest American living in this generation." Almond's message, read to the crowd, said Byrd's actions in Congress had placed him "at the pinnacle of American statesmanship."

Byrd also blasted at NAACP "agitators" who, he said, "are working on the theory that if Virginia can be brought to her knees, the rest of their march through the South will be less difficult."

"For just and proper reasons," he said, "the governor and the General Assembly of Virginia, carrying out the expressed will of our people after due deliberation, are refusing to obey an illegal decision of the Warren court."

"We shall fight for our position with dignity, but with every lawful means at our command," he added. "I hope we shall avoid occasion for violence or rioting."

Byrd declared he stands "firmly and four - square with the governor" of Virginia's unyielding position regarding integration.

He quoted Governor Almond's

Bomb Secrecy Is Lifted By U.S., Britain

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — The United States and Britain Saturday night removed the last vestiges of secrecy from their projects for harnessing the H bomb for peacetime power. They said they expect to achieve co - operation with scientists of all countries—including Russia.

A U.S.-British statement, issued as a preliminary to the 2nd Geneva International Atoms-for-Peace Conference, said the two governments "have declassified the programs of both countries for research on the control of thermonuclear reactions."

ABSOLUTE

Lewis L. Strauss, head of the U. S. delegation, said the action was "absolute." Sir John Cockcroft, chief British delegate, said "the whole idea is to declassify the whole field" involving use of the H-bomb process for peacetime power.

The director of Russia's atoms exhibit, a short time earlier, expressed the hope that world cooperation could be achieved to harness the H-bomb and free us from need."

The Soviets also unveiled a model of the largest thermonuclear device thus far built to solve the problem of harnessing the H-bomb for peaceful energy purposes.

Appearing at a joint news conference here, Strauss and Cockcroft indicated there was no great quantity of additional information to be made public on the subject in the West.

Cockcroft said everything in Britain has been released "except some advanced thinking." Strauss said he thought that "80 or 90 per cent" of the data in the United States has been published.

Strauss also said under questioning that an evaluation board in the United States will continue to determine whether thermonuclear information has a peacetime or military purpose.

He said the declassification would not include the use of an H-bomb to blow up a mountain, even if this were to be done for peaceful purposes.

Jonesville Man Crushed Fatally Underneath Car

Catahoula Parish Coroner Dr. Carl Passman said William James McNeely of Jonesville died an accidntal death of a fractured skull.

Members of the family said the car struck him across the chest and head as he was working on the underside of the vehicle.

He was past master of the Four Rivers Masonic Lodge No. 369 and worked as a rural mail carrier. His body will lie in state at home today until time for the services.

Full Masonic rites will be conducted at the graveside following the funeral services at 2 p. m. tomorrow with the Rev. J. O. McNair officiating. Burial will be in the New Jena cemetery under the direction of Youngs Funeral Home.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bonnie McNeely; his mother, Mrs. Maggie McNeely, both of Jonesville; two sisters, Mrs. Elvin Heider, Olla, and Mrs. A. H. Murray Jr., Jonesville; and a brother, A. W. McNeely, Watertown, N. Y.

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Police corralled 91 persons Friday night in a wholesale crackdown on gambling.

Six persons were charged with operating gambling establishments while the rest were booked on simple gaming charges. Every police squad car not on another call was used to transport the gamblers to jail.

Officers said the places raided included "The Hat," Fred's Pool Room, the Brooklyn Inn, "The Palm Garden," Shamrock Pool Hall and Sportsmen's Pool Hall.

U.S. Building Up Air Power In Face Of Chinese Threat

Bet He Didn't Know How Far Trip Would Be

UPPER DARBY, Pa. (AP) — Frank M. Rogers, 32, asked a friend in this suburban Philadelphia community if he could borrow his car for an hour.

Sure, said Frank N. Chell, 66.

That was on Aug. 6.

Friday night Chell had his car again. Rogers had driven all the way to San Francisco and back, with side trips into portions of the South. En route he left a trail of bad checks, police said, signing Chell's name to them.

Rogers was arrested Friday night in Chell's car while Mrs. Doris Kidd, 28, of Wichita, Kan.-a woman he met during his travels-tried to cash a $200 check at the Upper Darby National Bank.

Ex-Iraqi Aide Wounded; One Dies In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Unidentified gunmen gravely wounded the former Iraqi military attache in Beirut Saturday as he drove through the heart of this tense Lebanese capital. The Iraqi's chauffeur was killed in the attack.

GUN BLAST

Col. Saleh Sammarai, former military attache of the overthrown Baghdad royal regime, was critically wounded when two gunmen in a car fired a submachine gun blast into his Mercedes - Benz sedan. The attack occurred just around the corner from an apartment building housing U. S. Embassy women employes.

Sammarai was struck by five bullets. He was taken to a nearby hospital where his condition was described Saturday night as "very serious."

A source at the home of Beirut rebel leader Saeb Salem said the gunmen were from "our side." He charged Sammarai was active in arming and aiding the pro-government PPS group, who have bitterly opposed the Lebanese opposition movement.

The colonel's chauffeur, his body riddled by seven bullets, died on the spot.

Authorities said the unidentified gunmen drove up alongside Sammarai's car and opened fire. The colonel's vehicle swerved to the sidewalk after the chauffeur was killed and the gunmen escaped.

Sammarai had recently renounced his Iraqi citizenship following the Baghdad coup that deposed the regime of the late King Faisal. He announced he was applying for Jordanian citizenship in order to remain loyal to the Hashemite family rule.

Hammarskjold, who returned here Friday night from Amman talks with King Hussein of Jordan, is due to return to the Middle East after a brief stay in Geneva. He is expected to visit Cairo, Beirut and possibly Baghdad as well as paying a return visit to Amman.

Storm Roars Into Islands, Slows Action

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday, (UPI) — Communist Chinese artillery poured a steady rain of shells into the Quemoy islands at the southern end of the Formosa Strait for the ninth straight day Sunday. Other Red guns blasted the Matsu islands to the north as invasion jitters mounted.

A typhoon halted air and sea action in the area as the Reds stepped up their threats to "liberate" Formosa and the offshore islands. The United States countered with an announcement that it was further bolstering its military might in the Far East.

CONTINUES

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said 101 shells had been hurled at Little Quemoy in the two hours up to midnight, and the shelling continued on into this morning. A communique said Big Quemoy had been under fire since an hour before midnight.

The Ministry said earlier that Kaoteng in the Matsu group at the northern end of the strait was shelled for the first time in several days with 16 rounds in 10 minutes last night.

The Nationalists disclosed that their own artillery at dusk Friday had unleashed what the Defense Ministry called a "bombardment of destructive nature" against the Red-held China mainland. A communique said more than 30 Red gun positions near the coast were destroyed in two hours of shelling.

The Ministry added that the Communists had thrown more than 130,000 shells against the offshore islands in the past seven days. Seven thousand of them, it said, were fired at the tiny islets of Tatan and Erhtan in the Quemoys, where an invasion attempt is most feared.

The intensified shelling of the offshore islands, which the Defense Ministry said killed and wounded 676 soldiers and civilians in the first six days of the attack that started Aug. 23, raised invasion fears to a new high.

Sleep Sickness Peak Predicted Middle Of Sept.

TOKYO (UPI) — The epidemic of sleeping sickness that has hit an estimated 4,500 persons, including several Americans, in Japan and Korea, will not reach its peak until mid - September, authorities predicted Saturday.

The known death list on the basis of incomplete figures has reached a total of 802, including U.S. Air Force A3C David L. Fulton, of Jackson, Miss., who died Friday in a hospital near Inchon, Korea.

Two other U.S. airmen in Korea are reported gravely ill with the sleeping sickness virus, known as encephalitis.

Another U.S. airman and three children of American military personnel were reported ill with the virus in Japan. The children include Myra Davidson, four-year-old daughter of S-Sgt. and Mrs. Bradley Davidson, of Concord, N.C., who was stricken last week at the Itazuke Air Base in southwest Japan.

A spokesman said Fulton was the first member of the Air Force in Korea to succumb in the current sleeping sickness epidemic. He was stricken Aug. 26 at Kunsan Air Base and evacuated to a hospital at Ascom City, outside Inchon, where he died.

In the case of the little Davidson girl, a report last Monday said there was "evidence of slight paralysis in her right arm and

Growing Concern Voiced

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force disclosed Saturday that jet fighter squadron and cargo planes were being dispatched to build up U.S. air power in the Far East where Red China threatens invasion of Chinese Nationalists islands in the Formosa Strait.

The move came as U.S. officials voiced growing concern that Red China's continued tough-sounding threats might force her into an actual invasion attempt on the Quemoy islands to "save face."

Some authorities suggested the Reds might decide the long Labor Day weekend would be the best time for such a strike.

The absence from Washington of vacationing President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, who is responsible for the Far East, might encourage the Communists, officials said.

INVASION

Dispatch of the planes was part of an increasing build-up of U.S. forces in Formosan waters and elsewhere in the Far East. The Navy previously had reported dispatch of additional aircraft carriers and surface ships to strengthen the already powerful U.S. 7th Fleet which patrols the strait to guard against an invasion of Formosa.

The United States is committed to help Nationalist China defend Formosa and the Pescadores islands. But Congress has left it up to President Eisenhower to decide whether to resist seizure of other Nationalist-held islands including the Quemoys, lying closer to the Chinese mainland.

Under its "keep-them-guessing" policy, the U.S. has not said what action it would take if the Quemoys were targets of a Red Chinese landing. But the buildup of Labor Day Toll Mounts Slowly

By THE AP

Motorists swarmed to America's highways for the Labor Day week end recreation Saturday and brought the inevitable rash of traffic accidents and fierce death.

Traffic	73
Drowning	9
Miscellaneous	11
Total	93

However, the fatality toll mounted more slowly than an estimate several days ago by the National Safety Council that the three-day holiday would bring 420 traffic deaths.

A council spokesman said the death pace the first day of the week end looked "encouraging compared with that of Labor Day a year ago when 95 deaths were reported the first 24 hours."

FOR CENTRAL HIGH

Favor Sept. 8th As Opening Date

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — A majority of the Little Rock School Board favored Saturday opening Central High with Negroes barred on Sept. 8, three days before the U.S. Supreme Court meets again on the integration crisis.

It was learned, however, that school board lawyers just back from Washington will tell them Monday night, when they meet to set the opening date, that a Sept. 8 opening may ruin any chance of getting a favorable ruling from the Supreme Court.

When the Supreme Court adjourned its extraordinary meeting on the Little Rock case Thursday until Sept. 11, it did so in the belief that Central wil lnot open until Sept. 15.

COURT STAY

Since Central still has the benefit of an appeals court stay, it could open Sept. 8 as an all-white school and remain that way until the Supreme Court handed down its decision on a longer integration stay.

Four of the six school board members said they personally favor Central's opening Sept. 8. But at least one indicated that he was open to argument at the Monday night meeting.

"I would favor the eighth," school board member Henry V. Rath said. "I think that's the normal time. One week's delay is sufficient. I'd certainly prefer that we get started on the eighth, rather than hold off to the 15th.

"We extended the opening from the second to the eighth, and I don't think it's good for the children to keep them out another week.

"If we get started on the eighth, we can shorten the Christmas holiday period and still let schools out as scheduled next spring."

None of the members mentioned the integration issue as a factor

Summer Holiday Ends Tuesday As Schools Reopen

Labor Day's long week end will officially close out summer holidays for most families, with city, parish and Catholic schools slated to open for registration Tuesday.

Officials said pupils registering in either the city or parish system will attend school on a half-day schedule until Monday, Sept. 8, when the full day sessions will begin.

Generally, school hours will be from 8:30 a. m. until 3 p. m.

Paris Superintendent W. W. Ward pointed out that a specialized course in physics is being offered for the first time in the parish system. Classes will be held at West Monroe High school, but Ward added that transportation to West Monroe High will be provided for students in the parish system desiring the course but not attending the West Monroe school.

The parish system will also operate its classes for gifted children for the first time.

NO CHANGES

In the city system, Superintendent Van Odom said no curriculum changes are planned.

Approximately 500 teachers will be employed by the parish, with roughly 325 teaching in the city system. The figures include teach-

Business Halts For Labor Day In Twin Cities

Almost every business in the Twin Cities will be closed tomorrow in observance of Labor Day. All local, state and federal government offices will also close.

Dave Silverstein, president of the Retail Merchants Association of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce, announced all members of the association would close their places of business. All local banks and businesses will open at their regular times Tuesday.

Many businesses around the state, normally open on Saturday were closed yesterday to commemorate the Birthday of Huey P. Long, former Governor of Louisiana. Long was born in 1893 and was killed on the steps of the state capitol building in 1935.

Local law enforcement officers have urged motorists in this area to be extra careful during the holiday weekend. The danger period, they pointed out, extends from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday.

Traffic deaths around the nation are expected to total 420 for the three-day period.

TO MEET OCT. 31

U.S., Soviets Agree On A-Test Ban Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia have reached accord on Oct. 31 as the date for Big Three talks on a possible agreement to halt nuclear bomb tests.

Significantly, the meeting of minds came about the same time that experts from both sides of the Iron Curtain officially reported sneak atomic tests could be detected by about 180 monitoring stations around the world.

No country - by - country breakdown on where these posts would be located was given in the 25-page technical report released Saturday. That was considered a political question, to be worked out at the meeting proposed for Oct. 31.

A rule of thumb provided by U. S. officials indicated about 10 would be in the United States, 14 or so in Russia, and about 8 in Red China.

President Eisenhower called a week ago to. diplomatic talks based on the findings of the Geneva meeting of scientists from the United States, Britain, Canada, France, Russia, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

He suggested Oct. 31 and New York as the time and place. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Friday night accepted the date but suggested Geneva instead. Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen at Eisenhower's Newport, R. I., vacation headquarters Saturday that the President was gratified at Khru-

FARMERVILLE MAN

Gives Missing Link In Hunt For Buddy

By LYNN GARRETT
Staff Writer

It's a long way from the foxholes of Korea to the thriving community of Farmerville, La.

And seven years is a fair length of time to be out of touch with a friend.

But an Associated Press story carried by the Monroe Morning World yesterday will result in the reunion — at least by letter — of a 20-year-old Korean youth and a marine staff sergeant now stationed on Okinawa.

For about six months in 1951, the Korean, Young H. Won, and the Marine, S-Sgt. Theron L. Brantley, shared a tent and fox hole on Korean front lines.

Then later in the year, the Marine regiment moved near Munsan and the Korean youth was forced to stay behind.

In a letter addressed to "The Editor of the Louisiana State Newspaper, Louisiana, U. S. A.," Won told of being separated from his buddy amid "the noise of the cannons as the farewell song."

The letter was delivered to the Baton Rouge State - Times and the story was picked up by AP. In the letter, Won said he could remember only that "my buddy's home district was Louisiana, and his name was Branly which I think is not spelled correctly."

Won described the Marine in the letter, adding that the Marine had nicknamed him "Peewee."

LITTLE ROCK

Fuse Smoldering In Racial Issue

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock integration battle, a year old Sept. 3, has taken on the characteristics of a lighted bomb with a long fuse.

Presumably, the fuse will smolder until the U.S. Supreme Court says finally whether Central High School must reopen on an integrated basis or grants a 2½ year respite.

More Negroes than entered Central High last year are poised to seek admission when the big school opens its doors for the big 59 term. At present classes are scheduled to begin Sept. 8 but the school board will decide Monday whether to reset the date for Sept. 15.

The U.S. Supreme Court expectedly will rule by that time and the stage will be set for a climactic showdown of state vs. federal power.

The potential explosion could could come when classes resume if the integration is ordered by the high court.

Gov. Orval Faubus, irrevocably committed to resistance, stands ready with the mobility of a panzer division to move against instration in a dozen directions. The Arkansas Legislature has armed him with a large assortment of weapons and strategy has been mapped for a myriad of eventualities.

A year ago when Little Rock mushroomed into an international spectacle the battle lines were not as sharply drawn as today.

Then Faubus surprised even his own people with his historic ringing of Central High's campus with troops that turned away nine Negroes who tried to enter.

In the face of a court injunction, the Arkansas governor removed the militia but riots resulted when the Negroes tried to enter school.

Toady, after Faubus' sweeping victory for a third term at the polls and his carte blanche support by the Arkansas Legislature, the opposing voices have been stilled under the oppressive weight of public opinion.

Arkansas' people have shown they are in support of the governor's battle and there is no question that part of this strong support stemmed from resentment over the use of federal troops in Little Rock last fall.

Faubus is armed with virtually every legislative weapon the lawmakers of Arkansas could conceive. He can close forcibly integrated schools, finance a plan for educating displaced students, prevent opposition by a school board under a recall law, lease public school buildings for use as segregated private schools and whistle the lawmakers back into session for anything they might have overlooked.

The governor is unequivocally committed to fighting the forcible integration of any Arkansas school. A Supreme Court ruling that integration must proceed obviously will be met with the full opposition of the state.

Little Rock, in the minds of many, has bolstered opposition to integration in other southern states. Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi and other sister states have spoken out boldly in support of resistance.

President Eisenhower's admission that he may have told close friends that the integration process should move slower was heralded here as an indication that resistance would finally pay off.

As the Little Rock story moves toward yet another climax there is an interesting paradox which might seem odd to an outsider: the battle has not appreciably changed the everyday lives of either Negroes or whites in this metropolitan area of 200,000.

Registration To Start Wed. At Northeast

The registration period for the fall semester at Northeast Louisiana State College has been scheduled from September 10-13, Registrar Buel S. Hamner and Dr Clint Hanna, director of admissions, announced.

Freshman orientation begins at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 10 with an assembly in Brown Auditorium. Testing of freshmen will begin at 11 a. m. and continue throughout the day. A party in honor of freshmen will be given in the Student Center Wednesday evening.

Registration for all regular student has been set for Thursday and Friday, September 11-12. In-service teachers and all those enrolling in late afternoon, evening and Saturday classes will register from 8-11 a. m., September 13.

DORMITORIES

Dormitories for the fall term will open at 1 p.m., Tuesday September 9 and the school cafeteria will serve the evening meal on that day.

Beginning with the fall term, full - time students who were not previously enrolled at Northeast and freshmen who entered during the 1958 summer term are being required to submit physical examination forms. Forms may be obtained from the college and when completed will provide a medical history of each student and the results of a current physical examination as reported by the family doctor.

Summer school freshmen and prospective students who have filed applications of admission will be sent these physical examination forms through the mail, said Dr. Hanna, who added that students should apply for admission before the opening of registration.

New students, registering for the first time, must also have certificates of eligibility from their high school principals and transcripts of all high school or college work taken.

'QUIET AS POSSIBLE'

Ike On Vacation; Is Playing Golf

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — President Eisenhower played 18 holes of golf Saturday under sunny skies at the Newport Country Club as he started a "quiet as possible" late summer vacation.

Although Eisenhower did not go to the vacation White House, press secretary James C Hagerty, said the President was "gratified" that Russia agreed to open talks Oct. 31 on banning nuclear weapons tests.

Hagerty said the President did not expect to attend the opening of such talks, although he had no objections to Geneva as a site for them.

The President was notified Friday night that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had accepted the British-U.S. proposal of last week that the talks start Oct. 31 on the possibility of a nuclear test ban, Hagerty said.

The President shot a "fair" game, ending up with a score of around 90," according to Hagerty. Eisenhower hit most of his drives well but had trouble on his putts.

He got one birdie, on the par-three 187-yard eighth hole. He laid his three-iron tee shot two feet from the cup.

The President planned to relax the remainder of the day with businessman George E. Allen in the vacation White House on St., Adams, a navy installation across the harbor from the Naval base on Coasters Harbor Island. Their wives were motoring from New York where they stopped off Friday night.

He planned to attend Sunday church services at the base chapel and play golf again later.

HITS LONG BALL

Although the President complained on the first tee that his golfing game has been "very bad" lately, two drives visible to newsmen sailed more than 200 yards.

The course was soggy when the presidential foursome played this morning but the temperature remained around 70 degrees. A golfing cap shielded the President's eyes from a bright sun.

The chief executive played with Allen, Newport pro Norman A. Palmer and Howard G. Cushing, the country club president. Eisenhower teamed with Palmer to win $4.

Hagerty said that shortly after his arrival Friday the President discussed the turbulent Formosa situation with Vice Adm Stuart H. Ingersoll, president of the Naval War College here.

But Hagerty said the talks were of a general nature because of the presence of Newport Mayor Henry C. Wilkinson.

Will Discuss Formosa

However, the President planned to discuss with Ingersoll at a later time the threatened invasion by Chinese Reds of the offshore island of Quemoy now occupied by the Chinese Nationalists.

Ingersoll returned last year after commanding the 7th fleet in the Far East and the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command.

Eisenhower also approved an annual award of about $50,000 by the Atomic Energy Commission for "especially meritorious contributions in the broad field of atomic endeavor." The award would be in memory of the eminent atomic scientist Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence who died Thursday.

LA. YOUTH PARTICIPATES

Conduct Tests On Future Spacemen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Have you ever wondered how the spacemen of the future will stack up beside the daring, young pilots of the jet age?

A team of researchers from the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base here recently spent 40 rugged days climbing Colorado's 14,260 - foot Mt. Evans to find out.

He should be 30 to 45 years old," says Dr. Bruno Balke, 51, German born physiologist and leader of the expedition.

"He can not be less than 30 because it will take him that long to get all the necessary training and education.

"He must be in top physical condition, but not too muscular, for muscles are relatively useless in the weightless condition that is characteristic of space flight.

"Naturally, he will be trained in pressure breathing, and he should be acclimated to about 14,000 feet for optimal protection against lack of oxygen and bends. This much we have tentatively decided."

After conditioning themselves by strenuous exercises and climbing Mt. Evans' sheer, boulder-strewn slopes Dr. Balke and his six airmen ascended to an assilimated altitude of about 55,000 feet in a pressure chamber.

Results of their tests are still being evaluated.

The team prepared for its mountain climbing tests with eight

At Fairplay, Colo., they climbed 10,000 feet up and down Mt. Evans to adapt themselves to the altitude.

"Climbing those danged rocks got to be a real job at 12,000 feet of altitude," said T. Sgt. Joe Rawdon, 41 Obion, Tenn. "You got tired of climbing, then you got tired of trying to gulp a decent lungful of air, then you just got tired of the whole thing. But you keep going."

Others of the team were: M. Sgt. Samuel G. Karst, 34, Greenville, S. C.; S. Sgt. Frankie Hennigan, 23, Robeline, La.; S. Sgt. Herbert Glenn, 2, Sheffield, Ala.; Airman Ronald Holden, 20, Cherokee, Iowa; and Dr. James A. Green, 35, Houston, Tex.

OF GOP CANDIDATES

Ike Apparently Adds To Burden

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently has added to the burden of Republican congressional candidates in 10 critical states with his go-slower views on racial integration.

Northern Democrats already have begun to picture Eisenhower as reluctant to cooperate in the fight on segregation because of his news conference remark Wednesday that he might have told friends privately he felt there ought to be slower integration in the schools.

These Democrats can be expected to give wide circulation in critical campaign areas such as New York, Michigan and California to the assertion of Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, that Eisenhower's statement was "incredible."

In these and other states where the Negro vote is regarded as important, if not actually critical, Eisenhower's statement is likely to be cited as indicating the Republican top command is only going through the motions on the integration issue.

In meeting this charge, Republican candidates thus far have only what many of them regard as an unsatisfactory explanation by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty. Hagerty insisted there is no divergence between the President's opinion and th Justice Department's action in the Little Rock case in the Supreme Court.

Some Republicans obviously had hoped Hagerty would explain the timing and circumstances of what they believed might have been only an offhand remark by the President.

In the absence of any such explanation, however, they lacked fresh ammunition to counter Democratic charges that the head of their party—with whom they are presumed to agree at least in principle—is dragging his feet on the integration issue.

The Republicans, of course, could cite Eisenhower's action in sending federal troops into Little Rock last year. But the President has insisted he acted then to uphold a court order and he has declined to commit himself on the Supreme Court's original school integration opinion.

Many New Cars Will Be Needed For Year 1959

DETROIT (AP) — Many new cars will be needed in 1959; the auto industry this year borrowed nothing from its future market; upward of a million persons deferred new car purchases in 1958; they should be back in the market next year.

That's the thinking of auto industry experts who predict 5½ million car sales in 1959. They are counting heavily on an accumulation of unsatisfied demand.

Some industry analysts say the estimated of 5½ millions sales next year is conservative. Some say the total could reach six millions units plus whatever volume foreign makes are able to capture.

Oct. 1 marks the start of the new model year for the car industry.

FIVE PERFORMANCES

Rodeo Scheduled For Shows Here

The North Louisiana Rodeo and Horse Show Association's big annual rodeo gets underway tomorrow for four big days of thrills and entertainment at the West Monroe Rodeo Arena.

Here for this year's event is the famed Tommy Steiner World Championship Rodeo, including more than 100 of the nation's top professional cowboys from all over the United States who will compete for points counting toward the 1958 world championship titles since Steiner's outfit is approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Opening the four-day exhibition will be a giant street parade starting from the Eureka parking lot on Commerce Street in West Monroe at 10:30 a.m., tomorrow.

The procession will go to Wood Street, on to Trenton, and from there to the new bridge where it will cross to Walnut in Monroe.

On Walnut it will go south to DeSiard Street and down DeSiard to Sixth Street for disbandment.

500 HORSEMEN

More than 500 horsemen, including one unit from as far away as Natchez, Miss., will appear in the big civic rodeo and Labor Day parade. They will make up approximately 25 mounted units, including the widely known Monroe Riding Club with 75 members which will compete for first, second and third place trophies to be awarded by the North Louisiana Rodeo and Horse Show Association.

Cowboy athletes and performers from the rodeo also will ride in the parade, riding matched Palominos and beautiful white horses in the mile-and-a-half long parade that marks the start of "Rodeo Week" in the Twin Cities.

At 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, the mounted units will appear in the Grand Entry at the afternoon performance of the rodeo.

Among the units that have accepted invitations to participate in the parade, along with three local high school bands, are the "Cannoneers" from Oak Grove in their colorful Confederate uniforms, the Yellow Boot Club from Hico, Ruston Riding Club, Morehouse Riding Club, Haynesville Riding Club, Homer Riding Club, Dodson Riding Club, Springhill Riding Club, Columbia Riding Club, and riding outfits from Camden, McGee and Crossett, Ark., and Natchez.

GRAND MARSHAL

Ike Hamilton, well known local livestock auctioneer and cattle buyer, will serve as parade grand marshal.

Television stars Truss Coffin and Kelo Henderson of the network show, "Twenty Six Men," will be honorary grand marshals.

This is the first year in the West Monroe Rodeo Arena for the Steiner World Championship Rodeo organization. Shows will be staged at 2:30 p.m., tomorrow, and at 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

The rodeo has appeared in many of the largest cities in the nation and has one of the finest collections of show stock in the trade.

Highlights of the shows will be the appearances of Coffin, who stars as "Capt. Tom Rynning," and Henderson, who stars as "Ranger Clint Travis" on TV.

Also starring will be world championship rodeo trick rider Rex Rossi, Wanda Rossi, America's most daring trick rider and stunt girl, and Ted and Betty Lamb, stars of many rodeos. Not to be forgotten are clowns Buck LeGrande and Junior Meeks.

RODEO OWNERS — Arriving in the Twin Cities for the 4-day rodeo in West Monroe will be Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Steiner. Steiner is owner of the Tommy Steiner World Championship Rodeo which will perform at the West Monroe arena tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. and tomorrow through Thursday at 8 p. m.

SITTING ON DYNAMITE

TV Quiz Shows Light Matches

NEW YORK (AP)—Some people have long suspected that some television quiz shows exert controls enabling contestants who capture the public fancy to win fabulous prizes.

Now a couple of disgruntled contestants on a couple of programs have lighted matches in television's gunpowder factory. People are running, yelling, pointing, hiding. Some deny that a match has been lighted. Others are trying to scratch matches themselves.

In the midst of the confusion, New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, who is investigating at least four quiz shows as the result of complaints, reports that nothing has been uncovered thus far to warrant grand jury action.

An agent long associated with quiz shows probably puts a finger on the source of much of the chaos when he says:

"The public's notion of a fix is a good deal different from that of the producers of some quiz shows. The think of themselves as showmen who must put on a good show. Personally, I don't think their coaching of contestants extends to supplying answer to questions in any show I know of.

"But I do believe that many will do anything short of downright cheating to keep a popular contestant going."

The continued poularity of quiz shows appears to depend on whether the public continues to have faith in them. And this is why the current investigation has such explosive force in network television.

The quiz show business is a mainstay of commercial television in a financially bad year. There are now on the air — or coming, or going — about 25 shows representing a bankroll of almost as many million dollars. The prospect of public and sponsors losing interest in them makes the agencies and networks shudder.

The present trouble began when a stand-by contestant on Dotto filed a complaint with the New York district attorney's office charging the program with irregular practices. The program's sponsor, Colgate-Palmolive, after investigating, informed the producer-owner of Dotto that it washed its hands of the program. The CBS-TV and NBC-TV networks yanked the show from the air without notice.

The district attorney's office identifier the complainant as a young part-time butler and bit actor named Edward Hilgemeier Jr., of New York, and announced extension of its inquiry to three other quiz shows.

Next, one newspaper after another injected the name of Twenty-one, one of Iquizdom's biggest nighttime shows, into the picture. The New York World Telegram & Sun, which first identified Hilgemeier, quoted Herbert Stempel as saying he deliberately missed a question after winning more than $50,000 on Twenty-one. The winner was Charles van Doren who went on to win $129,000 on the show.

AT COUNTRY CLUB SHOP

Burglary Series Solved By Arrest

Apprehension early yesterday morning of a 14 - year - old Negro solved a series of burglaries of the golf shop at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. The burglaries have occurred over a period of two weeks and netted approximately $227 in cash and a man's wrist watch.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said the young Negro was taken into custody by a deputy sheriff as he attempted to burglarize the shop again early yesterday. Deputy sheriffs had been watching the shop since the first burglary, which occurred on July 23.

The juvenile, who lives in the 100 block of South 23rd street, told officers that he had worked at the golf course as a caddie before but was not working at the time of the burglaries. He said he had known where the money was kept from watching W. E. Cole, golf pro, while working there.

Entrance to the building was gained through a window, which could be opened by jerking sharply on the bottom. Yesterday's attempt was prevented by bolting the window to the casing. When the youth could not gain entrance through the window, he went to another and was apprehended by the deputy sheriff.

SURVEILLANCE

Members of the Ouachita parish sheriff department have been watching the place for more than two weeks, and yesterday's apprehension "paid for the close surveillance which we have had on the golf shop," Sheriff Grant said.

The first burglary, which occurred on July 23, netted the boy $65 in cash from the register and a man's wrist watch. Nothing was taken on the second, which occurred six days later, but the third and fourth times, occurring August 4 and 16, brought the Negro $68 and $94.25 respectively. On the last time, the youth had taken a $50 bill and used it to purchase a bicycle.

The other cash was "spent around town," he said.

The wrist watch was unaccounted for yesterday. The youth said he had laid it on the railroad track, along which he had walked to and from the scene of the burglaries and his home.

On the attempted burglary yesterday, the Negro told officers he had ridden his bicycle, purchased with the stolen money, but the other times he had walked the several miles from his home on South 23rd street.

The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities. He will be brought into juvenile session of district court.

Red Will Fly Into Space In Year--Experts

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Within perhaps a year, a Russian will fly into space and come home again, space experts predicted Saturday.

Several Western scientists cited a minimum timetable of a year for Russia to send a man orbiting around the earth in a recoverable satellite or at least give him a brief rocket high jump of a few hundred miles into space.

Making the first human leap into space seems to be the main Soviet target, delegates said at the close of the General Assmbly of the International Astronautical Federation.

But they don't put it past the Russians to try to grab off the further glory of making the first explorations of the moon and embarrass the United States again.

"I'm flabbergasted they haven't done it yet," said Dr. Kurt Stehling of the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D. C.

"We gathered the definite impression here that the Russians want to be first to the moon," said Dr. August Frederick Staats, of Bremen, president of the German Rocket Society.

"The Russians said it wasn't true that they had already tried once and failed," Staats continued.

"We urged them not to try to hit the moon but just to circle it. This is in line with the idea no one should contaminate the moon with anything until it can first be learned whether any kind of life exists there naturally.

"The Russians agreed this was good idea, but if—Soviet Premier —Khrushchev told them to land a rocket on the moon—because that might have bigger propaganda value—then I'm sure they would try to hit it."

Staats agred with Stehling and others that man-in-space could be a reality within a year or two. England's Kenneth W. Gatland, vice president of the British Interplanetary Society, estimated 5 to 10 years.

Eisenhower Trapped

Dwight D. Eisenhower is president of the United States and possesses all of the powers which characterize that office but he is locked in the jaws of a vise from which he sees no escape until he steps back into the role of a private citizen.

The president's own views on integration are at such wide variance with the position he must take as the standard-bearer of the Republican party that there is no chance for a reconciliation between his beliefs and his actions. He is playing a distressing role.

Mr. Eisenhower was quoted as saying he would like to see integration progress at a slower pace so that there would not be so much opposition. Informed sources said the president's privately expressed statement was far stronger than that released to the press.

The Monroe Morning World's Washington correspondent pictured the president as saying he did not like to be put in the position of appearing to coerce a whole section which had a record as a law-abiding people. The president also said he was aware that a large segment of the population would regard the sending of troops to Little Rock as a blot on his administration.

In this, Mr. Eisenhower was entirely right. Large segments of the country, not only in the south, but in the north look upon the sending of bayoneted troops to Little Rock to interfere in a purely local situation as a gross invasion of states' rights and as a threat to the democracy of this country.

Even abroad there was said to be some resentment at the sending of troops into Arkansas, although integrationists tried to picture all of this feeling to be on the other side.

"Of course I did not like to see troops sent to Little Rock. That is what England used to do to us."

President Eisenhower appears to be irrevocably committed to a course which he does not like and for which he was partly responsible. As chief executive of the United States, he feels that he is compelled to enforce the orders of the supreme court, although he undoubtedly thinks that at this time those orders are not for the nation's greatest good.

Eisenhower helped to create a Frankenstein supreme court by his appointment of Earl Warren of California as chief justice.

In payment of a political debt and on the urging of Vice-President Richard Nixon, of former Attorney General Herbert Browning, of some radical-socialist Republicans leaders and probably of the present attorney general, William P. Rogers, President Eisenhower appointed Chief Justice Warren with an apparent mandate to crusade for integration.

Now the president is eating the bitter fruits. He, himself, must regard his troop invasion orders as a blot on his administration.

Shreveport's Walled City

Something entirely new to this part of the country is being offered with the announcement of plans for construction of Dudley Square in Shreveport. The development will consist of 20 magnificent, joined, cooperatively owned homes surrounded by a six-foot-high English brick wall. Thus the development will be virtually a walled residential city.

This type of living arrangement is said to be popular and successful in Washington, D. C., and in some other metropolitan communities. So far as is known, it will be the first of its kind in the south.

Residences will be placed end-to-end and will be two and one half stories. They will have two regular stories and a floored attack with windows.

Inside the wall will be a wide driveway capable of accommodating all of the traffic arising from automobiles owned within the development. In addition, there will be a smaller walk leading to the outside world—namely a nearby street.

The 20 homes, which will be of Georgian architecture, will be priced at $35,000 to $45,000. They have all already been sold or reserved.

Each home will have its own private walled garden in the rear.

Automobiles will be kept in a community garage and attendants will park and bring out the cars.

Each person will own the part of the building in which he lives and the ground beneath it but the project will be cooperatively administered and officers of the cooperative will be elected on a rotating basis. No property can be sold or rented without the consent of the cooperative.

An advantage of the walled city is that those living inside it can select their neighbors. No one will be admitted without the consent of the cooperative.

This may be an advantage over some communities in which certain zoning regulations have been under strong attack in federal courts, in violation of states' rights.

"There is no such thing as a free lunch," says a congressman. What sort of un-American talk is this? Why, the fellow ought to be investigated.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Hill Is Credited With Aiding Education Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. — No courtlier gentleman than Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) serves on Capitol Hill, and no finer cause than education of the young ever finds its way into congress.

For years, I have sought a legitimate opportunity to give my humble hurrah to Senator Hill, who is chairman of the labor-public welfare committee which incorporates the field of education.

On next to the last full day of the session I set my chin on the press gallery rail and listened to Mr. Hill carry the national defense education bill (H. R. 13247) to final senate approval, 66 to 15, with 15 absentees. It would serve my purposes of laudation if I could say nothing except good of Mr. Hill and this new law, but there are cons as well as pros in the picture.

Senators of both parties arose to thank the committee chairman for his work in getting the much-amended bill past the senate and then past a senate - house conference. Allott (R) of Colorado testified that the Alabaman had done "a marvelous job" and Gore (D) of Tennessee called him "one of the great and fruitful members of the senate." It all sounded dandy until Mr. Hill's colleague, Sparkman (D) of Alabama, likened his own beliefs on the subject to those of Mr. Hill.

"I remember," said Sparkman, "that 22 years ago, when I first ran for congress, I had written on the back of my little campaign brochure a few planks. One of them was: 'Federal Aid For Education Without Federal Control.'"

Why this did not cause reporters to fall out of the gallery from laughter, and weary senators to drop in paroxysms of mirth to the floor, I shall never know. But surely it is the apogee of absurdity for a statesman to say that such a thing as federal aid without federal control ever happens.

There isn't a federal - aided project from urban slum clearance to government contracts with local businesses which is without some federal control — and more and more of it as the years go by. In fact, when the point was made by Thurmond of South Carolina (D), Mr. Hill did not deny that the bill meant federal control as well as federal aid. There followed this colloquy:

Hill; "Seven or eight years ago I had a check made. Even at that time there were more than 125 acts of congress providing some form of aid by the federal government to our schools and colleges, or to education. The argument of the senator from South Carolina might well be made today against any of those acts."

Thurmond: "I agree . . . However . . . merely because in the past action has been taken that is contrary to the Constitution is no reason why we should go into another program, a new program, which also contravenes the Constitution . . . It has been said that there would be federal aid without federal control. How do we know . . .?"

So, unless this "national defense" bill for education has overriding virtues, how does a reporter praise its sponsors and rejoice over its passage? There were the following explanations of the bill on the floor that afternoon:

It is a good bill: "I voted against the bill when it was before the senate, but I believe that striking out the grants (gifts) for scholarships probably has improved it." (Watkins of Utah)

It is a bad bill: " . . . the important parts of the bill were the provisions under which federal money would go to the individual student, and the froth and furbelows . . .)were the provisions) for guidance, counsel and for various activities which the states can handle . . . I voted for the (original senate) bill with some qualms . . . I almost feel must vote against the conference report." (Cotton of New Hampshire.)

It puts the federal government deeper into competition with private enterprise notably the publishing business: "The conference report would direct the National Science Foundation to establish a science information service . . . for indexing, abstracting, translating and other (publishing) services . . ." (Hill of Alabama.)

It may teach "science," but not sound banking principles: "He (the student who is usually a minor) can borrow up to $1,000 a year (for a maximum of 5 years) . . . He signs his own note and may not be required to secure an endorser (in the absence of state laws to the contrary) . . . Up to 50 per cent of the loan could be forgiven if the borrower should teach in a public elementary or secondary school." (Hill of Alabama.)

It will certainly build bigger bureaus: " . . . appointment of a number of supergrade positions in the (federal) office of education. Both house and senate conferees agreed that such positions should be (eventually) authorized to enable the (federal) office of education to hire (more bureaucrats) . . . However . . . it was decided to leave this provision out of the conference report. This should not be taken to mean that the conferees believed that such additional positions will not (eventually) be necessary." (Hill of Alabama.)

But it may not necessarily and directly improve "national defense": " . . . the senator from Alabama stated that student can take any course he selects . . . After a student obtains a loan, derived from federal moneyw, (he) could take a course in social welfare or flower arranging . . ." (Thurmond of S. C.)

Is it any good? Is it mostly bad? Personally, my own jury is still out concerning this measure.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Governments Collapse In Passion Of Hatred

Colonel Abd as-Salam, now deputy Premier of Iraq, said:

"Brethren of freedom and independence, brethren of the nascent Iraqi Republic, a thousand thanks, and a thousand thanks. Among you I represent the republic. We need no Americans nor imperialists to protect us you are our protectors. Our revolution and movement is from you and unto you. It is a popular, democratic, socialist, and nationalist movement."

Then the doughty colonel said: "Know, brethren, that you have brethren in Damascus, Cairo, Tetuan, Sana, Najd, and the other Arab countries. Know that the UAR has stated through our big brother in struggle, Jamal Abd an-Nasir that it will help you and serve you. There shall be no differences among the Arabs after this day. Our brother Jamal told me when we were in Damascus: 'Order, Brother Abd as-Salam, for I am a soldier in your revolution.'

It is speeches like this, rather give us a clear idea of what moves an hysterical people in time of revolution. Cold, clear reason about historic facts does not move men to acts of violence to overthrow of governments, to the murder of rulers. It is the passion of hatred, the belief in a high cause, beyond the scope and vision of man, that turns normally peaceful folks into zealots who lay down their lives for what really amounts to nothing.

The Bolshevik revolution of 1917 promised the peasant and the returning soldier land. Land and freedom, that was one of the slogans. The peasants had been serfs. They had come into possession of land but had lost it. The Romanov family, the Orthodox Church, an absentee aristocracy owned land and owned villages. There were, of course, farmers who owned their own land and worked it.

When the revolution was over, the peasants discovered that all the land was the property of the government, except small freeholds to live on; that they were a regimented element in the population; that whatver they did get from the revolution, they did not get any land for themselves. The free farmer was called a kulak and was literally destroyed because he was free.

The Arabs are now going through an interesting, even an amazing revolution. Their excitement is enormous bu' they have nothing to gain for their sacrifices. Even should the United Arab Republic prevail over all the dozen Arabic states, the ordinary Arab will have nothing except perhaps the satisfaction of having changed masters. What the Arabs have to sell to the world is oil and the world has such a surplus of oil that countries such as the United States and Canada are reducing their allowables not to permit this commodity to flow like water.

So, Iraq will disappear, and Jordan will disappear and even Saudi Arabia will disappear and nothing will remain but an empire, like that of Saladin, at the head of which will sit Nasser, with his capital in Damascus or Cairo or Baghdad or maybe he will have several capitals and will go from one to the other.

Then what? Will the Bedouin have more to eat? Will Egypt's cotton have a better market? Will the desert bloom with wheat and the oil of the desert flow like milk and honey? What can happen at the end of this very bloody revolution? As one peers into history, these unfortunate lands require so much to restore them that it will take decades of provident assistance by the richest countries and the greatest engineers even to make an impression.

Give a thought to Iraq—the land of the Tigris and the Euphrates in the Bible, where these two rivers met and formed a delta was the Garden of Eden, the most fertile area on earth.

If we accept the biblical assertion of the fertility of the Tigris and Euphrates basins, we recognize a geographic-historic change in this area. It has been found that there was a wonderful canal system throughout the delta which was used for irrigation purposes. These canals need to be reconstructed and improved. Some years ago, Herbert Hoover recommended that this area be repaired and used for the reconstruction of the lives of the Arab refugees.

Not all change is for the better. Is Nasser a better emperor than Faisal was? Was Hitler better than the Kaiser or Stalin better than Nicholas II?

Cooper Is Still Tall In Saddle

After 30 years of stardom, the veteran actor still seems as ageless as the sagebrush he has ridden through so often in making more than 100 major films.

What is the secret of his durability? Cooper said it was very simple. He just had to learn when to stop saying "giddyap" and start saying "whoa!"

Two bouts of illness, he said taught him this lesson. One came in 1931, when a siege of jaundice, after years of overwork, almost ended his career. The other was an ulcer attack in 1949. The two experiences taught him the value of relaxing.

In 1931, a doctor warned him he had to quit for a while if he wanted to stay alive. Gary had been working on pictures night and day, and his weight had dropped from 180 to 147.

"I dropped everything, broke my contract, went to Africa and did nothing but loaf and hunt for six months," he recalled. "It was one of the happiest times of my life."

Here's his two - point program for mental and physical health:

"Try to keep from making boneheads. Then you won't have so much to worry about.

"You owe it to yourself — and everybody around you—to keep in the best possible shape."

Today Cooper is one of the most relaxed men in the motion picture industry, or at least he gives that impression.

He sees acting as a satisfying career in itself, and has no deep urge to become an active director-producer, although he picks his own roles.

"Actors are happier now than when everybody in the movie business was riding a great big gravy boat," he observed.

"You know, one studio in its offices here had an executive dining room that cost it $8,000 a month. That kind of thing is all over now.

"But actors are happier than in the old days because they have more independence. They don't have to do everything everybody tells them. They have more of a choice in their lives.

"But the movies are really a wonderful business. In politics a man often has to step on other people. To get elected he may have to make so many promises that when he finally does get into office he can't move.

"I am very proud of the movie business, and I respect it. You don't have to double-cross anybody to get ahead in it, you don't have to attack people, or put the squeeze on them.

"You do have to stand up and fight for your own ideas, but isn't that good for anybody?"

Daily Devotion

The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion. — Proverbs 28:1.

One advantage of always telling the truth, we are told, is that we do not have to remember what we have said and cannot be caught in a falsehood. Conscience may be deadened by being ignored, it is true, but enough usually remains to make the sinner apprehensive and to keep pertinent the observation that "Conscience doth make cowards of us all!" Every individual has to live with himself and it is a calamity when he is not on good terms with his conscience.

Merciful God, help us to ke . clean hearts and minds that we have no fear of men or Thy condemnation. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

DR. T.R. VAN DELLEN

Hypertensive Is Told To Explode

Persons with high blood pressure should ventilate their hostilities and resentments and not worry about the consequences. The feelings of others are not half as sensitive as they appear to be. Dr. Robert S. Picard of Shreveport believes most hypertensives give in too often rather than argue a point.

Many are the model husband type. It is difficult for two persons to live together without an occasional difference of opinion but these men never quarrel at home. Dr. Picard advises these hypertensives to go home and let off steam. The partner will forgive them within 24 hours because they would rather have "a mad husband than a dead one."

Dr. Picard has spent considerable time studying the psychosomatic aspects of hypertensive patients. He found the majority overly sympathetic; they felt nothing was worth an argument. They had an inherent sense of pity and hesitated to assert their rights lest the feelings of others be hurt.

Often these men told of unpleasant experiences early in life that left them with compassion for mother or pity for father. They were shy and bashful during adolescence; and as adults, never admitted they were worried about themselves, their blood pressure, or fear of the consequences. These fears were present but remained hidden and the resultant inward tension raised the blood pressure.

The solution is obvious. It is impractical to tell off the boss, competitors, or customers but there is no harm and much satisfaction in writing a nasty letter and then tearing it up.

There is no need for the hypertensive to stop working because of his high readings. The majority actually find relaxation in their work and would be worse off doing nothing. They should develop a hobby to tide them over retirement when the time comes. Meanwhile, these people ought to let off steam when the occasion arises. They have a good excuse because it is what the doctor ordered.

TEMPORARY DETOUR

M. N. writes: Is there such a thing as a temporary colostomy?

Reply

Yes, to relieve obstruction or inflammation of the bowel. This procedure may be recommended when obstruction exists or the colon is so inflamed, the life of the individual is at stake. An opening is made into the wall of the abdomen, to make an artificial opening to the outside so that the intestinal contents may escape. Temporary colostomies are employed when the affected part can be corrected or an internal by-pass of the rectum can be made successfully. If not, the colostomy becomes permanent.

INTRAVENOUS PYELOGRAM

E. G. writes: What is an IVP X-ray?

Reply

A kidney X-ray. A special solution that is known to be excreted by the kidneys and that shows up under X-ray is injected into a vein of an arm. Several films are taken after the solution gets into the urinary tract, demonstrating any abnormalities that may be present.

NONSPECIFIC SYMPTOMS

L. D. writes: Do any specific signs point to tuberculosis?

Reply

Not specifically. Cough, unexplained weight loss, fever, and bloody sputum are likely to be later manifestations. So many persons have tuberculosis without symptoms, an annual chest X-ray is the best means of detecting the disease early.

OPERATION AFTER CORONARY

T. G. writes: Can a person who had coronary thrombosis two years ago and is now in good health safely undergo a hernia operation?

Reply

Yes.

HEART VALVE REPAIR

F. J. writes: Is operation the only way to cure mitral valvular disease?

Reply

Yes. The condition is relieved rather than cured by opening the scarred and narrowed valve.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Congress Commits Itself To Inflation

In an era when men have to strive to maintain the sort of common sense which has provided a rudder for the country since the pre - revolutionary days of Tom Payne's pamphlet, the Congress which has just adjourned left but a wide latitude for concern about the future.

That concern is based chiefly on the failure or refusal of leaders of both parties to admit that the amorphous course of government which they are now shaping could within a comparatively few years leave this country inflated, infiltrated and insolvent.

A Congress which appropriates enough money to leave the Treasury 12 billion dollars in the red for a single year, then leaves town without having taken a long look at the danger of that precedent, has committed itself to government by inflation, which results when authorized expenditures run far ahead of anticipated receipts.

Today most business leaders, who have a way of flirting with the idea that a little inflation may be a good thing, are highly concerned that the inflationary danger to business is a greater threat than recession was at this time a year ago. The Federal Reserve Board tries to check rising prices, the main inflationary trend, but there was no sign that Congress, which was highly concerned about the recession, was much alarmed about the borrowing of a tremendous sum of money to keep the government going.

Since government expenditures, which increases with inflationary prices, won't be any less next year, the United States seems to face a period of tremendous federal deficits, with a national debt of 300 billions and an annual interest bill within a short time, of at least 20 billion dollars — a permanent load for the taxpayer

The U. S. Senate defeated or tabled three bills which would have instructed the U. S. Supreme Court as to the thinking of the legislative branch on constitutional rights. One of these grew out of the case of a confessed rapist in the District of Columbia, where the highest court held that the defendant had not been arraigned before a U. S. commissioner within a reasonable time, and therefore turned him free.

Both the other bills concerned states' rights, with one denying jurisdiction to the federal courts in certain types of cases rising under state laws, the other providing that no federal law be held to invalidate a state law on the same subject, as in the case where the Smith act was held, in effect, to render unconstitutional all state laws against subversion.

At a time when state authority is an invaluable deterrent to the operations of underground communism, which is now looking to inflation to give the Communist party a new field for agitation, the Senate action says in effect that no state court can convict a defendant of charges of subver a defendant of charges of subversion under a state law. So the Federal Bureau of Investigation which has plenty of other things to do, must shoulder most of the tremendous responsibility of fighting Communist infiltration.

The so called states' rights bill was defeated, 41 to 40. To what extent Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was responsible for its defeat is a matter for argument, but he voted against it, and may have influenced other votes.

Exactly what the so called liberals have in mind was difficult to discern. Though they defeated conservatives at almost every turn, the possible effect on the nation's future welfare seemed to have no influence, as compared to possible political advantage for a group of northern Democrats.

Revelations of corruption in organized labor which shocked even senators on the McClellan investigating committee brought forth only watered down corrective legislation, which failed to pass. Scarcely anyone predicts any more direct or drastic action to keep gangsters out of organized labor at the next Congress.

SURPRISING SUMMER

Autumn Business Outlook: Caution

NEW YORK (AP) — Business wound up a surprising summer this week with most economic indicators still reporting recovery. The autumn outlook, however, contained items to produce caution.

While the calendar didn't say autumn had arrived, for business the Labor Day weekend is a traditional dividing line. Businessmen no longer expect to sell bathing trunks or sports shirts; they plug fall suits and overcoats.

The past summer might well be remembered as the Summer of The Unexpected Revival. It produced an upturn in the capital goods industries hardest hit by the 1957-58 recession. Wall Street celebrated with a rousing rally in stock prices.

Many economists have swung to the belief that April was the low point in the recession. The question now, they feel, is how far and fast the recovery will go.

It was obvious that, if federal monetary authorities have anything to say about it, the recovery will not break out into a wild boom. Again this week the Federal Reserve System tightened bank credit, bringing net free reserves down to the lowest level since Jan. 8.

Two more Federal Reserve Banks hiked their discount rates, raising the number to four out of the 12 banks. Commercial paper and bankers acceptance rates rose once more.

With money getting tighter, U.S. bonds again experienced a wide decline. High grade corporate bonds also fell back and it was notable that, day after day, stocks registering new 1958 lows on the New York Stock Exchange were preferred issues. (Common stocks advanced).

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 13,577,760 shares compared to 12,270,245 shares in the previous week and 9,997,700 shares in the corresponding week a year ago.

Bond sales had a par value of $23,318,000 in the latest week against $24,130,700 for the week before and $17,640,900 in the same 1957 week.

The government moved to dampen pump-priming of the housing industry, which rebounded sharply this spring and summer. The Federal National Mortgage Assn. said it will pay less than par for mortgages. This will slow the flow of money for G. I. and F. H. A. mortgages.

A matter for concern is the possibility of a strike in the auto industry. All this week wildcat strikes dotted the auto scene as work got underway on 1959 models. At times more than 12,000 workers were idle.

Briefly over the business scene: Most optimistic quote of the week came from Thomas Gies, University of Michigan professor and former economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. He said, "it appears very likely that the economy will attain record levels by the last quarter of 1958" .... Things can change department: for the first time, two of England's Big Five banks will make personal loans on a steady job and an honest face.... Off the wagon: the Saturday evening Post decided to accept liquor advertising.... What's your average? That of the bowling industry keeps going up. B. E. Bensinger, president of Brunswick - Balke-Collender Co., says bowling this season will represent an outlay of one billion dollars.

See Need Of 'Scientific Detectives'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A report released Saturday by the State Department said at least 5,400 "scientific detectives" would be needed to police an East-West ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The report covered the recently concluded conference of Eastern and Western scientists at Geneva on technical ways of monitoring the ban. The scientists, including Russians, agreed that it is possible to set up "a workable and effective control system to detect violations."

The report was prepared by the conferees and was released through the foreign affairs offices of their respective governments.

Ten or 11 observation posts would be required in the United States if the plan is adopted, the report said. Some 16 or 17 inspection posts out of a worldwide total of 10 would be in the Soviet Union.

Says Officers In Legion Not 'Hand-Picked'

CHICAGO (UPI) — John S. Gleason, commander of the American Legion, Saturday denied that the top officer of the veterans group was hand-picked by "legion politicians" months in advance of election.

"Commanders are no more hand-picked than the President of the United States," said Gleason, a Chicago banker.

The denial by Gleason, chosen commander unanimously at the legion's 1957 convention, was in answer to charges aired by Howard Kingdom, 44, Conneaut, Ohio, a contender for Gleason's post.

Kingdom charged that "legion politicians" set up the election of a favored candidate six months before the annual convention and that "politicians" have controlled every election since 1950.

But Gleaso said the "kingmakers are merely leaders in a group. You have leaders in every kind of group."

Preston J. Moore, Stillwater, Okla., was reported to be the favorite candidate to succeed Gleason as commander of the Legion, which officially opens its convention here Monday with a gigartic parade. Kingdom said, however, he was still "pals," despite his harges, with Moore and Truman Wold, Fargo, N.D., another top candidate for the commander's post.

Blood Lack Plagues State Youngster, 3

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A Louisiana law which requires that blood transported into the state be labeled "white" or "Negro" is blocking attempts to build up the strength of a three-year-old white boy for an operation which may save his life.

Gary Bilbo lays wan and pale in Baptist Hospital in New Orleans. He has had so many blood transfusions—20 pints thus far at $45 a pint—that his mother says he "whimpers when he hears us mention the word blood."

His mother, Mrs. Ray Bilbo, wife of a carpenter, said doctors had told her Gary will need many more transfusions before he will be strong enough to undergo the operation.

"We have relatives in Laurel, Miss.," she said, "who will be more than happy to donate blood."

However, the Red Cross cannot transfer blood into Louisiana because of the state law. "We cannot discriminate against race, color, or creed," a Red Cross spokesman explained in New Orleans.

Meanwhile, Gary, oblivious to politics or social pressures, and too sick and weak to care if he were aware of them, continues to have severe internal hemorrhages from the unusual vascular disease from which he suffers.

Burned Man Dies At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Edwin L. Hunt, 49, died Saturday at Our Lady of the Lake Hospital from burns received July 29 at the Esso Standard Oil refinery.

Hunt, an electrician, was making a connection when a short circuit burned him and a co-worker, Harold R. Hubbs. Hubbs was not seriously injured.

Parish Vets, Families Get $1.5-Million

Ouachita parish veterans and their dependents collected $1,571,396.96 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, according to H. B. McClendon.

McClendon, parish service officer, pointed out that the figure represents only payments of compensation and pensions for those cases actually handled by the parish office.

It does not include, he said, money paid by the veterans administration to veterans taking educational courses. Total veterans benefits paid in the parish for the same period are felt to exceed $1,946,266, according to a conservative estimate.

McClendon warned that World War I bonus applications from the state must be submitted before December 31, 1958.

Other figures released by the office show that 300 veterans from Ouachita parish were admitted to VA hospitals during the last year. Guaranteed and direct home loans approved by the VA totalled 3,160 since the beginning of the program.

Monroe Man, 24, Is Hospitalized For Stab Wounds

A family fight last night reportedly led to the stabbing of a 24-year-old Monroe man. Police said Mrs. Paul Trichell, 710 Wood St., stabbed her husband in self-defense.

Reports to police were that Trichell was attempting to beat his wife with a club when she stabbed him in the stomach with a 10-inch butcher knife. Attendants at a local hospital said Trichell had undergone surgery last night to close "eight or nine" holes in his intestines.

He was reported doing well following the operation, after being rushed to the hospital by a Mulhearn ambulance.

Police said Trichell had been under a $500 peace bond after charges of assaults. No charges were filed in the incident.

IN LEBANON

Issues Warning On Troop Issue

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A vice president of the Zionist Organization of America warned in New Orleans Saturday that if U.S. Marines are pulled out of Lebanon without adequate United Nations replacements "Israel will go to war within weeks if anything should happen to Jordan."

Dr. Marcus Levinson of Houston, Tex., said "We finally have realized that it is useless and impossible to appease Mr. Nasser in his urge to dominate the Middle East."

Speaking before the Southwest Zionist Region Convention in New Orleans, Dr. Levinson praised President Eisenhower's position before the U.N. as "one of the most positive foreign policies" of the present administration."

The Zionist leader did express the opinion that the Marines should be pulled out of Lebanon, but emphasized that the U.N. must replace them. He said the Gaza Strip situation was similar.

"Nasser will continue his policy of domination," he said. "It will merely take on a different set of clothes."

"There is nothing wrong with Arab nationalism," Dr. Levinson said, "as long as it is based on a positive practice."

However, he pointed out "Nasser hasn't given up his aims. There is going to be a continuous move to take over Jordan and Lebanon. If Jordan is taken over, Israel will fight. There is no natural boundary between the two countries," Dr. Levinson said.

NAACP Meet Slated On King Case In Miss.

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—C. R. Darden, president of the Mississippi chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Saturday a board meeting would be called to consider the Clennon King case.

King, a Gulfport Negro minister and former professor at Alcorn A&M (Negro) College said in Washington earlier today he plans to try and register his six-year-old daughter at a white school in Gulfport next week.

Darden said he was in no position to say what the NAACP's position in the matter would be, but a meeting would be called to consider the announcement.

King made his intentions known in a letter to President Eisenhower. King said if the child was refused admission, he would enlist the aid of the NAACP for money to fight the case.

Sen. Byrd Lashes Supreme Court In Bitterest Attack

recent statement "calling on the people of Virginia to stand with the governor of Virginia and the General Assembly to preserve Virginia's right to function as a sovereign state."

Byrd said President Eisenhower's statement last Wednesday on integration was "the most significant statement in the whole confused situation." He quoted the President as saying "the process should move slowly because 'we have to have reason, and sense and education and a lot of other developments that go hand in hand, if this process is going to have any real acceptance in the United States.'"

Byrd, the nation's leading apple grower, also cited reprimands against the Supreme Court and "growing alarm" over its decision by "the chief justices of the 48 states," the American Bar Assn. and the governors and attorneys general of some states.

"When you look at samples of these Warren court decisions...you find what appears to be a well conceived plan to subvert the fundamental principles of local autonomy and state sovereignty with concentration of all power in the federal government," he said.

"If any school in Virginia is closed, or if there is any interruption in the normal operation of the Virginia school system," he added, "the responsibility will lie directly upon the Warren court and the NAACP."

He said the Supreme Court, under Chief Justice Earl Warren, "like a bolt out of the blue" had upset decisions of the past 100 years ruling that separate but equal schools were allowed under the Constitution.

Growing Concern Voiced

The U.S. is still undecided what Red China wants to gain from its steady bombarding of the Nationalist coastal islands. First thoughts were that the Communists did not really plan to try to grab the islands but wanted to gain some diplomatic concession by threating to do so.

The State Department has reached only two solid conclusions about the Red Chinese motives. They are:

That Red China is probing to see how far she can go before the U.S. will act.

That the Reds are trying to provoke the U.S. into warlike moves. They could then build a case before the world by claiming this country is at the root of tension in the Formosa Strait area.

Intensive Red Chinese propaganda broadcasts have been hammering on this theme. They have become increasingly harsh and have warned that a landing on Quemoy is imminent.

One such broadcast monitored here Friday belittled U.S. warnings to Red China as "paper tiger attempts" and "cowardly threatening" gestures. It called on Nationalist chinese defenders of Quemoy to rise up and "kill the U.S advisers and defect to our side" before it is too late.

These broadcasts are causing the U.S. concern. Some officials fear that Red China is bragging so loudly about seizing Quemoy and then "liberating" Formosa that the Communist will at least have to make an attempt to invade some territory.

Storm Roars Into Islands, Slows Action

psychological warfare of invasion threats. They started it last Thursday when the Communist commander of Fukien Province broadcast a surrender demand to the Quemoy commanders, saying their position was hopeless and threatening invasion.

Perhaps more than any one event since the first bombardment started last week, the Communist radio warning has sobered the people of Taipei. Those who had doubted there would be any serious move by the Communists, now were saying that perhaps there would be an invasion after all.

A Communist Chinese broadcast over radio Peiping and heard in Tokyo said Saturday the Reds will not be intimidated by U.S. military moves in the Far East. It added that such moves will not weaken Red China's determination to "liberate" Formosa.

But the U.S. paid little attention to the Red blustering and went ahead with a buildup of its forces in Formosan waters in moves viewed by observers as a response to the growing concern over the invasion threat to the Quemoys.

The Air Force in Washington announced that it was sending a squadron of jet fighters and a number of cargo aircraft to bolster U.S. power in this region. Earlier, the Navy announced it was speeding the aircraft carriers Essex from the Mediterranean and Midway from Honolulu to strengthen the 7th Fleet in Formosan waters.

Returns

Serving painstakingly as executive secretary to Congressman Otto Passman, Marion T. Lipp, "Hawk" Lipp to his intimates, is back in Monroe now the session of congress is ended.

He informed his friends here that he will in all probability remain in Monroe until after Christmas.

Kiwanis

Kiwanis Clubs in the Twin Cities are already making plans for a large attendance in Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 21 at the district convention set there. They plan to see a bang - up meeting.

Recovering

Mrs. Charles Baird has returned to her home in Huntsville, Ala., after spending five weeks in Monroe at the bedside of her father, G. R. Younse, who was badly injured in an auto accident and has been in the hospital here ever since. His condition is slightly improved and his many friends are hopeful of his complete recovery.

Revivals

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell has told us that just 17 years ago he held what was probably the first youth revival in the Twin Cities.

He picked a promising youth, John W. Green, as one who would be a leader. Today he is a prominent pastor in Winona, Miss.

The Reverend Mitchell yesterday praised the local papers for publicity which helped the revivals. One of the leaders in that first revival was another youth, Jasper E. Jones. Today he is city judge in West Monroe.

This week, according to the Rever d Mitchell, a famed college youth evangelist, the Rev. J. W. Maxwell, decorated with many past honors, will be in charge, at the fall youth revival of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church.

Alaska

If one would enjoy hearing down to the minute news about our newest 49th state-to-be in the union, he has only to contact Leo Baer who with a friend has just returned from that region.

Baer tells of the Alcan highway which extends many miles until it ends at Fairbanks, Alaska. He said it was rough in places but after all was not too bad.

At Alaska he and his friend took a plane and went as far toward the north pole as his plane could fly.

"Wonderful country," was his comment, and those extra hours of summer sunlight cause very fast growth. "Why strawberries are enormoous, cabbages and all else in the garden grow to enormous size," he explained.

He returned highly jubilant over his trip.

To Yale

A-3c and Mrs. James Norman Awl, son of State Police Lt. and Mrs. William B. Awl, left Friday for Yale University to study foreign languages as part of his air force training.

Young Awl enjoyed a brief leave at the home of his parents, 4103 Lee Courts, before embarking for New Haven, Conn. He attended Louisiana Tech before enlisting in the air force.

ers for both the white schools and for the Negro schools.

Gives Missing Link In Hunt

"He was so kind and his family sent me American clothes," he said.

The Korean added that he is now a student at Seoul National University, Seoul, Korea. He requested the "Louisiana State Newspaper" to "please write me the effect of this letter."

NEWSPAPER STORY

The story as carried in the Morning World was noticed yesterday by Joe Brantley in Farmerville, a brother to the sergeant. "My family and I feel sure the Korean youth is referring to Theron," he said. "The description fits and also we recall that during 1951 Theron often spoke of 'Peewee' and we ourselves sent some clothes to him."

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brantley, also of Farmerville and the parents of Joe and Theron Brantley, have a picture of the Korean youth that was taken in 1951.

They added that Theron was wounded in action shortly after his unit moved on and he received the Purple Heart.

In addition to Joe and Theron, there are three other sons, William and Gale of Farmerville and Jurd of Sterlington, and a daughter, Mrs. Golda Mehl McAdams of Farmerville.

MAIL CLIPPING

Willie Brantley said last night that he plans to write Won and tell him where Theron is. Also, the clipping from yesterday's World has already been mailed to the sergeant and the Brantley family said they know Theron will write the youth as soon as he receives the clipping.

It was a slim clue the Korean boy had — a last name spelled incorrectly, and the knowledge that the sergeant was from somewhere in Louisiana.

But the trail from Korea to Baton Rouge to Monroe, and finally to Farmerville, Okinawa and back to Korea was followed through the aid of newspapers and the AP.

Sleep Sickness Peak Predicted Middle Of Sept.

leg" and she was "semi-conscious." Saturday, the headquarters of the U.S. armed forces in Japan said her condition was still "serious."

The epidemic thus far is one of the most serious of its types to hit Japan and Korea in recent years. With summer heat expected to continue, Japanese and Korean authorities predicted worse to come.

Dr. Goro Goto, of the Japan Welfare Ministry's anti - epidemic section, said in Tokyo that the peak would come in mid-September. He said the number of victims thus far was double that of last year. Dr. Goto warned that the epidemic might approach Japan's worst year of 1948, when there were 4,757 confirmed cases.

Official figures of the Republic of Korea government show 3,091 cases since the epidemic broke out a month ago. Of these, 635 died, and only 132 thus far have recovered fully.

In Japan, the Welfare Ministry had figures only for the period up to Aug. 9. As of that date, there were 541 confirmed cases, of which 166 ended fatally. Including unconfirmed cases, the Ministry said thus far there have been 1,500 victims.

The malady, which has been recognized by the medical world only since 1946, strikes swiftly and can be deadly. Thirty per cent of the victims usually die within one week. Only half the survivors recover completely.

U.S., Soviets Agree On Ban Talks

shchev's acceptance. Hagerty said Geneva was acceptable as the place.

It was not clear whether Eisenhowe would order U. S. nuclear tests halted when the talks start. He offered to do that, provided Russia promised not to resume its tests, ha'ted March 31 at the conclusion of a major series. Khrushchev refused to make any such promise.

The United States is winding up its Pacific tests and Friday announced plans for 10 low-powered explosions in Nevada before Oct. 31. Britain, the world's only other atomic power, plans Pacific tests before the Oct. 31 meeting.

The report of the East-West scientists who met for seven weeks at Geneva recommended:

1. A network of about 180 control posts—170 land-based and 10 aboard ships—manned by a total staff of about 9,000.

2. An "international control organ" to run this global system, select the staff and detection devices, study reports and generally make sure no nation cheated on any international ban on nuclear tests.

3. Reconnaissance aircraft, possibly those already in use to watch the weather, to scan the air for radioactivity and rush to suspicious areas to see if an atomic blast had been set off.

The Geneva experts avoided political questions, like U. S. refusal to recognize Red China or whether there should be a nuclear test ban.

But on the technical question of cheating, it said: "It is technically feasible to establish. . .a workable and effective control system to detect violations of an agreement on the worldwide suspension of nuclear weapons tests. . .

"The conference considers that whatever the precautionary measures adopted by a violator he could not be guaranteed against exposure, particularly if account is taken of the carrying out of the inspection at the site of the suspected explosion."

Favor Sept. 8th As Opening Date

in their feelings. They pointed out that they have already delayed the opening from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8 and are stuck for an extra week's salaries for teachers.

"I don't know actually how I will vote on the opening date," school board president Wayne Upton said. "There are a number of factors to be considered in determining what action to take in changing the date.

"There is the additional financial burden to the district. . .and the aspect of the problem insofar as the Supreme Court is concerned."

He pointed out that four members of the board is a quorum and that if only four attend the meeting, three votes is a majority. In case of a tie vote, the status quo will prevail and Central will open Sept. 8.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has a bill, passed in special session by the Legislature, that gives him the power to delay Central's opening until Sept. 15. All he needs to do is sign it.

"We are just sitting around and waiting to see what the Supreme Court will do to get us out of the predicament we have been in for the last 12 months," Negro publisher L. C. Bates said.

Bates' wife, Daisy, is president of the NAACP in Arkansas.

Bates said that if the Supreme Court upholds the integration of Central, he hopes that the Justice Department will come up with a plan to implement the decision; that is, provide for the protection of Negro students.

Another of the bills the Legislature has passed for Faubus allows him to close Central with a stroke of his pen if the federal government integrates it forcibly.

He thinks that a law passed in 1875 will allow it to be reopened immediately as a private school from which Negroes are excluded, with the state paying the tuition of white students.

Market Cards Available For Area Farmers

Ouachita parish cotton farmers can now pick up their marketing cards at the agricultural stabilization and conservation office in the West Monroe Agriculture Building, it was announced by County Office Manager E. G. Davidson.

Also, he explained that a cotton farm owner or operator who is listed on the debt register in the ASC office is considered ineligible for price support considerations. The owner or operator of a farm must call in person at the ASC office to receive a card.

Within the past few days several cotton raisers who had acreages in excess of allotments have plowed up sufficient portions of the crop to comply with the rules. However, persons who intend to keep overplanted cotton acreage, must pay a penalty of 19.3 cents a pound for the excess.

Farmers were also reminded by the ASC official that the records of cotton produced are important in determining the yield for their farms which might be used in connection with many phases of agricultural programs in the future.

A NEW PAIR OF LEGS...

It takes more than new wooden legs to make a small boy like Lee Jae Ku face life with courage. He was brought to a Korean Amputee center by a nurse who found him crawling on hands and knees searching for food, in the market. His shirt and trousers were tattered and caked with mud. His emaciated legs were retracted and could not be straightened. This was a boy who once had a home and was loved by parents now dead.

He's a promising child and deserves a happier life. The OVERSEAS AID Programs of America's religious faiths are trying to help unfortunate people like him. Please support your faith's Aid Program.

Collision Of Rocket Units Ruined Trial

AMSTERDAM (AP) — A high altitude collision between parts of its rocket units ruined the launching of Explorer V, Dr. Wernher von Braun reported to world astronauts Saturday.

The first stage booster rocket had separated after burnout when gases and liquids remaining in it expanded in the vacuum of space and gave it a little extra thrust, Von Braun said.

This sped it up so it hit the instrument part of the rocket, knocking the final stages off in the wrong direction from an orbit. All three remaining stages of the rocket had fired perfectly.

Von Braun, the German-born director of U.S. Army rocketry, said special precautions were being taken to avoid recurrences of "this most unlucky incident."

Explorer V was sent aloft from Cape Canveral, Fla., last Sunday morning. The military usually does not announce the technical reasons for failures and has disclosed nothing on this one up to now. But it sent word to Van Braun, who has been in Amsterdam all week.

He presented a 90-minute detailed and technical report on all phases of Explorer satellites at the closing day of the 9th annual assembly of the International Astronautic Federation.

He congratulated Soviet scientists "for the technical feats achieved in recent months" and said that competition was of very useful value.

"I would like to say to our Soviet colleagues that we will certainly be up there with you, collecting data in more ambitious undertakings which will follow in due course," Von Braun said.

Courthouse Lee Dies At Age 71

Lee had suffered a stroke several days ago, followed by a coronary heart attack.

He won his nickname "Courthouse" while serving as deputy commander and later commander of the Mediterranean Theater of Operations. During that time he was charged with being an overly tough disciplinarian, but he retired exonerated by Army investigators and with the praise of then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In the ETO, Lee was one of Eisenhower's top aides. He was given much of the credit for the logistical buildup needed to launch the Normandy invasion.

He retired from the Army in December 1947 during the controversy over his strictness, and had been active in protestant Episcopal Church lay affairs since. In recent years, he had lived at the national headquarters of the Episcopalian Brotherhood of St. Andrew here. He was lay head of the brotherhood.

Lee was responsible for an uncompromising "spit and shine" policy for American GI's in Italy and other areas under his jurisdiction during and after the war. He insisted that soldiers in his command be on a "ready-for-inspection" basis at almost any time. His special peeve was sloppily-dressed GI's.

His retirement came during the publicity barrage over his ironclad administration at his headquarters in Leghorn, Italy, in 1947. During that year, the Army absolved him of charges made by newspaper columnist Robert Ruark of the Scripps - Howard newspapers, who had written that Lee had lived lavishly and traveled by plane to the French Riviera twice a week.

Ruark also charged the general was overly strict, compelling enlisted men to buy $4 memberships in an Anglo-American Soldiers' Club and being responsible for the "bumping" of homeward-bound GI's from airplane seats so an Army baseball team could travel.

The Army Inspector General investigated the case. He wrote a 12,000-word report clearing Lee. The report said some mistakes had been made in the Mediterranean Command, but they were unimportant. Even in those cases, he said, the general had shown no "wrong intent."

The report said Lee had lived "considerably below the standards" ordinarily provided for officers of his rank and had made only three trips to the Riviera from Italy.

As for the club memberships, the report said fewer than 20 per cent of the enlisted men in Lee's command had joined and no one had been criticized or punished for not joining.

The report said another general had been responsible for the plane "bumping" incident.

Eisenhower, then Army Chiefl of Staff, accepted the report with the statement that Lee "has performed a service to his country which has won the approbation of associates, both civilian and military."

Lee was born Aug. 1, 1887, at Junction City, Kan., and was graduated from West Point in 1909.

McClellan To Request Extra Probe Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman John L. McClellan said Saturday he will ask the Senate next January to give his special Senate Labor-Management Rackets Investigation Committee an extra year of life.

The committee, headed by the Arkansas Democrat since its creation in 1957, is scheduled to wind up its sweeping investigation of improper practices by unions and businessmen early next year.

McClellan said the group should function through the first session of the 86th Congress.

"I'm hoping that in January when we file our next report we can then plan to conclude our work by the end of that session," he told newsmen.

"That does not mean, of course, that all the unions which should be investigated will have received the committee's attention. But we shall try by that time to have covered every area of labor-management relations and try to have all the facts that Congress would require on which to premise legislation."

McClellan said he had not yet put the matter up to the other seven committee members. To operate beyond January, 1959, the committee would need approval of the full Senate.

McClellan's statement came in the wake of a call by the National Catholic Welfare Conference for an end of the investigation, now deep into the affairs of the Teamsters Union and president James R. Hoffa.

The NCWC Social Action Department, which supported the inquiry last year, said the time has come to think of terminating the inquiry before it damages above - board labor-management relations.

McClellan issued a one-sentence reply: "I'm sure every hoodlum, gangster, racketeer and all other segments of the criminal element in this country will heartily applaud the statement."

SUSTAIN SOLON PRESSURE

One probable effect of extending the committee's life would be to sustain pressure on Congress to enact changes in federal labor laws. The now - defunct labor reform bill that got through the Senate this past session was largely designed to correct abuses exposed by the McClellan Committee. The legislation died in the House.

Should the committee be given another year, it will have at least one new member. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), the vice chairman, is not seeking re-election.

To Try 9 White Youths After Racial Violence

LONDON (UPI) — Nine white youths were committed for trial at Old Bailey Central Criminal Court Saturday after the prosecutor charged they drove around West London in a stolen car beating up any Negroes they could find.

The gang, ranging in age from 17 to 20, was said to have been armed with iron bars.

Three Negroes were seriously injured and hospitalized. One of the victims was brought into West London Magistrate's Court on a stretcher to testify.

The attacks took place early last Sunday just a few hours after the worst race riots in Britain's history erupted in the midlands industrial city of Nottingham. Hundreds of white and West Indian immigrant workers were involved in the clashes.

Riot police with police dogs were alerted in Nottingham Saturday to guard against possible new outbreaks.

NEGRO EDUCATOR

To Try To Enroll Daughter In Miss.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clennon King, controversial Negro educator and minister, said Saturday he would risk "being killed, beaten . . . or imprisoned" in an effort to register his child at a white elementary school in Gulfport, Miss., next week.

King said he came here from Gulfport, where he is pastor of an African Methodist Episcopal church, to deliver a letter to President Eisenhower.

He told the President in the letter he feared Mississippi authorities would try to fraustrate "our rightful efforts." The federal government, he said in the letter, is obligated to furnish protection when denied of civil rights is anticipated.

The President is in Newport, R.I., on vacation. King said he would leave the letter with a White House guard.

The letter also asked the President to send observers to Gulfport "such as the FBI because authorities there can say or do anything against you."

If his daughter is not allowed to register at North Central School next week, King said, he and his wife will not leave the school voluntarily.

"If this will submit us to being killed, beaten, relegated to an insane asylum, or imprisoned," the letter continued, "we shall suffer accordingly. We hope that federal authorities will not be reluctant or indifferent because we possess no impressive or expensive backing."

Of Gulfport's 25,000 population, King said Negroes comprise 30 per cent.

"Yet out of Gulfport's fourteen public schools only one decent school is thus far available to our people. Even it is overcrowded. Such needless discrimination against Americans by other Americans is hardless excusable when local authorities make no real attempt to correct matters."

Should his daughter, Muriel Ann, be denied admittance to the school, King said he would enlist the aid of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for money to fight the case.

Gov. J. P. Coleman was reported away from his office in Jackson and unavailable for comment.

But state Supt. of Education Jack Tubb termed King's announcement "an unfortunate situation." Tubb said he believed "the courts will take care of that."

The reaction in Gulfport was one of shocked surprise, although city and school offilcials declined immediate comment.

Fred E. Baker, Negro upholstery shop owner and a member of the board of stewards of the church where King is pastor, said the announcement "comes as a surprise to me."

"I don't know anything about that," he said, "and as far as the church is concerned, they're not having anything to do with it."

During the controversy when King tried to enroll at the University of Mississippi last July, the church board voted to retain King as pastor and indicated it expected him to confine his activities to pastoral duties.

King was arrested for disturbing the peace and resisting arrest while trying to register at the university. He said he was sent to a mental institution but was later released and told to leave Mississippi.

He returned to Mississippi, although warrants are still outstanding.

Quick Trial Is Asked By Ala. Mother

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)— A pregnant suburban mother, indicted on charges of robbing two savings and loan associations at gunpoint, would like to "hury and get this thing over" but her trial may not be held until next spring.

Mrs. Kathryn Anderson, 29, tall attractive mother of two who is expecting her third child in October, was indicted Friday by a federal grand jury on two counts of robbery.

The holdups of savings and loan associations located a door apart last spring netted a lone woman bandit just short of $3,000. Mrs. Anderson was arrested by the FBI a week after the second robbery.

Ever since her arrest and release on $10,000 bond, Mrs. Anderson, who lives in the Cahaba Heights community, a middle-class residential section about 10 miles from downtown Birmingham, has stoutly maintained her innocence.

When informed of the indictment, which carries a maximum sentence of 25 years in prison or $10,000 fine or both, she said only that she had been advised by her attorneys not to discuss the case.

But she added that "I only wish I could hurry and get this thing over."

U. S. Atty. W. S. Longshore said the next court session will be in December but she may not be tried until spring.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of an insurance salesman, was charged with sticking up the City Federal Savings and Loan Association in February and the Jefferson Federal Savings and Loan in May, both with an automatic pistol. They are in Homewood, located just outside the Birmingham city limits.

Widespread publicity followed her arrest but the evidence which led the FBI to her and the grand jury to return an indictment remained a mystery. The stolen money has not been found.

The two attacked were made within an hour of each other Thursday night at a Mobile Highway cafe and a Court Street trailer park.

Jackson attacked a woman at the cafe around 11:30 p.m. Thursday and attempted to rape her. He was chased from the cafe when the woman's screams attracted attention.

After leaving the cafe, Jackson forced his way into a trailer where the girl and her younger brother were asleep.

The police said that he beat the girl with a tire iron and then attacked her. Jackson was frightened away by the lights of a car entering the trailer park. He was picked up later near the Southern by-pass after leaving a shoe and one sock in the trailer.

Note Little Concern On Election Date

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The two runoff candidates for Congress in the Eighth District Sept. 27 said Saturday the people show little concern so far about the new election dates on Saturdays.

Candidate Harold B. McSween, Alexandria, emphasized, however, that the issue remains unsettled.

"Louisiana will have to have a couple of more elections under its belt before the people really make up their mind whether they like the idea," he said.

State Rep. Lloyd Teekell, Alexandria, the man backed by Gov. Earl Long in Long's home district, said the Saturday voting "is a good experiment and seems to have worked out well so far . . . I don't think the people are concerned about it one way or the other."

Teekell, a strong administration supporter, voted for the Saturday election in the 1958 Legislature. The Long administration pushed the measure in a bid for heavier voting.

Long said after the Congressional first primary the heavier voting proved he was right—that more people would vote on Saturday than on Tuesday.

Louisianians working in stores are caught by the Saturday voting, since that day is the heaviest of the week for business.

There are several factors involved which tend to show Tuesdays might be preferred.

But Long's arguments are that more people in general will find it easy to go to the polls on Saturdays. Long always has felt his strength lies in a very large vote turnout. He has been defeated on key issues in recent years because of a light vote, in his personal opinion.

Long already has appealed to the district voters to get on the books so they will be eligible in the runoff.

TEAMSTER VEEP SPOT

Union Election Called Crooked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Harold J. Gibbons, teamster President James R. Hoffa's number two man, was accused Friday of holding union power in St. Louis through an election "as crooked as anything possibly could be."

The charge was made before the Senate Rackets Committee by E. (Gene) Walla, president and general manager of St. Louis Teamster Local 682. It was supported by testimony of Robert F. Lewis, secretary - treasurer of Brewers and Malters Local 6, a teamster affiliate.

In a separate development, a committee investigator testified that teamster units, including Hoffa's own local, contributed $32,000 to the legal defense of Louis Berra, a former St. Louis Teamster official who served a two-year federal tax evasion sentence.

Berra, jailed after rejection of his appeal that illicit income was not taxable, told the committee he also got $14,000 in loans from a teamster credit union after he was released from prison.

But Berra invoked the fifth amendment to questions about pre-conviction activities as an official in St. Louis Locals 688 and 405 and a teamster-operated hospitalization plan.

Disputed Ballots Counted

Walla and Lewis told the committee that Gibbons kept his presidency of the St. Louis Joint Teamster Council in an election last January by counting seven disputed ballots from officers of carnival workers local 447 in Tampa, Fla. They said the union was not a member of the council.

Using these ballots, Gibbons won 76 to 71, defeating Walla.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said it was "shocking" that rank - and - file teamsters would "tolerate the corruption that has been shown and the tactics used" in controlling elections.

McClellan also charged that teamster Secretary - Treasurer John English had given the committee a "doctored" memorandum "to try to cover up" records which cast doubt on whether the seven carnival workers delegates were union members in good standing when they voted.

Chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the memo was "completely false" by indicating that per capita dues had been paid month by month as required. He said that acutally payments dating back to 1955 were made in April, 1958, three months after the votes gave the election to Gibbons.

Walla, a giant of a man, testified that he had opposed seating the Florida group's delegates in the January election on grounds the Carnival Workers local did not belong to the joint council. He said Gibbons overruled him.

Then, Walla said, Gibbons announced that as trustee appointed by the international he would allow the local to vote but would keep the seven ballots in a separate envelope for use at his discretion. Later, according to Walla and Lewis, Gibbons counted them and gained the winning margin.

The testimony wrapped up the committee's hearings until next Tuesday, when Gibbons probably will be questioned. This week's hearings have centered around activities of Gibbons and his associates. He is leader of the teamsters in St. Louis, an international vice president and the man considered closest to Hoffa's union throne.

Taylor Urged To Run As Independent

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Judge Andrew Taylor of Jackson was urged Saturday to run as an Independent candidate for governor by a group which announced plans for a "Draft Taylor" office.

A resolution urging Taylor to run was adopted by a group of about 25-30 people who attended a closed door meeting here.

The group was told it would take three things to get Taylor into the race—"money, newspaper support and a draft."

"We've got to have a draft or we'll kill him," one man said.

Newsmen were barred from the session and many of those attending declined to give their names.

Indict Young Housewife On Robbery Charge

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — Mrs. Kathryn Anderson, attractive young house wife and mother of two, was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday on charges of robbing two building and loan firms here of about $3,000.

Mrs. Anderson, 29, termed the holdup charges ridiculous when she was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents about three months ago.

A lone woman bandit robbed one of the firms of $1,660 on Feb. 28 and the other of $1,300 on May 22.

The grand jury had been in session since Monday. It returned 139 indictments Friday and recessed until Feb. 16.

Mrs. Anderson, who is expecting a third child in November, would go on trial in December under normal court procedure. She had been free on bond since her arrest.

Her husband is a young insurance executive. They live in a neat new suburban area in Shades Valley.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Twenty-seven years ago a Pennsylvania dutchman —J. Paul Kemmerer—met with a group of young men just out of the high schools of Monroe, Rayville, Bastrop, and Delhi. Such athletes of their day as Lloyd Guy, the late Ray Green, Pete Ingram, Floyd McLeod, Wade Chambers, Charles Jacobs, Raymond Masling, Herbert Sorey, "Chock" Stewart, Amos Smelser, and others were the first of the Indians—the Northeast State Indians of today.

Coach Kemmerer had no athletic plant ready when he came here. There was only one building on the campus. It was incomplete. The first practice ever held by the Indians was in a field at the corner of Jackson and Plum streets in the southern section of the city. The Tribe's first game was a 20-0 victory over the Louisiana College freshmen in old Forsythe Park where fellows like Leo Young, Alfred "Snookum" Turner, Paul and Kip Moore, Syl and Johnny Cerniglia, Jim Steele, Paul Witt, O. H. Bynum, Bill Frisbie, Ivy McDonald and such were getting in the first licks for the clan.

Tomorrow another Pennsylvanian takes charge of the Indians in their first practice session for the 1958 football campaign at Northeast. He's Jack Rowan, an already well known figure in Louisiana after several years as head coach of Byrd High at Shreveport and as an assistant coach at Northwestern State.

Although he has been busy on the Northeast campus for weeks and only began meeting the men he will rely on as they were checking into college yesterday and Friday, Coach Rowan will finally be taking over the task for which he was brought to Monroe as a result of the death of Coach Devone Payne.

A visit to the campus at Northeast the past couple of days while the new athletic edition was arriving, a look over the improving facilities, and talks with Coach Rowan, members of his staff, and the new college president, George Walker, left nothing lacking to convince us Northeast is marching in the right direction toward improving its athletic system.

Coach Rowan has done much and has a lot more in mind toward helping improve Northeast's lot. When we were on campus Friday he was busy assuring a training table for the football candidates.

"Athletes require 6,000 calories a day during the season to maintain themselves," Coach Rowan said. "We need this training table to assure their food requirements. After the football season is over, and their physical demands not so great, the athletes will be maintained the same as the other students on the campus."

No longer are Northeast's athletes to be quartered in one section of the stadium or other building.

"We are assigning our athletes to rooms with the other students." Coach Rowan said. "They are a part of the student body and are to be treated as such. They will be scattered among other students living on the campus with non-athletic roommates in instances.

"It is the trend of the larger universities of today to follow this system of doing away with the barracks system for athletic groups. They are a part of the college student body and will be treated as such here. After all, as athletes, they'll be practicing with one another daily, making road trips and playing the games together. They'll get well enough acquainted. We want them to know the other students by mingling with them in the dormitories and in other college life outside the athletic circle."

Coach Rowan's staff of George Luffey, Bob DeMoss, Lennie Fant, Jim Coats, and Lew Hartzog has been hard at work for days getting ready for tomorrow's call to practice—morning and afternoon sessions. Building alterations have already been greeted with approval by returning athletes like Joe Driskell, Jim Knox, Jim Laudadio, Robert McGough, Everett Reynolds, Lloyd Smith and others who return as the veterans from last year.

The campus trip showed improvements Jim Malone, who coached the Tribe for 20 years, had often dreamed of attaining. A storeroom with rack upon rack of first class equipment, and a hustling coaching staff. Of course Coach Payne had reached some of this goal during his few years with the Tribe. Malone worked most of his many years alone, possibly with a parttime assistant now and then and frequently depended upon such ex-Indians as Guy Sievers, Stan Passman and others for gratis scouting and help.

With today's setup a few years ago Malone would have been happy.

But Rowan, with the plant today, has something of the dreamer in his system also. Already to looks into the future.

Would it be amiss, now, to say how far? A new grandstand for the east side of Brown Field so well planned that it's "roof" seats the football customers while other necessary college facilities, not necessarily of athletic vein, could be housed beneath? Or that much needed gymnasium since the "hat box" in the old administration building is so small. Twenty-five years ago this little gym was about the finest in this section of the state. Today it has been oudated by every high school in northeast Louisiana.

Returning Northeast athletes who played for Payne will find Rowan, although of the same age, different in many ways. But we believe when they look closely enough they'll discover one great similarity . . . it's in the eyes, boys. Rowan, too, has that look of patience, tolerance, great understanding. Just like Poopie, don't you think.

Herb Elliott To Try For Mile Record

LONDON (AP)—Herb Elliott, Australia's magnificent miler, will try for a world record over the fast White City Stadium track Wednesday.

The track is the one on which Derek Ibbotson of England, was timed in 3 minutes, 57.2 seconds a little more than a year ago. That now is the listed world record but in the past month Elliott has been timed in 3:54.5 and only last Thursday did 3:36 for the 1,500 meters.

The distance between 1,500 meters and a mile is 119 yards, 1¾ feet. Experts figure his metric time the equivalent to a 3:54 mile.

Elliott's attempt will be the feature of a one-day London vs. Poland meet.

Londoners showed some speed of their own Saturday when Elliott's acceptance was received from his Swedish training camp. An immediate rush began for tickets. Although the race will be held on a Wednesday and was announced only four days in advance of the event, some 40,000 spectators are expected.

Ibbotson, Mike Beresford and Mike Blagrove of England are almost certain starters against Elliott Stefan Lewandowsky of Poland, fourth behind Elliott in a 3:58 romp at Malmo, Sweden, Friday also is a probable starter Blagrove Saturday was second to Brian Hewson of London in a 2:19.2 1,000-meter club race.

While Elliott was resting in Sweden, an American promoter identified as Leo Leavitt arrived in Melbourne ready to give Elliott $250,000 to turn professional.

How, Leavitt was asked, would he get back his money in view there is no professional track.

Seixas Wins Over Nielsen In Nationals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—The old "war horse" of American tennis, Vic Seixas, unseeded and almost forgotten, fought his way back into the limelight Saturday with a brilliant victory over Denmark's Kurt Nielsen in the first round of the U.S. National Championships.

The veteran Davis Cup ace from Philadelphia, who turned 35 Saturday, chopped down the tournament's seventh-seeded player in a tense 2½ hour struggle on the West Side Club's center court. The score was 6-2, 4-6, 8-10, 8-6.

A crowd of 8,000 cheered wildly when the thin Philadelphian, his legs wobbly from near exhaustion, broke Nielsen's powerful service in the 59th game and then held his own for a brilliant triumph.

Seixas clinched the match with a volleyed placement in the corner climaxing a love game. Then he was so weary he could not rush to the net to shake hands with his victim. Wearily he trudged around the net posts.

Saturday's repeat of that famous match overshadowed all other tournament developments which saw the unslowed advance of Australia's two big Davis Cup guns, Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, and the emergence of Brazil's "Little Sabre," Maria Ester Bueno, as a real threat to Althea Gibson's women's crown.

Cooper, the Wimbledon champion and No. 2 seed, and the left-handed Fraser, seeded fourth, both won easily as did Dick Savitt of New York, seeded eighth. Althea Gibson and Miss Bueno were joined in the second round by two other seeded players, Britain's towering Christine Truman and Truman and Mrs. Beverly Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif.

Cooper, holder of the Wimbledon and Australian titles, smashed Gordon Davis, 22-year-old Southern California student from Santa Monica, Calif., 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. Fraser toppled Courtney Henderson, a slender Army private from Dallas, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6.

Savitt, a New York oil man who has won at Wimbledon but never here, won over Lorne Main of Canada 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Gibson, shunted off the center court by the spectacular Miss Bueno, defeated Carol Wright, an 18-year-old Brooklyn College southpaw 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Bueno, eliciting "Ohs" and "Ahs" from the gallery, downed Miami Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., the United States' No. 6 ranked woman, 6-2, 9-7.

CLOSES MATCH ON 17TH — Tommy Aaron, Gainesville, Ga., medalist in the Cotton States tourney gets off the first of two putts that enabled him to close out his first round match with Walter Johnson, Jackson, Miss., at the 17th hole here yesterday for a 2 and 1 victory. Favorites Rule Opening Round Of Cotton States

Favorites ruled the day in the first round of the tenth annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament here yesterday with defending champion H. P. Childress and medalist Tommy Aaron leading the parade into today's double round of action that determines the card for tomorrow's Labor Day semi-finals and finals.

In addition to Childress, the popular Vicksburg, Miss., product playing out of Chicago, and Aaron, a young links artist of Gainesville, Ga., the sixteen contenders passing opening tests included Bill Rixey, Vicksburg; M. C. Methvin, Little Rock, Ark.; Dr. Bud Humphries, Sherman, Tex.; Gene Dahlbender, Atlanta, Ga.; Clyde and Roy Nash, the father-and-son combination of Monroe that could be pitted in the same match this afternoon if they win this morning; Pat McGonagill, LaJolla, Calif.; "Butch" Baird, Beaumont, Tex.; Bill Dodson, Baton Rouge; Sonny Holt and Bob Woodfin, Selma, Ala.; Clayton Cole and Jackie Rivers, Monroe, and Tommy Wulff, New Orleans.

Most of the first round matches were close all the way with Jackie Rivers, member of the L.S.U. golf team, being pressed hardest to beat out Paul Hughes, Yazoo City, Miss., 1 up in 19 holes.

Childress stopped Buddy Crovetto, New Orleans, 2 and 1, and Aaron, who attracted a big following yesterday, disposed of Walter Johnson, Jackson, Miss., by the same score. Roy Nash, the Louisiana amateur champion, also had a close match in beating Joe Thomas, one of Monroe's younger linksmen, 2 and 1. Bob Woodfin, who is matched against Aaron this morning, went the distance to nip Lamar Loe Jr., Tallulah, 1 up.

Other 2 and 1 winners were Rixey over Mark Womack, Monroe; Methvin over J. R. Parker Jr., Dallas, Tex.; Dr. Humphries over David Gray, Jacksonville, Tex.; McGonagill over Buddy Branton, Memphis, Tenn.; Baird over John Reynolds, Shreveport, and Dodson over Wayne Williams, Greenwood, Miss.

The championship flight's lone upset of the day came when youngster Clayton Cole, son of tourney host Bayou DeSiard Country Club's pro Winnie Cole, stopped Speed Bancroft who only Wednesday had won the club championship. Cole beat Bancroft yesterday, 4 and 3.

In other championship first round matches Dahlbender, a former two-time winner of this event and runner-up to Childress for the title last year, stopped Jay Goldsmith, Monroe, 7 and 6; Clyde Nash beat Bill Jones, Monroe, the Cotton States' first champion, 4 and 3; Holt eliminated Ralph Toland, Jacksonville, Tex., 7 and 6; and Wulff beat Hersh Lowry, Jackson, Miss., 8 and 7.

PHOTO FINISH

Restless Wind Takes Futurity

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Llangollen Farm's Restless Wind, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, Saturday approached the all - time winning money record for 2-year-olds by taking a photo finish decision over the 60-1 shot, Winsom Winner, in the $164,725 Washington Park Futurity in Arlington Park.

Dashing the six furlongs in 1:09 3-5 to match the fixture's record set by Swoon's Son in 1955, the son of Windy City II collected $112,225 as a supplementary nominee.

This boosted the chestnut colt's earnings to $271,833 and left the colt - bearer of Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney Lunn of Upperville, Pa. only $77,809 short of the juvenile winning mark. This was set last year by Jewel's Reward.

Restless Wind, in a driving, head-to-head finish with Triple C Stable's Winsome Winner, with William Carstens aboard, withstood an inquiry to pay $5.00, $3.20 and $2.80.

Carstens claimed Restless Wind running on the outside, brushed him at the 1-16th pole, but the foul was not upheld by stewards after viewing the film of the richest 2-year-old race in Ilinois history.

To backers in a crowd of 24,251 Winsome Winner paid a staggering $39.00 and $14.80, while Demobilize, another supplementary entrant, returned $6.20 to show.

The victory margin was a neck, while Winsome Winner took second by a length and a half. Demobilize was third by 3½ lengths.

The triumph was Restless Winds seventh in nine starts this year and his fifth stakes score. On Aug 2 he won the Arlington Futurity, also as a supplementary candidate to make a clean sweep of Chicago's juvenile stakes this summer.

Fifth-place went to Dunce, the 2-1 second favorite, who got off slowly, but was racing strongly at the end after lacking early speed.

Taking fourth place was the supplementary candidate, Intentionally.

Following Dunce in the 10 horse field were in order:

Shoemaker said after the race, "I was sure there wasn't any brushing in the stretch."

6-3 DECISION

Lary Hurls, Hits As Detroit Wins

CHICAGO (AP) - Frank Lary, slender right-hander, pitched and batted the Detroit Tigers to a 6-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox Saturday. In reecording his 14th victory. Lary hit his first home run of the year and two singles to pace an 11-hit Tiger attack.

Harvey Kuenn, who made on hit in four times at bat in his bid for the individual batting championship, injured his right arm sliding into second base and was forced to leave the game. The injury was not considered serious.

The Tigers took advantage of Ray Moore's wildness to score three runs on one hit in the first inning, but could get only one run out of four hits and two walks in the seventh. That came about because Lary and Kuenn, who opened the inning with singles, both were caught in an attempted double steal.

Frank Bolling batted in four of the Tiger runs with a double and a single.

Moore retired the first two Detroit batters, then developed a wild streak, walking three men to load the bases. Bolling immediately unloaded them with a double to left center. Lary's homer made it 4-0 in the second.

The Sox picked up two runs in the fourth on singles by Nellie Fox and Earl Torgeson, Sherm Lollar's double, which Charley Maxwell misjudged in the high wind, and an infield out.

Barry Latman held the Tigers in check after Moore's departure until the sixth when an error and two singles produced a run and brought in Tom Qualters. A line drive double play prevented further scoring.

The Sox got an unearned run in the sixth, but the Tigers got it back in the seventh when they made four hits and drew two bases on balls but wouldn't have scored had not Gerry Staley walked Charley Maxwell with the bases loaded.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays' two-run homer blended with the five-hit pitching of young Mike McCormick provided the San Francisco Giants with a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles Saturday night after they had beaten the Dodgers 3-2 in a day game.

Long's Homer In 10th Tips Cardinals, 3-1

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dale Long's 10th inning pinch hit two-run homer broke up a pitcher's duel between Dave Hillman of the Chicago Cubs and Sad Sam Jones of the Cardinals and brought the Cubs a 3-1 victory Saturday night.

Long's homer, his 16th of the season, followed a leadoff single by Sammy Taylor.

Taylor Phillips came in for Hillman in the 10th when he faltered in the late innings. Phillips preserved Hillman's fourth victory as against six losses.

Bastrop Beats Pioneer, 10-8, On Kids Day

BASTROP, La. (Special) — A "Kids Day" crowd of several hundred youngsters consumed 25 cases of soda pop, 20 boxes of candy, 10 boxes of bubble gum, blew up 2,000 balloons and watched Bastrop beat Pioneer, 10-8, here yesterday and clinch second place in the West Carroll Baseball League.

The kids also took home pencils and tablets in addition to the food and balloons, all donated by Bastrop merchants.

Jerry Moore, who relieved starter Rudy Bryan in the 6th, was credited with the victory although he needed help from Joe Long in the 9th. Devone Bush took the loss for Pioneer.

Bastrop plays an exhibition doubleheader today, meeting the Crossett Millers at 1:30 p.m. and then taking on the Eros All-Stars.

TWO LOCAL GAMES

Prep Footballers To Start Playing For Keeps Friday

Friday's jamborees were the warmups and they start playing for keeps this week in high school football with two local games on tap and 15 throughout northeast Louisiana.

Ouachita again gets the jump on the rest of the Twin Cities teams with a Thursday night engagement with Homer at the Lions' sparkling new stadium. Termed stronger than last year's one - game winners by Coach Bob Ellen, the Lions edged West Monroe, 7-0, in the Rebel jamboree last Friday. Homer, 1-AA district chapion last season, beat the Lions, 13-6, in 1957. Rex Carter's passing will be the thing to watch in this one.

West Monroe and Neville, both rebuilding, stage their annual get-together Friday at West Monroe. Neville, a 7-6 loser in 1957, is in a poor position to gain revenge with only five lettermen back but Cecil Pirkey's Rebels are in little better shape experienc-wis with only seven letter winners returning. However, the Rebels were impressive in their jamboree despite losing. They had 7 first downs to Ouachita's 2 and moved well every time they had the ball. A pair of tall halfbacks, Jerry Stovall and John Moses, are the Rebels to watch and big tackle Ross Nolan and breakaway halfback Gene Howard will give Neville plenty of help.

Monroe's other entry, Southside, will be opening defense of its southern training school championship at Columbia, Miss., in a Friday game.

Two state champions, Tallulah and Delhi, head the list of area teams opening play Friday night. Tallulah, the class A titlist, plays Carr Central at Vicksburg. Stacked with 13 lettermen including two - time all - state fullback danny Neumann, Tallulah is again rated one of the top A clubs in the state.

Delhi, class B champions, move into class A competition this season and will compete with Tallulah for the district 2-A crown. Hard hit by gradution losses, Delhi has only four starters returning and only eight lettermen overall. The Bears open with a home contest against class B Start, winless last year.

Ruston's defending 2-AA champions play host to Minden Friday and Haynesville is at Springhill Thursday. Jonesboro - Hodge, one of the favorites in 2-AA, is host to Jena.

Ferriday, once a power and coming back, plays Block, unbeaten in regular season play in 1957, at Jonesville. Rayville is at Holly Ridge, Newellton at Winnsboro, Mangham at Farmerville, and La-Salle at Columbia.

VALENTINETTI, HYDE HURL

Cellar-Dwelling Senators Drop Yankees Again, 3-1

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cellar-dwelling Washington Senators knocked off the American league-leading New York Yankees for the second straight game Saturday. With 10,388 fans looking on and Vito Valentinetti and Dick Hyde collaborating in a six-hit pitching effort, the Senators won 3-1.

Valentinetti, cast - off by the Cleveland and Detroit earlier this season, made only his fifth start and lasted seven innings. The Yankees got all of their hits off him.

As a precuation, Senators Manager Cookie Lavagette called in his brilliant relief specialist, Dick Hyde, to work the last two innings. The right-handed submariner mowed down the last six New Yorkers in succession to record his 18th "save" of the year. He also has won nine and has been a key pitching figure in half of Washington's 54 victories.

The Senators, now only one game short of their entire 1957 victory total of 55, pecked out nine hits off Yankee pitchers Art Ditmar and Virgil Trucks.

Jim Lemon, with two singles and two walks in four trips, was Washington's batting leader. When the Senators went ahead in the first, it was Lemon singling across Roy Sievers, who had walked and taken second on Clint Courtney's single.

In the sixth after the Yanks had tied it at 1-1, Sievers singled, and Ditmar walked Lemon. Then Julio Becquer pinch hit a tie-breaking single to make it 2-1.

With Trucks on the mound, the Senators added their insurance run in the eighth. Lemon singled, scampered to third on Rocky Bridges single and scored on Ken Aspromonte's sacrifice fly.

Outer Space Length Victor In Vagrancy

NEW YORK (AP)—Outer Space zoomed down along the inside rail on the final bend at Belmont Park Saturday and stepped home a length winner of the $29,600 Vagrancy Handicap before a sweltering crowd of 31,747.

A dozen fillies and mares started in the race, named for the famous Belair Stud 3 - year - old filly champion of 1942. Harold H. Polk's Mlle. Dianne finished second, a length and a half ahead of William Haggin Perry's Alanesian. Outer Space and Alanesian, both trained by J. W. Maloney, ran as an entry in the 7-furlong sprint.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Searching, winner of the Vagrancy in 1955 and second in the stakes last year and 1956, failed under her top weight of 125 pounds. She finished fourth under Bill Hartack's urging.

Outer Space is a bay 4-year-old daughter of Saggy, the only horse to beat the great Citation during his 1948 career as 3 - year - old champion. A daughter of Supersonic, Outer Space is owned by Mrs. Gerard S. Smith of New Canaan, Conn.

In winning her third consecutive race, Outer Space ran the distance in 1:23 4-5, two-fifths slower than the stakes record set by Canadiana in 1954 and equalled in 1954 by Miz Clementine.

Outer Space packed 121 pounds, same as for Alanesian, and the entry paid $5.60, $3.20 and $3.20. Mlle. Dianne, packing 113, paid $9.80 and $6.60.

Ace 2-Year-Old Dies In Stall

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Adois Chief, prize 2-year-old pacing colt of the C. M. Provost Stable of Pittsburgh, died in his stall Thursday, night of undertermined causes.

Adois Chief became ill after placing third in the $28,720 McMahon Memorial pace Thursday at the DuQuoin State Fair. Meadow Al was second and Adios Day was the winner.

Provost called in Dr. D. L. Proctor of Lexington, Ky., to treat the cold. An autopsy was scheduled to determine cause of death.

Adios Chief, purchased by Provost for $11,500 in an auction last year, had winnings of about $40,000 in 1958.

Miss Creed Leading In Turner Open

BURNEYVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Clifford Ann Creed, 19-year - old amateur from Opelousas, La., combined her whip-like swing with sensational putting Saturday to take the first-round lead in the $7,500 Opie Turner Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Creed, daughter of a golf professional, posted a 4-under-par 74 to beat the nation's best women professionals in the first competitive test over Waco Turner's new course in this small southern Oklahoma community.

The Louisiana youngster put together nines of 39-35 for her 74 and forged one stroke ahead of pudgy Wiffi Smith of Lacanada, Calif. Miss Smith's 75 was good for a $250 special prize as the low pro shooter for the day.

A field of 29 professionals, largest of the Ladies Professional Golfers Assn. tour this year, battled over the tough 6,908 - yard course. It plays to a par of 78 for women and 72 for men.

The players were making a special effort because of the bonus awards offered by Mrs. Turner, wife of Waco Turner, millionaire oilman.

Miss Smith picked up $105 for shooting seven birdies in her round. Mrs. Turner is giving $15 for each birdie, along with $500 for each eagle. There were no eagle shooters on this hot windy day.

Three players tied at 76 to keep within striking distance of the leader in the 54-hole tournament which winds up Monday. They were Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., and Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga.

Louisiana Prep Grid Standard To Be Offered

Louisiana high school football ratings in all classifications, as charted by Lee Meade, sports writer for the Lake Charles American Press, will be made available to News-Star—World readers for the first time this year.

Meade whose system proved so successful and was particularly well received by high school football followers in the Lake Charles area last year, is making his ratings available to newspapers throughout Louisiana this year.

He plans two releases each week, the first rating the teams on the previous week's performances, the second looking into the approaching games for the week.

The Meade system doesn't forecast high school football games, but rates the teams such fashion that the ratings can be a base for determining favorites.

The Associated Press for several years has made state reports on triple-A, the highest classification of school - boy football in Louisiana, but Meade's system will include Meade's system will include all of them, Classes AA, A, and B.

The ratings will be offered soon in this area by the News-Star—World.

The Meade predictions for 1958 are in this sports section today.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL

More Confusion In Twin Cities

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Intercity bitterness and political in - fighting sowed new confusion Saturday into efforts to bring a major league baseball team into Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The chief of the Minneapolis big league negotiating team said he wasn't worried by Friday's move by St. Paul to issue up to four million dollars in bonds for stadium expansion there if St. Paul signs a contract with a major league team.

Gerald Moore, chairman of the Minneapolis Metropolitan Sports Area Commission, called it "a last ditch try" by St. Paul baseball campaigners to beat out Minneapolis in the bidding for a major league franchise.

In St. Paul, Sev Mortinson, a city commissioner, accused adjacent Minneapolis of "pulling the plug" on a joint Minneapolis - St. Paul big league venture and indicated St. Paul was in the fight to the finish.

Confronted with brush fires inside their own borders and what is beginning to look like a siege from St. Paul, Minneapolis baseball promoters remained publicly confident that a big league team presumably Washington, is headed their way.

But opponents of Minneapolis' city - backed nine million dollar bond issue, approved Friday by the Council, renewed their call for a wide-ranging study of the plan to see if taxpayers are adequately protected.

Stanley Stabno, business agent for a Minneapolis city employes union, said he understood a number of private individuals were considering a taxpayers suit against the city.

Stabno's union is against the bond increase for city employes. He was told by councilmen last week no money that could be used for wage increases is involved in the bond issue plan.

The Central Labor Union, representing many city locals, has refused to endorse the bond plan until it gets "clarification" of how it will operate.

The bond issue proposal cruised through the City Council without trouble but was snagged by the Board of Estimates and Taxation, which has to give final authorization.

14th Del Mar Derby Taken By The Shoe

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — The Shoe, a full brother of Swaps, captured the 14th running of the Del Mar Derby Saturday.

The Shoe, ridden by jockey Alex Maese, covered the mile and one-eighth in 1:48 3-5 in posting a half-length decision over Cowboy Book. Sir Ruler, the favorite, was third.

The winner paid $6.80, $4.00 and $2.50. Cowboy Book returned $5.50 and $2.90 and Sir Ruler $2.30.

The Shoe, owned by Rex C. Ellsworth took command when ready and lasted under pressure by Cowboy Book, ridden by Johnny Longden.

Sir Ruler, trying to make it three straight at Del Mar, was never worse than fifth. He altered his course repeatedly and came on to get the third-spot, two and a quarter lengths behind Cowboy Book. Cabineteely held on for fourth in the nine-horse tiein.

The gross purse of the Derby was $27,750, with $15,125 going to the winner.

$17,000 Utah Meet Begins Next Friday

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The $17,000 Utah Open beginning here Friday really ought to be called the "sandwich tournament."

"It's a thin slice of big time golf between seasoned dough, the $42,000 Vancouver Open this week end and the $25,000 Denver Open the following week.

But, like all good sandwiches, it's the personal tough that counts.

Knowing it might prove difficult to draw some of golfdom's top shooters to a low - price event, Utah Golf Assn. President Steve Dunford and his tournament committee tried the direct contact method.

For the past several weeks they have been buttonholing big name pros at tournaments in the Midwest, Canada and the West.

"How are you fixed for lodging in Salt Lake City? Now, here are some good places to eat. What about arrangements for your family? Anything at all we can do.?"

It paid off and consequently some of the best will be at the Salt Lake Country Club for the four-day 72-hole event.

Dunford & Co. has assurances the pack will be led by such as top money winner Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa. The roster includes Jimmy Turnesa, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Gene Littler, Dick Mayer, Art Wall Jr., Billy Casper and Dow Finsterwald.

Kel Nagle of Australia, was second with 276. Nagle and Frank Philips, another Australian, matched Player's final round 66 over the Kooyong course. Philips finished third with 279.

Istrouma Again Big Power In Triple-A Football Race

Anyway you look at it, Coach James E. (Fuzzy) Brown's Istrouma Indians are the team to beat for the 1958 Louisiana Triple-A high school football championship. But the prospects aren't so bright for the other three clubs which won state titles a year ago.

Istrouma, which could equal Ferriday's state record by winning its fourth straight Class AAA state crown this fall, is the No. 1 choice of coaches and sports writers to finish on top in the District 3-AAA race. The poll, conducted by Lee Meade's Louisiana Prep Grid Standard, gives Istrouma the edge over Baton Rouge high and Terrebonne.

Morgan City, which won the Class AA state title and wound up with the only undefeated and untied record in Louisiana in 1957, is placed second to Lafayette Cathedral in District 5-AA this fall.

Tallulah, the Class A state champion, is the pick again in District 2-A, but has only a shaky edge in a race which could also include Winnsboro, Delhi and Ferriday. Delhi which advanced to Class A after winning the Class B state championship, surrendered its title by default when it was reclassified.

Brown has directed the Indians to five state titles since taking over the coaching reins at Istrouma in 1950. In addition to his three recent crowns, he won back-to-back championships in 1950 and 1951.

"Everyone will be after us," he says, "but I think we're going to have a real good ball club. I'm looking forward to a mighty fine season."

Warren Easton, which tied Istrouma twice a year ago, is expected to have things pretty much its own way in the New Orleans Public District, but late-season traditional games will probably settle championships in other districts.

Fair Park has a title gleam in its eye in the North District, but must defeat Byrd Thanksgiving Day; Lake Charles seems to be the cream of the crop in the Southwest but faces a tough game at well-regarded Sulphur late in the year; Jesuit is favored in the New Orleans Catholic District but will have to beat Holy Cross in its finale, and Istrouma must get by its two biggest challengers—Baton Rouge and Terrebonne—on successive weekends late in November.

In Class AA, the state finals could be a return duel between champions of Districts 1 and 5 again. Minden is favored in District 1 and Lafayette Cathedral is the choice in District 5. Last year, Morgan City (5) edged Homer (1) in the title game.

Jonesboro in District 2, Pineville in District 3, Jennings in District 4, Assumption in District 6 and Reserve in District 7 are other title favorites.

Mansfield, the pre-season pick in District 1, stands a good chance to end District 2's hold on the Class A state crown. Tallulah won the title a year ago representing District 2-A an dbefore that Ferriday held the championship three consecutive seasons. Ferriday also won as a Class B school in 1953.

Landry in District 4, St. Francis of Houma i: District 6 and Gonzales in District 7 are favored to defend titles. In the other Single-A districts, Bunkie (3), Hanson (5), and Slidell (8) are top-ranked.

North Louisiana is expected to continue its domination of the Class B ranks with Logansport in District 1, Mangham in District 2, and Block of Jonesville in District 3 among the leading teams. Zachary, the defending champion in District 10, is picked to repeat in its league.

Port Barre (4), Merryville (5), St. Francis of Iota (6), Erath (7), Donaldsonville (8) and St. Martin (9) are other Class B district favorites.

HITS 2 HOMERS

Jim Davenport Paces Giant Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)-Ruben Gomez pitched a five-hitter and Jim Davenport poled two solo home runs as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 Saturday.

It was the first half of a day-night doubleheader.

San Francisco collected eight hits before a crowd of 16,905.

Davenport slammed his ninth and tenth homers. Five of the 10 have come against the Dodgers.

The only other time he had hit two homers in one game was at Los Angeles Aug. 10.

Ruben had a no-hitter working until Norm Larker singled in the fifth. Seconds later the runner went out via a double play.

In the sixth, Junior Gilliam walked and Roseboro singled with two out. Gomez then retired Snider on an infield out.

Birrer was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth and John Klippstein and Carl Erskine finished up for the Dodgers.

Golden One Wins Millville Purse At Rockingham

Golden One won the 6-furlong race by almost two lengths under jockey Robert G. Dever. King's Ore finished second.

Cut Out was third, another nose back in a field of eight. King's Ore, a 25-1 shot, finished second.

Jockey David Deroin lodged the objection against Dever, complaining that the favored Star Rover, who finished fifth, had been impeded on the stretch turn. After viewing films of the race, the stewards made the race official.

Golden One paid $6.00, $4.20, $3.60. King's Ore paid $16.20 and $7.40 while Cut Out returned $5.60.

50 CANDIDATES

Tech's Football Training Starts

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Over 50 candidates for the Louisiana Tech football team, including 23 lettermen, have reported to begin practice sessions at the college Monday morning.

Physical examinations were given Saturday, pictures were taken and grid equipment issued in preparation for the start of two-a-day practice periods Monday.

The Tech grid staff, Head Coach Joe Aillet and Assistants Huey Williamson, George Doherty and Jimmy Mize will begin Monday preparing the Bulldog footballers for their opener against Mississippi Southern in Hattiesburg Sept. 20.

The following week the Tech team goes on the road again to play Arkansas State at Jonesboro, Ark., before returning home to meet McNeese State Oct. 4 in the first appearance on the season in Ruston.

Aillet indicated the Tech team would get down to business Monday, with practices set from 6:15 to 8 a.m., and from 3:15 to 5 p.m. Classroom sessions are also planned during the day.

Tech has 23 lettermen returning from the 1957 campaign but nine of them are backs. Barring injuries, the Tech eleven should be strong at the backfield and end posts.

MINORITY GROUP

BATON ROUGE, La. — Seniors will be a minority group on the Louisiana State football squad this fall. Of the 60 candidates for 1958 team, only four are seniors.

ARMCHAIR-EASY 9-1 WIN

Burdette Gets Two Hits, Pitches Braves Over Bucs

MILWAUKEE (AP)-Lew Burdette beat back the menacing Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday with a double and a triple good for four runs and an effective 10-hit pitching job that added up to an armchair - easy 9 - 1 Milwaukee Braves' victory.

The loose-jointed right-hander, with home run help from Frank Torre and Eddie Mathews, again put the National League-leading Braves 7½ games ahead of the runner-up Pirates.

A county Stadium turnout of 28,648 witnessed Burdette's 16th triumph, his fifth in a row and ninth since the All-Star break. He has lost 9, including only 2 since the inter-league classic.

Curt Raydon, an ex - braves' farmhand, was shelled from the mound in the third when the world champions registered six runs. He absorbed the loss, his fourth against seven victories.

Raydon surrendered five runs while his reliever, Bob Smith, gave up four more in two innings. Ron Blackburn pitched hitless ball for the last four innings, but by that time the Braves had built up a big bulge padded by Torre's fifth homer and Mathews' 29th.

Torre's circuit blow ignited the Braves in the second. Del Crandall followed with a single and raced home on Burdette's double to the left center field fence.

Mathews found the range in the third after Johnny Logan drew a walk. A walk to Hank Aaron led to Raydon's dismissal. Smith then got the next two batters but issued an intentional pass to Crandall.

Billy Bruton beat out an infield chopper and then Burdette unloaded the bags with a triple to the center field fence. Red Schoendienst's single scored Burdette to complete the six-run frame and put the Braves ahead 8-0.

The braves added their final run off Smith in the fourth as Adny Pafko, batting for Wes Covington, doubled and scored on Torre's single.

PAPPAS, O'DELL HURL

Baltimore Beats Red Sox, 7 To 2

BOSTON (AP)—Baltimore rookie Milt Pappas needed one-pitch relief from Billy O'Dell Saturday as he held Boston to seven hits en route to a 7-2 triumph by the Orioles.

Homers by Foster Castleman and Bob Nieman were the chief supporting blows while Jim Busby provided the field gems.

Pappas was lifted after Pete Runnels doubled home Boston's second run with two out in the ninth. Southpaw O'Dell was summoned from the bullpen and on the first pitch Gene Stephens tapped meekly back to the mound.

Pappas, the 19-year-old right-hander from Detroit did not allow a hit for a 4 2-3 innings. Then successive singles by Pete Daley, pinch hitter Bill Renna and Don Buddin produced a Red Sox run.

Busby, who was inserted in center field to tighten the defense mid way in the contest, pulled Pappas out of jams in the seven and eighth innings.

Busby made a fine running catch to rob Dick Gernert for the final out in the eighth with Boston runners on third and second.

The Fenway Park crowd of 9,887 sent the Red Sox attendance over the million mark. The total with six home dates remaining is 1,006,999.

Castleman, a National League castoff, put Baltimore in command, 3-0, in the second inning with his wind-blown homer. After Nieman doubled and Gus Triandos singled, Castleman hit a drive which was curving foul until a strong breeze carried it fair and into the screen in left.

Nieman's solo homer in the fourth was his first at this park in seven years when he hit two in his first two major league at bats for the old St. Louis Browns.

Billy Gardner and Bob Boyd singled in Baltimore runs and Triandos' bases-loaded walk accounted for the other.

The victory was the ninth for Pappas who has lost seven. Boston rookie Bill Monbouquette was the loser. His record is 1-4.

Big 8 Elects All-Stars; To Decide Champ

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Managers of the Big Eight Baseball League will meet "the latter part" of September to declare a 1958 playoff champion, it has been announced by league President L. J. Fox who declared the circuit enjoyed another successful season despite the fact that the final series in the playoff came to an abrupt end.

Managers of the Minden Red Birds and Bernice Lions were unable to come to an agreement relative to completion of their final series, Fox said, and ceased play with Minden leading in games 2 to 1 in what should have been a best - three - out - of - five series. Rains also interferred.

Fox also announced outstanding players as Tommy Wells, Bastrop; Allen Koch, Homer, and Billy Jack Booth, Bernice. Wells was named to receive the Ruston Hardware pitching trophy; Koch, an Auburn star who pitched Homer to a regular season championship, was given the Raymond Heard "most valuable player" award; and Booth, with a season batting average of .372, gets the Willis - Lane batting trophy.

League players, participating in the all - star balloting with the managers for the first time, selected the league's all - star squad as follows:

Jackie Moreland (Louisiana, Tech), Minden; Billy Jack Booth (Northwestern State), Bernice, and Bill Carr (a former pro), El Dorado, infielders; Tommy Bell (Southeastern), Homer; Dale Alexander (Murry State), Bastrop, and Pete Embry (Texas U.), Ruston, outfielders. Bobby Elkins, Bernice, was named utility player, and Al Bulloch, Homer, was named manager of the year.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Two football coaches in the Ivy League will have sons playing on their first team this fall.

Dick Donelli, son of coach Aldo (Buff) Donelli, will do the passing on his father's Columbia team. Jordon Oliver at Yale will have son Harry at one of the tackle posts.

16 HITS

Reds Club Phils For 12-3 Victory

CINCINNATI (AP)-The Cincinnati Redlegs, whose hitting has been on the puny side most of the season, clubbed Philadelphia pitchers for 16 hits Saturday and an easy 12-3 victory.

Frank Robinson got four hits for the Cincinnatians and drove in three runs. Jerry Lynch and Pete Whisenant also drove in three tallies each. Whisenant and Walt Dropo each got home runs for the Redlegs while Wally Post and Harry Anderson clubbed circuit blows for the Phils.

The victory stretched Cincinnati's sixth-place margin over the Phils to 2½ games.

Tom Acker, taken out for a pinch hitter when the Redlegs came from behind in a five-run sixth inning, was credited with the victory. Reliever Brooks Lawrence's job was made easy when Cincinnati climbed on John Anderson for six more runs in the seventh.

Robinson and Lynch were the heroes of the Redlegs' big sixth. They each drove in a pair of runs.

Singles by Dropo and Smoky Burgess and a walk to Roy McMillan filled the bases with one out and brought Dick Farrell in to relieve Seth Morehead. Farrell walked Johnny Temple, however, to force in one run. Lynch doubled in two more and Robinson singled in the last two.

The Redlegs then slaughtered Anderson in the seventh with a six-run outburst. Dropo started it it with his home run. Don Hoak and McMillan singled before Anderson got two out, but Lynch's single scored one run and Whisenant followed with his three-run homer. A walk to Robinson and Ed Bailey's double accounted for the final run.

Prior to the Redleg surge, the Phils had moved into a 3-1 lead. Post got his home run in the second inning and Anderson in the sixth.

The other early Philly run came in the third. Stan Lopata singled and went all the way to third on Morehead's sacrifice when the Redlegs failed to cover third. It didn't make much difference, however, because Richie Ashburn followed with a solid double to left center.

MORE ALTERATIONS

Pros Make Big Haul From College Football Squads

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

Players lured by professional sports or crippled by injuries, shuffled offenses and the usual coaching turnover promise more alterations for the college football season ahead than do the rules changes.

Trying to fill gaps left by men like Florida's Bernie Parrish and Charley James of Missouri has the coaches more concerned than whether their teams will run or pass for two points under the new conversion clause.

Organized baseball has claimed some key operatives since spring grid practice opened at their institutions.

Tom Haller, slated for first string quarterback chores, left Illinois for a San Francisco Giants' contract. He was the school's first three-sports letterman in 10 years.

Parrish was to have been a co-captain for Florida as the team's triple threat halfback. But he hooked on with the Cincinnati Redleg organization as an outfielder.

James, ace Tiger halfback, now is a bonus fly-chaser in the St. Louis Cardinal chain.

As a sophomore last season, halfback Max Alvis started every game, for the surprise Texas Longhorns and played 350 minutes. By late spring he had gone into baseball as has pitcher Norman Bass, former flanker back at College of the Pacific.

Maryland had hopes that quarterback Frank Tamburello, from the Terp glory days would return to the fold. He was inducted just before he was about to begin the '56 season. Tambo decided on pro football instead. The same thing happened at Georgia Tech where tackle Urban Henry made the same decision.

One of the big goals at Michigan State's spring practice was to convert talent-laden Blanche Martin from halfback to fullback. Coach Duffy Daugherty was delighted with the results until Martin hurt his knee in the climax old timers game and was ruled out for this fall.

Boston University will be without the services of halfback John Maio at least until mid-season as the result of an injury.

Backs Phil Perlo of Maryland, Bob Blakley of Minnesota and Paul Sweeten of Houston also will be among the missing.

When the rules-makers changed the scoring rules for the first time in 46 years and liberalized substitution it gave the game a new look for '58.

However, it was only a beginning.

The swing back toward the single wing offense gained momentum as Indiana abandoned the side-saddle T and Texas A&M switched under new head man Jim Myers. Iowa State will keep the "T" despite a change in coachs and Andy Gustafson promises more of it in his varied attack at Miami.

In addition, there will be more spread-type formations and an increase in split ends and wide flankers.

The death of single wing master Henry "Red" Sanders recently forced a coaching switch at UCLA where former assistant George Dickerson has succeeded him.

Paul Bryant has gone back to his alma mater, Alabama, in an effort to rejuvenate the Crimson Tide after his most recent success at Texas A&M.

Other coaching changes include: Frank Broyles, Arkansas from Missouri; Jack Mitchell, Kansas from Arkansas; Dan Devine, Missouri from Arizona State; Jack Curtice, Stanford from Utah, and Ben Martin, Air Force Academy from Virginia. Clay Stapleton is at Iowa State, Frank Kush at Arizona State, Bob King at Furman, Ray Nagel at Utah and Dick Voris at Virginia.

Change is evident within individual squads, too.

Dave Sherer, the nation's top major college punter last year, has been shifted from fullback to end at Southern Methodist. Oklahoma has sent Steve Jennings from right end to left tackle and Bobby Boyd from halfback to quarter.

Penn State developed a few gaps so Maurice Schleicher has gone from fullback to end and Bill Wehmer from tackle to guard.

Army's Bill Rowe moves from guard to center, Indiana's Mike Rabold from tackle to guard and Louisiana State's Red Brodnax from halfback to fullback.

Carter No. 1 On Bowling All-America

MILWAUKEE (AP)—St. Louis' Don Carter Saturday earned the No. 1 slot on the Bowling Magazine's third annual All-America team, gaining first team recognition on all but one of the 137 ballots cast.

Three other St. Louisans—Tom Hennessey, Steve Nagy and Buzz Fazio—and Eddie Lubanski of Detroit joined him on the first team selected for the American Bowling Congress' official magazine.

Carter thus became the first man ever to win a first team berth three years in a row.

The lone dissenter among the 137 sports editors, bowling writers and radio and television announcers who participated in the balloting placed him on the second team.

Second team honors went to Ray Bluth and Billy Welu, also of St. Louis; Bill Lillard of Chicago, Al "Lindy" Faragalli of Paterson, N.J., and Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio.

MASSEY VS. MENACE

Guess Meets Lee At Kallio's Arena

Earl Guess takes on pretty-boy Ronnie Lee, something less than a local favorite, and Al Massey again meets the Black Menace in a battle of villains at Kallio's Arena tomorrow night.

Billed as a double main event, tonight's two matches will have 75-minute limits with two falls to win.

Massey and the Menace, who staged a foul-filled frolic last week, will probably have another of the same tonight. Massey, a bit perturbed at the officiating last week, has requested a different referee this time and promoter Gus Kallio has obliged and Loy Scarborough will call them as he sees 'em.

Lee, the lad with the long curly locks, lost to Jack Curtis last week in his local debut, gaining few friends in the process. Guess, a towering grappler from New Orleans, will have the weight advantage on Lee but Earl plays it clean, a handicap Lee will be sure to take advantage of.

Guess is one of three wrestlers, one a local man, who are clamoring for a shot at Bill Barney and the extra $100 promoter Kallio has offered to the Louisiana man who can beat him. Kallio says Bill can take his pick of his opponents, either in private or public bouts. If Bill loses his first match, it's all over but the offer will be good as long as Bill is winning. The man who beats Bill will get the $100 plus his regular cut of the gate.

Ford, Larsen To Get Ailing Arms Examined

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whitey Ford and Don Larsen, a pair of star New York Yankee pitchers, will have their ailing arms examined by Dr. George E. Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore Sunday. They are expected to rejoin their mates the same day.

Larsen has an 8 - record but hasn't pitched a complete game in six weeks and has won only one of his last six decisions. Ford has failed to finish four times in a row since winning his fourteenth game on Aug. 8.

Task Of Visiting Teachers Heavy

How would you like to be one of three persons whose job it is to keep track of more than 28,057 youngsters who live throughout all of Ouachita Parish?

Sounds like a terrific responsibility, but it is one that is handled with the utmost of efficiency and adequacy by the visiting teachers department of the Ouachita Parish school system.

The gargantuan task falls to two visiting teachers, C. R. Roberts and Miss Gladys Gregg, and one secretary, Mrs. Havis McKaskle, and they have a full-time job.

There are two basic functions of the visiting teacher department. One is to compile and maintain an accurate census of school-age children in the parish, and the other is to work with parents and teachers to get as many children in school and keep them there as possible. Too, it is sometimes necessary to obtain financial aid for less fortunate children who want to attend school but cannot because of lack of clothing, medicine to keep them well, and such.

Roberts and Miss Gregg report that although there is some truancy, the percentage is extremely low — much less than one per cent. One of the factors which plays a major role in keeping the percentage of truancy so low is the cooperation of the parents. The visiting teachers declare that parents as a whole work exceedingly well with the department and it is seldom that threats of court action are necessary, and even more rarely are the instances when a case is actually brought before a jurist.

School attendance is compulsory for all children seven through 16 years of age, although the number of educables includes six-year-olds and those young people 17 and 18 years old.

As of January 1 of this year, the census showed a total of 28,057 educables in Ouachita Parish, including the city of Monroe and parochial schools. This figure represents an increase of approximately 10 per cent over the January 1, 1957, census.

Last year's school session saw slightly more than 22,000 young people in school here, out of a census of about 27,000. It is explained that the differential between the number attending school and the census total is accounted for in main by 17 and 18-year-olds who drop out for various reasons — enlistment in the armed forces, marriage, or to take jobs.

NEW OUACHITA PARISH HIGH SCHOOL

NEW OUACHITA PARISH HIGH SCHOOL STADIUM

IN PARISH SCHOOL SYSTEM

Three New Structures Highlight Open House

Justifiably proud of the material facilities with which it will operate during the 1958-59 session, the Ouachita Parish School board is holding open house in all its 36 schools this afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Superintendent W. W. Ward explained that this is being done to give the public an opportunity to see the great advances that their tax money has made possible in providing the most modern and efficient educational potential for their children.

Opening of the new session on Tuesday will see three handsome new school buildings in operation. They are the Ouachita Parish High School, West Monroe Junior High School and Ransom Elementary School. This means that every school in the parish system has either been built or completely remodelled since 1950 to give parish students all-modern buildings in which to attend classes.

Also added is a new football field and stadium for Ouachita Parish High School located near Selman Field.

Contracts for the school and athletic field were let in late 1956, and the work was completed only recently with the exception of minor details. Cost of the building, furnishings and other equipment will well exceed the $1,000,000 mark, while cost of the athletic field and stadium is about $250,000.

Ouachita Parish High School's new building was designed with increasing enrollment in mind. It can now accommodate 1,500 students in grades nine through 12. Anticipated enrollment for the coming school year is 1,100. I. C. Strickland, principal, explained that the eighth grade was dropped this year to the Ouachita Parish Junior High School which is now occupying the building on South Grand vacated by OPHS.

The new stadium seats 3500 football fans and bleachers can accommodate several hundred more. On the stadium's ground level are a double set of shower and locker rooms for both home and visiting teams, offices for the coaches, a private dressing room for the game officials, and an apartment for one of the coaches who will make his residence there and assist in looking after the school property.

There is a large lobby with concession stand, four ticket booths, two large ramps leading to the grandstand. Crowning the structure is a large press box capable of handling sports writers and radio and TV personnel even for a college game.

Incidentally, the first game on the new field will be played Thursday night when Homer brings its squad here.

Equally impressive is the new West Monroe Junior High School which has recently been completed at a cost of $750,000, located near eWst Monroe High School. Principal Lake Oxford says that everything that could be desired in educational facilities is provided in the new building. Furniture and other equipment is the latest on the market and is designed to aid in promoting learning to the utmost degree.

With Oxford on the staff are 30 other faculty members.

Located on Riggs Street in West Monroe is the new $275,000 Ransom Elementary School which has a faculty of 15, with James W. Walters as principal. It was specially designed and equipped with the most modern facilities to advance the instruction of younger students.

WAITER BLUNDERS

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —West German Finance Minister Franz Etzel went into a cafe with his son for some coffee and cakes and was handed a receipt by the waiter, the Munich newspaper Sueddeutsche Zeitung recounted Friday. "That's for the Ministry of Finance," said the waiter, in line with the practice among West German businessmen to charge off bar and restaurant expenses on their expense accounts. "I am the finance minister," snapped Etzel, tearing up the receipt.

Teacher Roster Largest Ever Recorded In Parish

One of the largest employers in all of Ouachita Parish with an annual payroll running into the millions of dollars, is the Ouachita Parish School Board.

Its roster of teachers alone lists more than 500 men and women—the largest number in the history of the parish school system by about 35 added for the 1958-59 school session.

Added to this are a score or more in supervisory and maintenance categories.

This list of about 550 people operate 36 schools in the parish system, and will be paid approximately $2,500,000 for the coming year. Of this amount, the total of about $2,250,000 will go into the pockets of teachers alone, who are paid for nine months of work in 12 installments.

There are 381 teachers in the 23 schools for white children, and 118 in 13 schools for Negro children.

TIGHTER DISCIPLINE ASKED

MOSCOW (UPI) — Col. Gen. F. I. Golikov, political affairs chief of the Soviet Army and Navy, called Friday for tighter discipline and improved Communist Party political work within the armed forces. Golikov was appointed ideological chief last January after the ouster of Marshal Georgi Zhukov from the top defense post. He said in an rticle in Pravda, "There are still some leaders (in the armed forces) who attempt to reject criticism or accept it only in words."

All Children Get Education, Training Now

Education, and-or training for all the children has become more of a reality here with continuing expansion and development of the guidance and special services division of the Ouachita Parish school system.

It has been but just a very few years ago when youngsters now classified as mentally retarded children, had little if any access to scientific teaching and instruction in the basic elements which go toward readying such individuals for as useful a life as possible under the circumstances.

Keeping pace with the widespread trend to provide special training programs for the retarded child, the parish school system has built up a project which is growing annually in facilities and results.

Not only are the retarded children receiving special attention, for added emphasis is being given to a new program which takes into consideration the educational and guidance needs of those youngsters who are advanced in mental development. These are known as "gifted" children, and special scholastic programs have been devised for them.

RAPID GROWTH

Until two years ago, the parish school system accommodated only one retarded children's class, but the program was stepped up to cover a wider field, and it was then that Mrs. W. D. Clark was employed as supervisor of the newly established guidance and special services division.

Through her efforts, those of her office, and the cooperation of school board members and officials, the program mushroomed, comparatively speaking.

The 1958-59 school session will see in operation, six classes for the mentally retarded in the public schools, and one for "trainables" in quarters at Selman Field. This is two more classes than last year's program maintained.

ENROLLEES

In the retarded children's classes there are 100 enrollees, including the trainables. There are three classes at Ouachita Parish Junior High School with one teacher each, two classes at Crosley, with one teacher each; one at West Monroe Junior High with one teacher, and the Selman Field trainable class at Selman Field.

Six classes for gifted children have an enrollment of 150 on the sixth, seventh and eighth grade levels. They are conducted at Ouachita Parish Junior High and West Monroe Junior High.

An innovation this year is that the classes are conveniently centralized and so arranged that they can be grouped according to the child's ability to learn and his age.

JR. HIGH LEVEL

Also, this is the first time that classes for retarded children are being conducted on the junior high school level, Mrs. Clark pointed out. And, the new school year will see the introduction of the gifted children's program in Ouachita Parish.

Encouraging to those at the head of the program is the promise from the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education that it will provide special training and assistance in job placement for the retarded children as they progress.

Not the least of the jobs falling to the Guidance and Special Services Department of the parish school board has been the education of the public to the needs of retarded children and those of the gifted, and to sell the idea of the potential. The advances made thus far have been through continuous effort and intelligent interpretation of the program.

The duties then do not end, for the department also conducts a considerable amount of hearing and eyesight testing on students, and works hand-in-hand with faculties, in improving guidance services in the school.

School Buses Travel Almost Million Miles

One of the largest transportation jobs in the parish is performed by the bus department of the Ouachita Parish School Board. Its vehicles will travel just under a million miles during the 180 days of the 1958-59 school session.

This represents straight - line travel which would equal the distance of 36 times around the earth. It is slightly more than last year since eight new buses have been added to the service.

Overhauled, greased, washed and otherwise in top condition for Tuesday's opening of classes will be 78 parish-owned buses serving white schools, four parish-owned buses serving Negro schools, 23 contract buses for Negro schools and 18 for white schools.

SIX TO 84 MILES

The longest school bus route is 84 miles, round trip, and the shortest is six miles for an average of 12 to 24 miles per day for each bus.

In charge of the bus department is M. C. Griggs who began working with the parish school system in its bus department in 1945 when the service had in operation only 21 buses, mostly improvised vehicles.

Routes are so designed that one bus may serve more than one school, and in the overall scheme of things, only four schools are served by one bus each. This is contrast to four others which have 32 buses each delivering pupils to classes then returning them to their homes at the end of the school day.

TRIPS PER SCHOOL

Claiborne High, 7; Claiborne Elementary, 5; Cypress Elementary, 2; Drew Elementary, 3; Eureka Elementaryy, 2; Fairbanks Elementary, 1; Highland Elementary, 6; Lakeshore Elementary, 5; Lenwil Elementary, 4; Log.own Elementary, 3; Millsaps Elementary, 13; Mitchell Elementary, 6; Okaloosa Elementary, 3; Ouachita Parish Junior High, 32; Ouachita Parish High, 32; Ransom Elementary, 3; Shady Grove Elementary 6; A. L. Smith Junior High, 4; Swartz Elementary, 3; Watson Elementary, 2; West Monroe High School, 32; Woodlawn Elementary, 4; KiRoLi Elementary, 8; West Monroe Junior High, 32, and Cerebral Palsy School, 1.

Negro schools:

Boley High, 6; Burks Elementary, 2; Central High School, 6; Mt. Nebo Elementary, 2; Myles High, 3; Swayze Elementary, 3; Terzia High, 6; Tim Tippit Elementary, 5; Union Baptist Elementary, 1, and Booker T. Washington, 1.

$10,000,000 PLUS

Parish's School Program Costly

Everyone knows that the day of the "Little Red School House" is long gone, with it the $30-a-month teacher, long treks through all types of weather for the students and lunches made up mainly of cold boiled sweet 'taters, a thick slice of country bacon, ham or sausage between cold biscuits or corn bread for lunch.

But, few realize the giant into which this business of education has grown.

The Ouachita Parish School Board operates one of the two public education systems in the parish — Northeast State College, of course, excluded. To perform its function which is to give the young people living in Ouachita Parish outside the city limits of Monroe, the best elementary and high school education possible, the staggering sum of $10,039,934.22 has been invested in buildings, lands and equipment.

Added to this figure is $288,953.12 worth of text books which the State Board of Education furnishes for the use of this parish's students in classes one through 12.

$3 MILLION TO OPERATE

To maintain and operate these facilities a total of $3,000,000 or more is required. This total must take care of salaries for more than 500 teachers, operation of 123 school buses serving the 36 schools, salaries of administrators, maintenance personnel and scores of incidentals necessary to the educational program.

Approximately 16,000 students will attend classes in all Ouachita Parish school system schools during the 1958-59 session. This is the largest enrollment in the history of the system here, and represents the marked increase noted each year for the past decade or two.

All in all, the Ouachita Parish School system owns and maintains 103 buildings and 41 sites of land which cost $8,253,405.95. Buildings used by white students are on the books as having cost $6,313,370.36. Listed as sites in the program for white students are 282.35 acres of land costing $484,854.30.

Buildings used for Negro students represent an outlay of $1,940,034.95, and 12 land sites totalling 132.1 acres cost $50,543.95.

The school board owns 89 white and four Negro buses costing $234,336.00 and has under contract 34 others.

LIBRARIES

It has been necessary for the board to spend $97,430.10 for 51,279 volumes of books for the elementary school libraries, and $45,495.50 for 23,945 volumes on the shelves of high school libraries.

In further breakdown, pupils in elementary schools in the parish occupy classroom and auditorium seats which cost $156,837.40, while in high schools, these pieces of equipment cost $60,876.00.

Miscellaneous equipment costing $315,800.46 has gone into the various schools.

Bookkeeper Jack Young explains that these figures represent the cost prices and not the current value.

Keeping track of all this property, equipment and money involved is one of the major tasks in the operation of the Ouachita Parish School system, naturally, but it is a job efficiently handled by Young with the assistance of Mrs. Effie Presnell, his assistant, and the cooperation of the many department chiefs.

Unidentified Sub Detected

HONOLULU (UPI) — Navy sources said Friday an unidentified submarine was detected in Hawaiian waters Thursday night and Navy anti - submarine units were alerted but unable to track down the intruder.

A Navy spokesman for the 14th Naval Dist. said he had "no specific comment on this alleged submarine contact." But he added that the Hawaiian sea frontier was engaged in a passive defense exercise which could have caused the alert.

He refused to state specifically whether the contact was or was not part of the maneuvers.

Navy sources said the contact was made at around 8 o'clock on Thursday night (2 p.m. EDT Friday) by a patrolling destroyer and both surface and air units were called in on the search but were unable to regain contact with the sub.

INTERESTING FACTS

Schools Cover 180-Mile Route

It is hardly believable, yet true, that if a person sets out to visit every school in the Ouachita Parish School system he will travel the same distance as that between Monroe and Baton Rouge.

That is, if he takes the short cuts and a minimum of backtracking. To the uniniated motorist, one who has to search out the schools on his own with addresses only as guides, he could flounder around for many more miles and hours before he had completed the circle.

When he started out on the assignment to take a picture of all parish schools for today's Open House section, News-Star photographer Jim St. Julien used good judgement and readily accepted the offer of M. C. Griggs, supervisor of transportation for the parish school board. A veteran of 13 years service with the school board, Griggs knows the shortest and fastest route to every school, probably better than anyone else in the community

The two took off at 7 o'clock in the morning, visited every seat of learning in the parish, stopping briefly to take a picture of each, and were back in the office by 3 o'clock in the afternoon, having halted for lunch during the tour.

TRAVEL 180 MILES

The automobile speedometer showed they had travelled all of 180 miles with a negligible amount of the route retraced.

CLOWN PRINCE ABDICATES

LONDON (UPI) — Comedian Wyn Calvin, who began billing himself the "Clown Prince of Wales" five years ago, said Friday that "I am abdicating as a loyal Welshman." The "abdication" followed a hint from Buckingham Palace that it might be a prudent move. Calvin began to have second thoughts about his billing when Queen Elizabeth II recently made her son, Charles, Prince of Wales. Calvin wrote the Comptroller of the Royal Household for guidance. The reply was that the usage "while not being any way impermissible, may give offense to others, particularly your countrymen."

Home Sewer Has Challenge In Fitting

By BETH BLAIR

Inner construction helps give some of the new silhouettes their chic appearance. Linings and inside slide fasteners should be as carefully constructed and handled as the outside of the garment. A reader writes —

Dear Miss Blair:

I would like to make a sort of trapeze dress but with the front fitted to the figure. How should I go about this?

I suggest you find a good pattern and follow its directions very carefully. Be sure to make any alterations necessary before cutting the fabric. The inside should have a lining to fit the body like a sheath and the front of the dress would be attached to this. It could extend from above the bustline to the hipline or even the hemline. If you are very clever you might not have to line the front of the dress — just attach the back lining to side seams. You'll need a slide fastener in the lining as well as the dress.

And here we are at August 31. Tomorrow is Labor Day, which is really the beginning a new year in these United States. Holiday magazine devoted the whole issue last September to proving the theory that the new year begins now, with the children getting back to school, and adults getting back to work after the unregimented summer. This new year in the Twin Cities gets off to an auspicious beginning with new neighbors moving into town. And what better excuse for a party than to introduce newcomers?

PAULINE SMITH was named guest of honor when BOBBIE INABNET entertained with a coffee hour Tuesday. A native of Pensacola, Florida, Pauline is married to our own CLAUDE SMITH, who is returning home to practice medicine after some years of study. The Smiths have purchased a home on North Ninth street in West Monroe, and hence are neighbors of the Inabnets.

The guest of honor was wearing a beige sack dress, with coral jewelry, while Bobbie chose a tan silk shantung overblouse chemise with white collar. . . . . SARA HELEN GRIFFITH accented her blue suit with gaily printed shoes . . . . MARGIE ROBERSON chose a black linen chemise. . . . . Also in black, with a white lace collar, was JEANNIE AMMAN. . . . . BARRIER SPENCER'S beige linen was worn with walking length coat of the same material, embroidered in shades of brown . . . . Sporting new dark cottons for fall were PAT SANDERS and LAMY STODDARD. . . . CONNIE JONES wore long vari-colored ropes with her blue linen.

Pink roses, althea, and calladium leaves were used in the living room, while the dining table was centered with lavender asters in a silver bowl. JEAN HEUNEFELD poured. Others who assisted were JACKIE CHAPMAN, NELL FAULK, and NORA MARIE INABNET.

Bayou DeSiard neighbors were invited to meet newcomer MARY POTTER at a coffee hosted by JESSIE BARLOW at her home. The Potters have recently moved here from Ottawa, Illinois, and are living on Selman Drive.

The food for the party was really something special. . . . Jessie prepared unusual delectables from recipes collected during her childhood in Calgary, Canada, and her residence in London, England. Her date loaf cake (made with tea and orange rind) was served in thick, buttered slices Also outstanding were the puffs filled with a ripe olive mixture and the broiling hot coconut toast triangles. SADYE LOU CALHOUN served coffee from an Italian pottery coffee service.

Simultaneously, junior Misses MARGARET and DEVON BARLOW were hostesses to the younger set, introducing BUDDY and TOM POTTER. Bean dip, fritos, chocolate angel food, and orange cup cakes were served buffet style with fruit punch and colayounger Potters were: JUDY WILLIS, JOHNNY and BOBBY KELLY, CHARLES and FREDDY CALHOUN, NEWBY M'NEIL, GREG and BOB HUTTS, and RICKY and BILLY BARLOW.

Another "new year" sign is the opening of the concert and theatrical season hereabouts. The membership drive of the Community Concert Association begins Oct. 6 The two attractions already scheduled for this series are the Detroit Symphony orchestra and an evening of dancing by Bambi Lynn and Rod Alexander.

Try-outs have already been held for the first performance of the Little Theatre. Rehearsals for "Visit to a Small Planet" start this week at the Selman Field playhouse.

The Louisiana Tech Concert Association has announced six programs scheduled for this season. Three which will be seen before Christmas are the Little Singers of Paris, the National Symphony of Mexico, and the Players, Inc., production of "Twelfth Night." Several hundred from the Twin Cities drive to Ruston for these performances.

For their opening program, the Twin City Symphony will present their most ambitious undertaking to date. The local orchestra and chorus will join with the NBC Opera company to present "Amahl and the Night Visitors." The cast, costumes, and scenery will be supplied by NBC. This performance is scheduled for November.

JEAN DAVIS (almost an old timer after being three months) was named guest of honor when MARIE COOKSTON entertained with a bridge luncheon last Friday. The living room and dining room were decorated with roses in milk glass containers. Fifteen were seated for lunch, which consisted of tomato stuffed with shrimp salad, finger sandwiches, coconut pie, and coffee. Three tables played bridge, with MARY ALICE LOFLIN winning high, and LUCILLE M'FADDEN, second.

Marie was also hostess at an informal coffee hour on Wednesday morning. Guest of honor was MARGERY DUVAL, who is here visiting her mother, MRS. A. C. WARNER, SR., and the A. C. WARNERS, JR. Margery, with her husband, COLONEL JOE DUVAL, and sons JOEY, CHRIS, and CHARLES, stopped off for a few days en route from Shreveport to their new home in Tampa, Florida.

One of our newer citizens, MARTHANN STOKER, who moved here in the early summer, entertained with a "Hats Off to Monroe" luncheon. This party at the Bayou DeSiard country club honored, to quote the hostess, "the friendly people who've been so nice" The table was centered, with pink crepe myrtle. A tiny pink hat on a pipe cleaner hat stand was found at each place. Thirteen guests enjoyed the trisalad plate with shrimp, chicken and fruit mousse salads. Baked Alaska was served for dessert. . . Special guest for this party was MRS. HARVEY HALL of Baton Rouge. With her children, LEE, TOM, MIMI and CHRIS, Mrs. Hall spent several days here this week. They slept at a motel, and divided their time between the families of Marthann and GREGOR GOETHALS.

MERRILL THOMPSON was honored Friday with a going-away luncheon hosted by KATIE MAE Thornhill at her home. Merrill is leaving today for Gulf Park college, where she will serve as a hostess for the coming year. She plans a visit with her sister MAUD STUBBS in New Orleans en route.. Katie Mae served a cold plate featuring her special chicken salad made with white grapes and almonds. Merrill's favorite Gorman chocolate cake was dessert. Others enjoying this party were CAROL LAYTON, ANNA GRAY NOE, ELIZABETH GREEN, MARY DURRETT, MARGUERITE GORDON, and GRACE WILLARD.

Parties honoring LINDA HORNBEAK are both coming and going parties. Linda has recently returned from a year of study in Europe, and is leaving soon for her senior year at Newcomb . . . MARY ANNA ALTICK invited a group of the college set in for bridge. GAYE OLCOTT won high, and SNUGGY BURNETT, low. Fudge, nuts, and frosted cokes were served . . . Sandwiches and brownies were the refreshments when MARTHA WILLIAMS hosted a bridge party for Linda. Two tables played.

The idea of the new fall hat was the theme of the luncheon hosted at the Lotus club by MARGUERITE GORDON last Friday. Place cards were decorated with fall hats—all different and all on different faces. Marguerite selected the cards with great care, choosing tiny faces that resembled each of the twenty ladies present. Several of the guests had just returned from summer trips and enjoyed this opportunity to compare notes on their vacations.

CEIL PARKER former Monroyan visiting from Baton Rouge, attended this luncheon before returning home the first of this week Also there was LETA TISDALE in her new fall black dress and hat . . . IB HALE, looking particularly pretty in Kelly green . . . MARY GRAY in black and grey.. COURTNEY LAMB wearing one of the new fall blues.. Marguerite was wearing one of the lovely dresses she brought back from Hawaii.

Broiled chicken with asparagus and brandied peaches made up the main course. The party was given on the hostess's birthday, though she didn't tell the guests. Word leaked out, however. And when the dessert parfaits were carried in, there came the surprise—a chocolate almond birthday cake, delivered with appropriate singing.

My candle burns at both ends;
It will not last the night;
But, ah, my foes, and oh, my friends—
It gives a lovely light!

Next, her "Midnight Oil":

Cut if you will, with Sleep's dull knife,
Each day to half its length, my friend—
The years that Time takes off my life,
He'll take from off the other end!

And then, at last, her "Grown-up":

Was it for this I uttered prayers.
And sobbed and cursed and kicked the stairs,
That now, domestic as a plate,
I should retire at half-past eight?

The First Methodist Church of Crossett was the setting Saturday, August 30th at 4:00 for the afternoon wedding of Miss Sandra Elaine Parkhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alford Parkhill, and Charles Clay Yauger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Yauger, of Foreman, Arkansas.

The Rev. John B. Hefley performed the double-ring ceremony before a background decorated with Southern smilax, white gladioli, woodwardia fern, and miniature palms. Five standing candelabra held lighted tapers. Mrs. W. B. Anderson was organist, and Wade Tull, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white lace and nylon tulle over satin. The long-stemmed bodice of lace featured a scoop-neck edged in hand-cut lace appliqued to an illusion yoke, with the hand-cut lace appliqued at the throat. Her long fitted sleeves of lace came to petal points at the wrist. The bouffant skirt was of lace which fell in deep points over tulle. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a cap of lace and shirred illusion accented with seed pearls and sequins. She carried white satin-covered prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. R. N. Fleming, Jr., cousin of the bride, of Dallas, Texas. Bridesmaids were Miss Norma Jean Long and Miss Nancy Stephens, cousins of the bride, and Miss Betty Ruth Parkhill, sister of the bride. Miss Priscilla Stephens, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. All were identically dressed in waltz-length dresses of light green pleated nylon and organza with dark green sashes tied with French bows in back. They each carried a Colonial fan of feathered carnations. Their headdresses were of matching green velvet bandeaus.

The groom chose his cousin, Marion Crank, of Foreman, Arkansas, to serve as best man. Ring bearer was John Noel Lovett, Jr., cousin of the bride. Ushers were Tommy Stephens, Robert S. Green, cousin of the bride, and Don Toon, of Cove, Arkansas.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception in the Social Hall of the Church. A traditional wedding cake centered the bride's table which was covered with white nylon net over taffeta. Three-branched crystal candelabra were decorated with white and silver wedding bells, white satin bows, and lilies of the valley, and holding burning white tapers. The center floral arrangement was of white chrysanthemums, lilies-of-the-valley, clematis, bride's roses, white satin ribbon and tulle in a crystal container.

For travel the bride wore a brown printed ensemble with matching accessories, and the orchid from her bouquet pinned at her shoulder. Following a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will be at home in Fayetteville where both will be doing graduate work at the University of Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Arkansas with a B.S. Degree in Physical Education. The groom received a B.S. degree from Southern State University in Arts and Sciences, and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Charles Pape, of Dallas, who poured. Mrs. Gerald Hopper cut the cake, Miss Peggy Ferguson of Woodville, presided at the Bride's Book, and Miss Susanne Stephens, cousin of the bride, gave rice bags to the guests. Also assisting were Misses Becky Parkhill, Margaret Ann McGoogan, Linda Posey, and Mary Jane Regnier.

Miss Tucker's Wedding Plans Are Complete

Famous Ballet Name Taking A Quiet Exit

LONDON (AP) — "Royal Ballet Company," the posters say. And underneath, in brackets, are the words "Sadler's Wells Ballet."

The brackets that now enclose that famous name are like a shroud in which it will one day be buried. For the name "Sadler's Wells," which is synonymous with British ballet, is disappearing from the ballet world.

Administratively speaking, it vanished in January, 1957. The two Sadler's Wells ballet companies merged into one, the Royal Ballet Company, with headquarters at London's Royal Opera House, Covent Garden.

The Sadler's Wells Theater, a fine building in an unfashionable part of North London, was turned over entirely to opera.

Today Sadler's Wells looks at its ballet companies — now under patronship of the Queen — proudly and perhaps wistfully, like a parent regarding daughters who have married well, moved into a better part of town and acquired a new social milieu.

British ballet grew up at the Sadler's Wells Theater. Dame Ninette de Valois — she was made a dame by Queen Elizabeth for her services to British dancing — began ballet there in 1931 with six dancers. The theater had just been rebuilt over the old 17th Century well which gave the site its name.

In those days audiences were limited to a few devotees, and socialites who wanted to affect cosmopolitan tastes. Ballet was regarded as something foreign, like bull fighting. So foreign, in fact, that Britons entering ballet de - Anglicized their names. Edris Stannus became Ninette de Valois, Alice Marks became Alicia Markova, Peggy Hookham became Margot Fonteyn.

TRADITION

A tradition of British ballet was built up at Sadler's Wells, around a nucleus of people who had worked with foreign companies. De Valois, for example, had danced with the Russian Diaghilev Company.

The sudden boom in ballet came during the war. People wanted beauty to replace the grimness around them and something deep - reaching enough to transcend their fears. Ballet provided both.

Audiences reached saturation point in the immediate postwar years. Appreciation had spread wide, but ballet also became something of a craze in youthful circles.

With the Sadler's Wells triumphs overseas, Britons realized they had a new national institution in which to take pride. The craze died, but ballet still fills an average of nearly 90 per cent of the seats and it still has a young audience.

Expensive to produce, ballet finally proved too costly for Sadler's Wells. In 1945 one Sadler's Wells company moved to Covent Garden, home of Britain's grandest grand opera, but kept its name. Early last year, rising costs forced Sadler's Wells to give up its second company.

At Covent Garden the Royal Ballet Company still has a Sadler's Wells flavor. The doting and indomitable mother of British ballet, Dame Ninette, is directress.

Both opera and ballet at Covent Garden are administered by a board of directors appointed by the government. They are also government subsidized.

But this is not enough to free them of financial troubles. Not long ago the Arts Council published a real - life melodrama entitled "Art in the Red." The plot is summarized in the title.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD—The Sadler's Wells Theater in a drab section of North London is the birthplace of British ballet. But since the famed Sadler's Wells companies merged in a new Royal Ballet Company and moved away to Convent Garden, the theater is left only with opera.

DOTING PARENT — Dame Ninette de Valois introduced ballet to Britain in 1931. She is directress of the Royal Ballet Company.

BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK —(UPI)—Many of the leading players in the Broadway productions scheduled for the early part of the new season were put under contract months ago, but there has been a recent rash of signings of outstanding personalities as producers plan farther ahead.

Just when it appeared that the season would have to struggle along without Tallulah Bankhead, long a big attraction, producer Walter Starcke came through with a whole Bankhead package without the usual preliminaries.

Miss Bankhead will star in "Crazy October," a comedy by James Leo Herlihy, co-author of last spring's moderately well - received "Blue Denim." In her supporting cast will be such standouts as Joan Blondell and Estelle Winwood. New Haven and Washington will see the play before the local opening toward the end of October.

Gisele MacKenzie, television's talented lass, and Hermione Gingold, British comedienne who is well known here, have been signed for the leading roles of a musical based on Jane Austen's classic novel, "Pride and Prejudice." It's slated for January.

The vastly successful writer-director Abe Burrows is responsible for the libretto of this one, which will be called "A Perfect Evening." Robert Goldman and Glenn Paxton, Broadway new-comers, have created the lyrics and music respectively.

HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood's Rod Steiger has been corralled by producer David Susskind to star in 'Rashomon" by Fay and Michael Kanin. Work will begin the latter part of October. This is a rather odd item — the stage work is an adaptation of a Japanese movie of the same title that caused something of a sensation here a few years ago.

Off - Broadway has acquired a couple of big names. Eva Gabor is slated for "Lulu" at the 4th Street Theater Sept. 29. This is a "sex tragedy" by Frank Wedekind better known as "The Earth Spirit."

Viveca Lindfors is set for the uptown York Playhouse to star in Maxwell Anderson's "The Golden Six." This will be the famous playwright's first work to have a New York premiere off Broadway. The same house scored a similar coup last season by being the first to present Tennessee Williams' "Garden District."

Another new Broadway venture has comedy star Sam Levene signed for "Make a Million" by Norman Barasch and Carroll Moore. It deals with the frailties of television. The playhouse is slated to get it Oct. 16.

One of the big musicals latched onto a star when David Merrick hired Andy Griffith for "Destry Rides Again," which has a score by Harold Rome, one of the theater's best composers. Griffith, of course, is the actor who made it big in both the stage and movie versions of "No Time for Sergeants." This one won't be along until about mid-season.

Jason Robards Sr., a big movie star of years ago who recently recovered his sight after a long period of blindness, was signed to appear with his son, Jason Robards Jr., who will be the star of "The Disenchanted." This is the play by Budd Schulberg and Harvey Breit based on the former's novel. The leading character is fashioned after the late novelist, F. Scott Fitzgerald.

Other important actors who have been signed recently include: Patricia Neal for "Far Away the Train-Birds Fly," Pat Hingle and Christopher Plummer for Archibald MacLeish's "J. B.," Eileen Herlie for "Epitaph for George Dillon," Zsa Zsa Gabor for "A Game for Lovers" and Joan Copeland for "Handful of Fire."

T. Roosevelt Inspired The Strong Words

THE ERA OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT. By George E. Mowry. Harper. $5.

It was during the first 12 years of the 20th Century that the United States clearly emerged as a world power. Those years also were marked by aggressive federal action to deal with social - economic ferments on the domestic scene. These were the years largely dominated at home, home, and to a considerable extent overseas, by the personality of Theodore Roosevelt.

In "The Era of Theodore Roosevelt," the latest book in "The New American Nation Series," the author says: "Few presidents have evoked more contradictory emotions and conflicting judgments among his fellows than Theodore Roosevelt. The man simply inspired strong words. To an adoring William Allen White he was a paragon of moral and intellectual values. Henry Adams assigned to him 'the singular primitive quality . . . that medieval theology assigned to God — he was pure act.' Others spoke in angry tones of his 'ambitious, imperious and arrogant' character, full of 'brutal fury and coarse violence.' Henry Demarest Lloyd called him an 'atavism . . . with much the same appetite for the spread of ideas by explosion which Napoleon had'."

Now, after the lapse of nearly half a century, during which other presidents like his cousin Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman took over the progressive movement and advanced the social revolution in America, scholars are reappraising Theodore Roosevelt. Author Mowry condenses his study of the man and his times into 295 pages. He achieves objectivity for the most part, although admiration for the Rooseveltian energy is obvious. He writes deploringly of Theodore Roosevelt's ruthlessness in foreign affairs.

RECORDS

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The banjo is one of the least versatile musical instruments yet it is perhaps the most likeable of all.

Its range is narrow but its tone is broad. And you can't play anything but happy music on it.

Eddie Peabody long has been honored as the king of the banjo. Justly so. His latest work, "Me and My Banjo" (Dot DLP 2112), is one of his liveliest efforts.

Sentimentalists especially will enjoy the 14 numbers in this set. Among the songs which Eddie handles so deftly are "Me and My Shadow," "Love Nest," "That Old Gang of Mine" and "Till We Meet Again." But the best of all is "Under the Double Eagle."

Fourteen more exhilarating banjo numbers may be heard on "Nostalgia Revisited in Hi-Fi" by the Banjo Kings, Dick Roberts and Red Roundtree (Good Time Jazz L-12029). These numbers are even saltier than those in the Peabody LP, especially "Sidewalks of New York" and "Oh Dem Golden Slippers."

HARTS

The Happy Harts "Singing Banjo Band" have recorded two LP's that should be in the collection of banjo fans. "Banjo on My Knee" (Kapp KL-1047) and "Banjo and Minstrel Days" (Kapp KL-1061) evoke fond memories of the old days when the coming to town of the minstrel show was the big event of the year. Each LP offers 26 numbers with choruses.

These LP's, along with "Hey! Mr. Banjo" (Kapp KL-1002) and the Peabody and Banjo King LPs should give any collector hours of enjoyment.

Tops in Pops — "Love Song from 'Houseboat' " by Sophia Loren (Columbia 4-41200), "It Happened at the Hop" by the Austin Sisters (Edison - International F-401), "Moon Tan" by The Techniques (Roulette R-4097) and "Single 'n' Searchin' " by Terry Miller (Liberty F-55146).

Show Time — In addition to a 12-inch LP, RCA-Victor is offering music from "King Creole" with Elvis Presley on two 45 rpm EP's (RCA Victor EPA-4319 and EPA 4321).

LP of the Week — "The Immortal Al Jolson" (Decca DL 9063). Here are some of the really great Jolson songs. "Rock-a-Bye Your Baby With a Dixie Melody," "For Me and My Gal" and "Ma She's Makin' Eyes at Me" will make you wonder if we really need hi-fi as these were made long ago.

Stereoscope — Capitol is moving into stereophonic sound on a big scale early in September. Advance LP's indicate it will produce excellent two - channel music. Among the first issues are "Ports of Pleasure" by Les Baxter (ST-868), "Big Band Stereo" (SW-1055) and "Sea of Dreams" by Nelson Riddle (ST-915).

Secret Of Luca Is A Top Work

THE SECRET OF LUCA. By Ignazio Silone. Harper & Brothers. $3.50.

Silone is a master of the simple, straightforward narrative, shorn of all frills, that illuminates the meaning of life. "The Secret of Luca" is another triumph for the great Italian storyteller.

The plot of this novelette is stark and original. Luca Sabatini, a simple Italian peasant, has been released from prison after serving 40 years for a murder that, it is now established, he did not commit. He returns to the poor village where once he lived. The old people are terrified. They knew he was innocent, yet never came forward to save him when he went on trial. It would seem obvious that he would seek revenge.

But Luca has no such idea in mind. Instead he wants to see the familiar hills and a few friends. A noted politician, Andrea Cipriani, comes home at the same time. When Andrea was a boy he wrote from dictation the letters that Luca's illiterate mother sent to the prisoner. To Andrea, Luca is a symbol of profound importance and he sets out to unravel the mystery of why he did not defend himself at his trial.

Andrea gets no help from Luca until the very end when only a few key pieces remain to be placed in the puzzle.

In a strange way this is a detective story, but because of Silone's genius it is a great deal more than that. There is mounting suspense, dogged investigative work, keen intuition — but instead of a slick explanation in the end, there is insight into the basic human qualities of loyalty and integrity.

Silone's style is as shorn of adornment as the narrative. The village in all its squalor and poverty comes alive through the briefest flashes of description, and the characters are keenly defined and realized.

"The Secret of Luca" belongs on the list of important modern fiction and it is not the least of its virtues to say that it is as readable and engrossing as it is significant.

BOOKS

City of Spades, by Colin MacInnes (Macmillan): A story, told as fiction, of the life a "Spade" (Negro) leads in a city of "Jumbles" (spelled Johnbulls) — London's "Harlem." It is a story of mutual discovery: while Johnny Fortune, newly arrived from Nigeria, is learning how to live with the Jumbles, a native white Londoner named Montgomery Pew is learning with some consternation what life is like for a Negro in the British capital. The book is neither a complaint nor a plea, but a straight - forward account of a way of life. As entertainment the book is a delight. As information it gives a serious insight into a way of life about which some British authorities would rather not talk.

* * *

Around the World with Auntie Mame, by Patrick Dennis (Harcourt, Brace): Even madcap Mame is a bore when her creator resorts to farce as broad and situations as trite as these. In Paris, of course, Mame is a one-night showgirl in the Folies Bergere. In London, she is victimized by a fake peeress, Lady Hermione Gravell-Pitt. On the Riviera, she tries to save her friend from a fortune hunter, Amadeo Armadillo. The book is dedicated to Broadway's original Mame, Rosalind Russell, who deserves something better.

The Once and Future King, by T. H. White (Putnam): King Arthur, a minor English or Welsh monarch who probably gave the Saxon invaders a pretty rough time back in the 6th Century, has captured the literary fancy of the western world as few other persons in history. White's contributions over the past 20 years to the growing mass of Arthurian literature are now united under one title. White's version of the King Arthur story is embellished with shafts of satire and outrageously funny humor. An inspiring and exciting account of physical and spiritual adventure with the beauty — and distortion — of a medieval tapestry.

Wai-Wai (Dutton) by Nicholas Guppy, a British botanist who has made a specialty of exploring the interior of British Guiana, one of the few regions of the world that remain largely unknown. The expedition of which Guppy tells was remarkable. He was the only white man on it. With an arsenal consisting of one beat - up shotgun, he led his team of wildly assorted natives into unknown country to live with the Wai - Wais and other primitive Indian tribes, never knowing whether they would prove to be friendly or hostile. His book, modestly but graphically written, makes a fascinating adventure story.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

5 New Fiction Titles Offered

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The Ouachita Parish Public Library has five new fiction titles to offer its patrons this week. Titles of each of these books may be borrowed from any of the libraries. One of the most interesting is "Chez Pavan" a novel about a great Parisian hotel, written by Richard Llewellyn. There is an irresistible appeal to any story of the behind the scenes activity of a large hotel. Mr. Llewellyn has caught the flavor beautifully and in "Chez Pavan" has given us a glorious, glamorous banquet of a novel, attended by a glittering guest list of sophisticates and eccentrics. Probably the outstanding writer of fiction dealing with the days of the sailing ships is C. S. Forester, whose Admiral Hornblower is immortal. His latest story concerned with the exploits of this redoubtable gentleman is "Admiral Hornblower in the West Indies." The story is awash with a host of colorful, robust, and daring characters, some new, some happily familiar. We meet diplomats, pirates, rude captains and courteous traitors, rough soldiers and impeccable governors. This is truly a treat for all, who welcome a new story about Horatio Hornblower.

LITERALLY

We have literally a host of readers who enjoy stories with a medical background, especially one dealing with the medical practices of a century or two ago. This week we have a new novel on this subject written by Shirley Barker, called "Swear by Apollo." This is a dramatic novel about a young American doctor in eighteenth-century Scotland. In addition to the medical background there is an exciting drama for tangled love and ambition.

Francis Scott Fitzgerald was probably the most popular novelist of the twenties and his books have had a great revival in the past few years. Some of them were out - of - print and are gradually being reprinted. This week we are happy to have for our readers again "The Beautiful and Damned." This is a remarkable story of young love and marriage and just as vivid as it was when written a generation ago. Those who have read Rose Franken's "Claudia" books will welcome a new novel about the same characters. Those who haven't will still enjoy her latest book "The Antic Years" for the picture it presents of a mature marriage. Here we have an unforgettable reading experience provided by the combination of Miss Franken's rare wit and the unabashed tenderness of two people passionately in love. To use her own words it marks "The end of the beginning."

The field of literature written just for young adults is a comparatively new one in the publishing world, but each week new titles are being released to fit the needs of this age group. In each of our libraries and on the Bookmobile we have a special section for this type of books and they are extremely popular. This week there are two new titles. "The Shawnee Tomahawk" by Frances Leigh Williams, which will appeal to all who like an exciting Indian story and "The Underwater World" by John Tassos. This is a complete guide to all phases of safe underwater fun in ocean, rivers and lakes.

For the past week we have had a fine free week at all branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library and have had remarkable results in recovering some of our overdue books. Since we have a holiday tomorrow for Labor Day, all books which are turned through the book slots this week-end will still be fine free. If you have overdue books this is your last chance.

Rankest Book On Market At Present Time

THE BRAMBLE BUSH. By Charles Mergendahl. G. P. Putnam's Sons. $3.95.

This is an inspired novel — inspired by the phenomenal sales of Peyton Place and the prospect of another sex-ridden movie about a New England town.

The sale has already been made to Hollywood for a "major production," and the promotional machine has been in high gear for weeks, getting ready to give it a big push into the best seller class.

Like Peyton Place, this one has a doctor who commits a crime to spare other human beings suffering and goes to trial for it. It also has a gallary of sexual wierdies to garnish the central story. Exhibit A is the repulsive editor of the local weekly paper who blackmails girls into posing in the altogether for his polaroid camera. There is, too, the fetching blonde nurse who accompanies her offers of love and understanding with a semi - strip. Her boy-friend through much of the book is an Adnois of a lawyer whose first experience with sex was incestuous. As a result, he is unable to take the initiative in subsequent love affairs. But the blonde nurse helps him over that hurdle.

The main story concerns Dr. Guy Montford and his uncontrollable passion for the wife of his hopelessly ill best friend. He dispatches the suffering invalid with an overdose of morphine, believing it an act of mercy. Later, he has doubts. He also has a wretched experience when, thrown into jail on a charge of homicide, he finds himself in the same cell with the alcoholic town bum — and learns that the bum is his real father.

This must surely rank as one of the rankest scenes in recent fiction and brings the whole story close to absurdity. The characters for the most part are drawn broadly and superficially, good enough for movie casting. If you're not interested in sincerity, artistic quality or freshness of vision, but can go along with a concocted story held together with a generous assortment of sex this is your book.

Three State Ministers To Visit Missions

Three Louisiana Methodists will be among 31 ministers and one layman from throughout the U. S. who will participate in a Methodist evangelistic mission to Bolivia, Chile, and Peru during September.

They are the Rev. J. Henry Bowdon, pastor of Carrollton Methodist Church, New Orleans; the Rev. William P. Fraser, pastor of First Methodist, Homer; and the Rev. A. W. Townsend, Alexandria, superintendent of the Alexandria Methodist district.

The mission is being sponsored by the Methodist general board of missions, New York City, and the Methodist general board of evangelism, Nashville. Director of the mission will be Dr. George H. Jones, Nashville, staff member of the board of evangelism, and assistant director, D. E. Jackson, Nashville, treasurer of the board.

After two days of training in Miami by the board of missions, the group will leave this country by plane this week. They will return Oct. 2.

During the major part of the mission, Sept. 14-28, the U. S. leaders will do evangelistic preaching through interpreters and train nationals in visitation evangelism and other evangelistic principles and techniques. Some will work in Bolivia and others in Chile and Peru.

Much of the rest of the time will be spent in visiting Methodist missionaries and mission projects such as churches, schools, and agricultural centers. Panama, as well as the other three countries, will be included in this visitation.

"Some of the points of interest to be visited," said Dr. Jones, "will be Panama City, Panama; La Paz, Bolivia, the highest capital city in the world; Lima, Peru; and Santiago, Chile. Of particular interest will be a visit to a buried Indian city near Lima and to a present - day Indian village of Ancoraimes, Bolivia. Methodist work is being done in the Bolivian Indian village, which is by Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable body of water in the world."

The Methodist church has about 90,000 members and more than 16,000 preparatory members in Latin America.

THE MEN'S CLUB of Our Lady of Fatima Church presented the church with a check for $650 to be used in the construction of the new church building under construction. The check is shown being presented to Father D. A. Curren, assistant pastor of the church, by Norman Presse, president of the club, and Leo Ritter, vice president.

Businessmen Put New Life In Old Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex (AP)—A businessman-pastor is putting new life into the historic Little Church of La Villita, one of the oldest Protestant churches in San Antonio.

In less than two years, the Rev. R. Paul Soupiset has converted it from a sometime evangelistic temple and lodge hall into a city-owned downtown retreat for business people.

The Rev. Mr. Soupiset, has been pastor of the Little Church since late in 1956 when he arrived from Houston to manage a women's apparel store.

"The aim of this effort," he says, "is based upon a much needed ministry to those individuals in the market place who for the most part profess no church affiliation.

"We are not establishing a new church but attempting to bolster those that already exist."

Each evening service is attended by people of a variety of denominations. Since it's located only four blocks from the Alamo, the shrine of Texas liberty, many tourists also drop in for prayer or rest.

The Rev. Mr. Soupiset and his assistant, Robert Harmon, a traveling salesman for a metal products firm, serve without pay. The church's expenses and charitable activities are supported by gifts.

The church considers that it was founded in 1844 when the Rev. John Wesley de Vilbis, the first Methodist minister in San Antonio, bought the site and put a bell on the lot.

Each Sunday, he would summon his flock with the bell and then lead them to services in the court house a few blocks away. The present church was not built until 1876.

Twenty years later, it became a Protestant Episcopal school for Negro children and, during World War II, it housed the Red Cross and a men's Bible class.

The city of San Antonio bought the church in 1945 as part of its program for restoring La Villita as a Texas village of frontier days, similar to Virginia's colonial Williamsburg.

REVIVALIST—The Rev. J. W. Maxwell, a 1958 graduate of Louisiana College, will be evangelist for a youth led revival at the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church in West Monroe during the coming week. Named "Mr. College" at his school last year, Maxwell was listed in Who's Who during his junior and senior years.

Nazarenes Set State Assembly At Pineville

The Nazarene church is celebrating its denominational golden anniversary this year. Many from this area will go to Pilot Point, Texas, next October 13, for the unveiling of a marker where the formal union service and start of the church took place in 1908.

MY ANSWER
by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Almost all of my family and acquaintances are Christians. They keep telling me to read the Bible and find out how to live the Christian life. Honestly, I get bored when I sit down to read it and when I try to pray I keep thinking of a thousand other things. Is there something wrong with me? M. P.

ANSWER: I don't think there is anything wrong with you that is not typical of most young people. Having grown up in a religious atmosphere, you are right now passing through a period of revolt. You want to be on your own and make your own decisions without their influence.

There is another fact you should know. One of the Devil's methods is to attack everyone, old and young, in this matter. He knows that the Word of God is powerful, and He will try to keep you from it. That means you are involved in a spiritual warfare.

If you would stop for a moment and think as a mature person, you would realize that your parents are trying to get you to do what is for your good. Don't rebel, but give God the opportunity to change your life and help you over the problems of youth, for they are many. Solomon once said, "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth," and this is what you should do to find the greatest joy.

New members welcomed into the Society were: Mrs. W. E. Reinschmidt and Mrs. Leo McStravick.

The next meeting of the society was scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. A. V. Breard on Point Drive.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served as a paratrooper for 2½ years in the European theatre.

Hard Surface Helps Garden

By MILDRED SWIFT

The question uppermost in our minds these days is: How can I have a lovely garden with minimum upkeep? One answer is—use more hard surfacing so there will be less lawn to mow, water, fertilize and spray. Next is—use fences for privacy so there will be fewer shrubs to prune, fertilize, water and spray.

EXAMPLE

In the picture you see a back garden where both of these ideas are used. This is located at 1603 Auburn Avenue, Monroe: the home of the Felix Willey's. The moss draped fence is stained to a mellow brown that blends with natures background so perfectly one hardly realizes it is there. Tall banana plants keep the fence from becoming monotonous. Azaleas give color in the spring and another shade of green for background.

To brighten the shadows cast by the twin-oak, the Willeys have masses of white caladiums. For ground cover there's adjuga, fern and ivy. Fatsia gives a bold large leaf, another shade of green and gracefully fits itself to the trunk of the tree.

Tubs of palms, large and small leaf ivy give elevated plants with no roots to compete with those in the ground. Hanging baskets add to the lovely picture that just leads you in to an equally charming dining room.

NEW IDEA

Last week I visited a beautifully landscaped garden with some new ideas for minimum upkeep. One bed was particularly attractive. It was placed at the front of the house, in balance of course. The bed was about 15 feet long and 6 feet wide. One half (lengthwise) was filled in with tiny white shell with a severely pruned pink tree crepe myrtle in the center. In the center of the other half was planted a gray century plant with ground cover of green and white trailing vinca (periwinkle). Of course there was a brick edge on both sides and ends.

Speaking of brick, when they're used for edging, remember they're not an ornament. They are a necessity to hold something in place. Therefore, these bricks are not stood at an angle with one corner higher than the other. Each brick is placed on the two inch side and buried half way which would be two inches, since the measurement of brick is 2"x4"x8". These are placed touching and tops completely level. They soon weather and you hardly know they're there. Never should they be painted to attract attention.

White shell and gravel are extensively used for ground cover in landscaping ground for contemporary houses. You'd be surprised how many plants grow well in such a ground cover.

GARDEN JOBS

This is the last call to reset and fertilize violets. Separate old clumps to single stems, each with roots.

Order tulips so as to put them in the refrigerator for two months before planting.

Look over the bulb pictures and make out a list of daffodils, narcissus, etc., that you want. Remember you only get what you pay for when buying bulbs. "Blooming size" means nothing. The bulb could produce a tiny bloom which would not be what you want. Call for our bulletin "Daffodils for the Yard" and see the pictures of recommended varieties.

NEW!

If you're planting rose bushes this fall you'll be interested in a new protective wrapping for young bushes in storage, developed recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Market Research. It was developed because growers had difficulty keeping rose plants moist in other packing materials.

The new wrap is a lightweight paper coated with polyethylene. It is inexpensive, saves labor costs because it takes little time to pack. It kept roses moist for at least five months.

The only disadvantage of the poly-coated liner was it encouraged mold that caused decay. Researchers overcame this by dipping the bushes in a fungicide solution.

WASHING HINTS

Have you noticed the washing instructions inside your white gloves? Most of them recommend not using a chlorine bleach because it weakens the thread used in sewing the glove together. Keep a small finger nail bruch close by when washing these white gloves. Put the glove on your hand, dip in soapy water, lather the brush and scrub away. Removes all embedded dirt, easily and quickly. Rinse well. Roll in bath towel to absorb extra moisture. Dry away from heat.

When fragile lace needs washing, baste it first to a piece of clean white cotton fabric. Then wash by hand, dipping it gently through warm soap or detergent suds and rinse to remove soil.

JES' TALKING

I heard one woman comment that she's delighted at the way the top designers fail to agree on hemlines. She explains, "Now we can wear our skirts at whichever length is most becoming—and still be right in style. For instance, I prefer the mid-calf length — so I'll just say I'm a follower of Balenciaga's. And women who want to keep their skirts short can just claim to be influenced by House of Dior fashions."

By the way — dark stockings step out with late afternoon and evening dresses. The hose come in deep brown and black with matching clocks. Black hose are featured with dresses and shoes of bright colors, such as turquoise, pink, and chartreuse.

Those of you who are interested in antiqueing furniture, trays, picture frames, etc., can look forward to the Open House TV program on Friday. Antiqueing is a popular finish that gives an "old world" finish that is mellowing, emphasizes carvings and moldings, softens highly decorated surfaces and conceals painting imperfections. It's often just the color object you need in a room.

Wednesday Mrs. Jardine will bring the flower arrangements. Other days you'll visit with Mildred on various subjects of interest. See you next Sunday.

Green Thumb Gets Slide Rule Look

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. I've just —been reading about the pin oaks suffering from tired sap. The plant doctor who was called in found they had an iron deficiency which turned their leaves yellow. He brought them back to health with injections of iron sulphate in their trunks — presumably with an oak - size hypodermic.

In the not-so-long-ago, most gardeners had available plenty of manure horse, cow and chicken and saved their wood ashes to spread around their plants. They depended upon natural rainfall to make these foods available. For the most part, they didn't know why these things were good: they just knew that things grew better if they used them.

It was only a few years back, as a matter of fact, that gardeners were concerned entirely with the big three in plant food: nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Today plant pathologists know about 13 additional elements essential to plant growth, including calcium, zinc, molybdenum and of course, iron.

Most of us still string along wit' dry commercial fertilizers, and are still most concerned with the quantities of nitrogen, phosphorous and potash incorporated in each (the percentage of each in indicated in alphabetic order on the package). But these fertilizers present some problems: they should be incorporated thoroughly with the soil for best results, and even then they may not be available to the plants when they need them most. In spring, for instance, cold, wet soil prevents roots from taking in needed nitrogen; in dry periods there is not water available to dissolve the plant food.

Thus, the newer water-soluble concentrates have taken a lot of chance out of gardening. They are perhaps more expensive, but they are easier to use and more pleasant to handle than some of the older, smellier types.

In addition, ailing anemic plants may be cured and better fed by special applications of the so-called minor elements — like iron —now known to be required by the plants.

Where lawns are concerned, the traditional feeding advice has involved spring and fall feeding with dry, chemical fertilizers. Now there have been developed special formulations, consisting of both quick - acting and slow-acting fertilizers which release nutrients over a long period. Some, in fact, seem to permit a once - a - year feeding in the spring.

Thus what once was a fairly simple operation has become more complicated. It is now no longer possible to prescribe any one method for feeding a lawn or a garden bed. The gardener must study up on his soil and his plants and then — if he doesn't wish to go into the subject much deeper — depend on his garden supply man and the manufacturer of plant food to carry him from there. At any rate, when buying fertilizer, read the instructions carefully: that old green thumb is looking more like a slide rule every day.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Pods, Cones, Nuts In Show

By MARY M. JARDINE

The elegant, contemporary Espalier Tree shown on the Garden Page last Sunday was on display here this week. The design is composed of pods and cones and nuts in pale to deep browns with a few bleached pecans for contrast. The star was lightly touched with gold. Materials include Louisiana acorns, pine cones, pecans and tallow berries, with almonds, chestnuts, walnuts and filberts, pods of eucalyptus and trumpet vine, and pinon pine cones.

LAYOUT

First pegboard was cut to shape four feet high, with the star adding seven inches more, and thirty inches across at the widest place. Each pod and cone was bored, separately wired, and then placed through the pegboard. The berries and light pecans represent lights on the tree. This imaginative and tedious work has resulted in a most effective door decoration which can be stored and used with pleasure for years to come, a reminder of happy Christmases when they are past.

Another beautifull design, constructed on pegboard, was the beautiful wreath of pods, cones and nuts, most of them native of Louisiana. The wreath was 18 inches outside diameter. Again the palest tan to deep brown tones were skillfully blended with transition achieved by size and color, and texture.

Pine cones in various sizes were used and pine-cone flowers (made by slicing the pine cones with a saw.) The stem end gives the effect of complete double flowered camellia, while the reverse flower resembles perhaps a zinnia in form. This delightful wreath can be used year-round if so desired, as it is perfect against a wood panelled wall. Another effective use is flat as a dining table centerpiece. I have seen a wreath of this sort used on the following cloths, depending on the season. Pink linen, chartreuse, dark green and gold at Christmas time. Since they contain nature's own blending of colors they look well against almost any background.

PLACQUES

A lovely horizantal design, about 2' by 12, on mahogany wood, featured a swirled design of locust pods, with tan yucca pods and the darker brown bottle tree pods for transition. The focal point was pinon cones, which are a delightful tan color overlaid with a yellow - green. An added charm to the pinyon cones is that they are fragrant.

Of special appeal was the placque with the crescent design of glycerinized eucalyptus. This takes on a lovely brown color but retains a grayish cast. Accenting the crescent line were the tan, open pods of yucca. As a center of interest, in the curve of the crescent were deep brown deodar wood roses in graduating sizes.

Okra was the feature of a most attractive design also on mahogany wood. This was framed in bamboo, painted a dull gold. The mahogany panel was about twenty three by eleven inches. A vertical design was created by the graceful natural curves of the okra which dries to a pale beige. The seams of the pods are a little darker in color. Accenting the natural lines were brown seed pods of day-lily with a cluster of Safflowers in the center. The outer petals are pale tan with a brilliant orange center. (Safflower is the false saffron of Carthamus tinctorius. Available at your florist).

MEMORIES

"Vacation Memories" might be the title of the entirely different placque. The background wood was white pine, which had been painted white and then the paint rubbed off. This brought out the beautiful grain in the wood in a lavender-pink tone. Sea feather in lavender formed the open crescent design. This was accented with spiral shells in white, shells and coral tinted violet, and other small shells in their natural colors.

This display is most timely, for if you are interested in making placques, wreaths and other designs of these materials now is the time to start your collection. Seed pods of many plants may be gathered now, examples, locust, mimosa, daylily, yucca etc. The pine cones will be maturing shortly. You will want to locate oak trees with a good crop of acorns, and a sweet gum tree. Watch your chinese tallow trees and gather the white seed pods as soon as they burst from their green outer coat.

WORKSHOP

Monroe Garden Club will hold a workshop later in the fall for members interested in making these designs. The variety of materials is endless so start your collection now and have some fun. Bark Beetle Deadly Pest To Weak Elms

A deadly scourge is on the wing now seeking out breeding places to spawn a new population of bark - boring pests that will wreak havoc with America's most beautiful trees. It is the elm bark beetle, which will feed on healthy trees but rarely nests in any but weakened elms.

So plan now to protect your favorite woody pets, advises H. J. Rice, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. The time is near at hand for Fall dormant spraying that will put up a poison curtain against the invaders.

This DDT spray which can be applied into early winter will protect your elms through next growing season. Depending upon leaf fall, spraying may begin in late October or early November.

Such spraying calls for equipment and know - how beyond the do - it - yourself ability of the week - end gardener. It's good strategy to contract now with professional tree men to do the job. At the same time, set spraying schedules for the next few years to come. Dormant spraying to thwart the elm bark beetle, carrier of Dutch elm disease, is most effective done annually.

The ruthless insect has an amazing ability to propagate in dead and dying elms, branches, twigs and other woody debris. Some larvae bettle populations have been counted at between 200 and 400 per square foot. This makes it imperative to practice sanitation, which merely means the removal and burning of all dead, dying or fallen elm wood.

IN PARISH SYSTEM

Music Playing Education Role

In keeping with the modern concepts of education, the Ouachita Parish School Board has elevated music to an important role in its teaching program. As a matter of fact, the objective is to try to make music and singing a part of the life of the child while in school.

Under the direction of C. S. King, music director for the parish school system, the instrumental and vocal musical program has become correlated with the various phases of the overall school program. It has been found that music is an eagerly accepted subject with the great majority of the young people, and has proved its value in helping teach pupils such subjects as reading and related subjects.

MUSIC HELPFUL

It has been found that soothing background music in study periods aids considerably in helping students to concentrate on their lessons. This is in addition to teaching children rhythm and fundamentals of music.

Band, of course, is one of the more popular phases of the music program, and a total of 664 young people, both white and Negro make up bands in 15 schools. The larger and more expensive instruments are furnished the students taking band, while the smaller mus be provided by the individual, King explained.

West Monroe High School where J. Henry Camp is director, boasts the largest band with 132 members, including beginners. Ouachita Parish High School, where B. McHearne is director, has a 100 - man band.

The elementary schools in Ward 5 including Crosley, have a total roster of 100 band members, and West Monroe Junior High School, with 50 members, has as its director Tom Wafer, Jr.

Jack White directs the A. L. Smith Junior High band at Sterlington with 40 members, Lakeshore, Shady Grove and Logtown elementary schools have an enrollment of 50 bandmen directed by Herbert Peterson. Ouachita Parish Junior High School has a roster of 35. Millsaps supports a band of 30 young people.

In all the white schools the total band membership is 587, while the Negro schools list 127.

Sidney Dawson is band director at Myles and Booker T. Washington which have 50 members. Terzia has a 25-member band with Demery Johnson as director. Turner teaches band at Swayze Boley and Central which list a total of 52 members.

TEACHERS COOPERATE

In all instances, the respective teachers are responsible for classroom music.

In the schools for white students, Ramona Cormier is choral director and instructor of vocal music at Ouachita Parish High School. Mrs. Tom Wafer, Jr., holds a similar position at Ouachita Parish Junior High and conducts choral classes in a number of elementary schools.

At West Monroe High School, Mrs. Arnold Kilpatrick is choral and vocal instructor. Mrs. Earl Cox heads that department at West Monroe Junior High School, Mrs. Katherine Steen at Crosley and Mrs. Aubyn Hays at Calhoun.

The music department also is responsible for majorette squad training and girls' marching units, and handles the numerous details connected with parades and contests.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Sept. Is Time To Plant Iris

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Early September is the normal time for separating and transplanting four different kinds of iris: Japanese, Siberian, spuria and the winter-flowering unguicularis. When divided and transplanted at other seasons, these four usually will sulk. Sometimes they just plain rot away to nothing.

LARGE BLOSSOMS

The catalogues have been full of advertisements of the new very large flowered Japanese irises. When you see them, you will have to admit that the ads were not exaggerating. The blossoms are enormous. Since the texture of the petals is thick and the general structure of these irises strong, they do not seem to be too large like most of the "bigger" flowers are.

Japanese irises like the edge of a stream. They will grow well in ordinary gardens where most of us have to grow them, but remember that they like rich soil and copious watering just as they show buds. A flooding of the plants with the nozzle off at this time increases the size of the flowers like magic.

Siberian irises like streamsides, too, and also like to be flooded at bud time. They are splendid in the garden or landscape as an adjunct to the Japanese kinds. Smaller in every way, the Siberians have some blues that are nearer to the real color than any Japanese varieties. Both of these irises grow into an ever closing wheel after you plant them. What you plant is one small slice of a pie. Watch the clumps, and when the "pie" has been completed, separate them and start again. Otherwise the clumps rot.

UGLY ROOT

The same California and Florida nurseries whose catalogues carry Scilla peruviana and many other plants we have discussed in the column here carry the wonderful little winter flowering Iris unguicularis. Order it right now, if you have the catalogue, or write to the column and enclose a self - addressed postal for the addresses of nurseries which sell it. As we have said before, do not be disappointed at the dead looking piece of root you will receive. The winter iris is a drought resistant plant that just looks like nothing you would plant when it arrives from a nursery. It will come out very slowly. Planted at this time of the year, it may not bloom till next year, either. This is discouraging, but once you have it you will never go through another southern winter without the cheerful blossoms that come out almost every time the sun shines from November till March!

Spuria irises are not to be found in every catalogue. They are more like real orchids than any other irises. Tall and straight, they fit well into the perennial border for their beautiful foliage, and they bloom after the tall bearded kinds. As table decorations with light shining through the flowers, they are extraordinary. Spurias just do not wish to be tampered with at any other time than in September. They like water but do not stand for it over them in winter at all.

Couple Marry Despite Warning About Careers

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Western actor Ty Hardin and starlet Andra Martin, warned that marriage now might harm their careers, became man and wife Saturday in the Little Brown Church of the San Fernando Valley.

Hardin, 28, who takes over a starring role in the TV series "Cheyenne" this fall, and Miss Martin, 23, had planned to marry Aug. 23 at Rockford, Ill., the bride's hometown. But they put off the marriage, according to reports, because their agents opposed it.

However, after the postponement attracted considerable nationwide publicity, Hardin and the young actress changed signals and decided to get married after all.

Fashions Have New, Soft Look

By AUDREY DAWSON

A potpourri of harvest cottons welcomes the fall season in magnificent colors, patterns, and fabrics. The 1958 fashion silhoutte is a relaxed and eased one. Highlighting this unfitted silhouette are the bloused dress, the trapeze cone shape, and the Empire line. Every thing is softened - whether slender or flaring. Skirts and bodices have new meaning. There are gathers, tucks and soft pleats to emphasize this soft feminine look.

FABRIC FASHIONS

Velveteen and corduroys reflect new richness in color and pattern. Plaids are as bright as ever and take to play togs, unfitted dresses, bright separates and coats.

Prints dominate the wardrobe scene in velveteen, corduroy and cotton knit in large and small motifs, many in brilliant color. Tweed in year - round weight is tailored and lady like for any schedule.

Designers have gone to great lengths in creating versatile corduroy outfits for day or date. Printed, textured, colored in tones from field and forest, this washable fabric has a vibrant personality for the coming season.

MORE FASHIONS

The globe trotting suit, is styled this season in a new tunic length. A new in fashion is a corduroy trapeze-shaped raincoat that doubles for sunny weather too. The coat is full with a hip belt placed slat style through the pockets. This coat will be an eye catcher for the school campus or city.

DO IT YOURSELF

We see and hear so much today about the "do it yourself jobs.' One of the nicest ones I've seen lately is the house Lucille and James Lindsay built out in the Drew Community. It is most attractive and comfortable, and those of us who know Lucille can see all the many creative ideas that are strictly "A La Lucille" - and of course James has certainly contributed his ingenious ideas which adds up to a most attractive place.

The latest addition to their "do it yourself job" is a lovely summer room which is an ideal place for comfort and entertaining. The room is also equipped with a kitchen and a large dining area. It is an ideal place for relaxation after a busy day at work in town. I would say their place is a perfect therapy for tired and ten. nerves of the modern day.

Freshmen and sophomores attending LSU this fall will be permitted to operate automobiles on the campus. Every student under 21 years of age must have a letter of authorization signed by his parent or guardian, stating that the student has the consent of the parent or guardian to operate a vehicle on the campus. If you plan to use your car, remember to carry your registeration slip or a certificate of title. The vehicle must be covered by liability insurance.

GARDEN NOTES

Divide and reset perennials in well prepared beds - day lillies blue phlox and Louisiana Iris. We have a bulletin on Louisiana Iris which you may get from our office.

If you do not have a compost pile, now is a grand time to begin. Say leaves, grass clippings, pine straw, etc., and allow to decompose for later use. Commercial fertilizer hastens the decaying process.

Order your tulip bulbs now and refrigerate for two months before planting.

OUACHITA FAIR

Yes, it's almost fair time again. Mr. John Birdsong, secretary and manager of the Ouachita Valley Fair, has announced the date October 6-11. So it's time to make plans for your exhibits. Come by the agent's office at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe and get the premium list. Let's help Mr. Birdsong make the 1958 fair the best for Ouachita Parish.

DEAR ABBY

Home Is Your Castle Shouldn't Be Nagged

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: May I congratulate you for your open criticism of bull-fighting. Yours was the first derogatory comment on this sadistic sport I have read in a long time. I've become alarmed at the tremendous amount of favorable propaganda concerning bull-fighting assailing us from books, movies, TV and even interior decorators feature it as their favorite theme. It seems there's a movement afoot to legalize this brutal sport in the U.S. The idle rich or so called "smart set" consider this cruel sport "sophisticated" and call those who voice disapproval "square." Thank you, Abby, for allowing me to express my gratitude to you for your civilized and humanitarian views.

SARASOTA

DEAR SARASOTA: I hold firm to my opinion although I fear you and I are outnumbered for I received many more letters which reflect the following opinion:

DEAR ABBY: Will you please confine your writing to subjects you know something about? Your remarks about bull-fighting revealed your ignorance. Bull-fighting is neither sadistic or brutal. It takes great grace, skill and courage to fall a bull in the ring. You owe your readers an apology. Now, be a good sport, Abby, and admit you are wrong.

SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have been married two years and my husband and I get along fine. We went together a long time and he talked my head off. Now he never talks to me. He isn't rude, he just doesn't like to talk when he is at home. Outside of the house he really talks up a storm and is the life of the party. When I ask him to talk to me and he says there is nothing to say, I feel hurt. Do you think he has lost interest in me or am I being sensitive?

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: A man's home is his castle, and he shouldn't be nagged, persicered or expected to be the court jester when he feels like being silent. Add your silence to his and you'll have an appreciative husband.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't there some law against a mother who is a split-shift waitress and a father who is a cross-country truck driver going away and locking children in the house? My neighbor does this and thinks nothing of it. It got really serious when all four of her kids had the measles and she locked them up and went to work. She said they weren't really SICK, they just had measles. Isn't measles supposed to be a sickness any more? I worry about what could happen if their house caught fire with those kids locked up in there. Who should I report her to?

NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Report her to CHILDREN'S PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION. They will investigate the case and take it from there.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

The singleton in dummy sometimes acts as a siren to players of limited experience. It is not always good practice to take advantage of dummy's short suit in order to obtain immediate ruffs when such ruffs are not a part of the over-all scheme for bringing in the contract.

In today's hand, South's vision became blurred when he saw two scenes superimposed upon one another. It was the more unfortunate because he had just come thru with an enterprising bit of bidding.

South flashed the immediate slam signal and rebid his spades in order to leave no doubt as to the complexion of the trump suit. North might then have proceeded to four spades, but decided that the quality of his hand was such as to justify showing the ace of hearts.

South had little doubt that partner had both aces but, to make doubly sure, checked by way of Blackwood. Expecting to find dummy with a readily establishable suit or a singleton diamond, South reasonably contracted for all the tricks.

After the trump lead, declarer injudiciously set about to ruff one of his losing diamonds. He then cashed ace and king of clubs, discarding a heart, and ruffed a club high in his own hand. When West showed out, his slam had melted into thin air for he could not avoid losing a heart trick. He ranted at an unkind fate that had split the clubs 4-2 altho this, after all, was quite normal.

Declarer had suffered from lack of decision. If he expected clubs to break, there was no need to ruff one of two losing diamonds. Proper play called for establishment of dummy's suit, which could be done even if there were four clubs in one hand.

On winning the opening lead, declarer should cash the ace of clubs and then ruff a low club with one of his spade honors. He then enters dummy with the ten of spades and ruffs another club high. The club suit is now established, and declarer draws the remaining trumps, retaining the ace of hearts in dummy for entry.

Girl Scout News

With everyone bidding farewell to summer this weekend, we'll take one last look back to the summer Scout activities and report on the swimming program, always a popular one. Taught by Mrs. C. W. Cain, Nancy Breard, Dawson Ann Forman, Nancy Martin, and Lynn Zoll, there were 15 classes, enrolling 244 girls for four weeks. Teaching young girls to swim and to observe safety practices are the main objectives of the program, which has been carried out for the past twelve summers.

More of the girls are beginner swimmers than any other classification. Not all girls enrolled can fulfill requirements for a Red Cross card, but those who do are awarded the A. R. C. card which shows that they have passed the required tests. Cards are in the office now and may be called for.

CAKES

Cakes made with honey and baking powder do not usually rise as high as cakes made with sugar and baking powder. Acids in the honey and baking powder account for this.

Monroe Cadet Gets Impressive View Of Britain

TYPICAL OF ENGLISH COUNTRYSIDE. 'WE SAW QUITE A FEW HORSES,' DON RECALLS

Trip Steeped With Royalty, History

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

England and Scotland are more than just places on the map or names in the newspaper to one Monroe youth who has returned from a month in Britain as a member of the Civil Air Patrol International Cadet Exchange program.

To Don Andrews, 1958 Neville High graduate soon to enter Tulane University, England is a nation "very conscious of a need for alliance with the United States." . . . It is people "all very friendly, helpful, anxious to talk about America" . . . It is scientific minded "in airplanes, for example, they have less equipment than we do, but what they have is the best."

Don, who resides at 2308 Hawthorne St. with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Andrews and his younger brother, John, was one of 150 outstanding Civil Air Patrol cadets from throughout the United States who was selected to visit a foreign country during July and August.

Twenty - two other nations exchanged cadets with the other participating countries this summer. Twenty - four American cadets went to England, along with a CAP escort and an Air Force officer.

"I thought the people would be reserved. Instead, they were all very friendly, and eager to help us. I found about two persons who were 'reserved'," Don remarked.

WITH PRINCE

He got a comprehensive view of the British and their nation . . . cracked jokes with Prince Philip at Buckingham Palace . . . inspected the Royal Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Farnborough . . . sailed on Loch Lomond in Scotland . . . and visited Stonehenge and the remains of a sunworshipper temple constructed more than 3700 years ago.

"The British Isles are farther north than the United States — this makes for shorter nights. it doesn't get dark until 10:30 at night. The weather is the thing which is most different from the U. S. It rained quite often, and was cool, and cloudy, but everyone said it was a 'bad summer.' We only had fog four days, though," Don commented.

"Drivers are very courteous they screech to a stop to let pedestrians cross the street — we could take some lessons from them. Roads in England are smaller than our double lane highways — but you see very few large American cars, since the streets are so narrow in many places," he mentioned.

"Small cars are the rule, and they use the center line as a passing lane — even on hills. I was always afraid that there would be one passing on each side of the hill at the same time. The speed is 40 miles per hour in cities, 30 in some — but you can't go that fast due to heavy traffic, winding roads, and their courtesy," Don chuckled.

GREEN

"The British keep the country green — driving down highways, you don't see trash all the way along the road . . . everything is green and beautiful," he pointed out.

How does Britain's economy compare with that of the United States?

"A steak dinner in London cost 85 cents — you'd expect to pay about $2.00 here," Don noted. "Good suits are $25-$30, haircuts are 35 cents, television sets and electrical appliances are much the same as in the United States, and gasoline costs twice as much in Britain."

"Here, when something is old, we tear it down and rebuild. In Britain, the older anything is, the better. They take great pride in the age of their buildings and monuments," he observed.

Monday, July 21, was a highlight of the visit. At exactly 2:15 p.m., an audience with Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth and His Royal Highness Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, was scheduled.

Illness forced the Queen to cancel all her July audiences. But each cadet was received by Prince Philip, shook hands with him, and then relaxed when the Prince began cracking jokes.

"Prince Philip seems to be a fine person. He is a very normal and charming person. He likes to fly his own airplane, and earned all his medals serving with the Royal Navy," Don said.

"He's very pleasant to be with — he's really a prince and looks the part," the Monroe cadet recalls.

"Most of the English people never get a chance to enter Buckingham Palace. They are very proud of the Royal family, and look up to them, to a great extent," he stated, revealing what he learned from English acquaintances.

TEA, CAKES

The British are "very religious about their tea." Don mentioned, remembering the daily observance of 'tea and cakes' each afternoon.

"We were at the Royal Air Force base at Hawkinge on August 10 and 11, gliding. Monday afternoon we had about three more hours for good gliding, but ha dto stop, put up the planes and have tea," he mentioned.

Describing the gliding, he stated, "There was about a 10 knot breeze blowing in from the Channel. We flew in side by side trainers, winch launched. I strapped in and we were off, climbing very steeply about 2000 feet a minute. When we were released from the other plane, our glider plane was about 1200 feet high."

"The view was beautiful . . . on the left, fields . . . and on the right, we looked across the English Channel to France Each flight lasted about 10 minutes. It was just like flying on the back of a huge bird."

"On the second flight, I tried taking off, and when we got up, my instructor did a loop. Then we 'buzzed' the control truck, with all of the boys around it. We came straight for it at about 100 miles per hour — you should have seen them scatter," he remembers.

The cadets were guests of British families for a few days. At other times, they stayed at Air Training Command quarters.

In London, Don and a few cadets were stopped by an Indian in Trafalgar Square. "He asked why the United States had sent troops to Lebanon, and said that the U. S. should let the Lebanese run their own affairs. We pointed out that the United States is ready to protect freedom everywhere."

"The Indian seemed to dislike Russia as much as we do, but he didn't think Russia or Communism had any effect on the Lebanese situation. He was very polite — we spent about an hour discussing the matter," Don mentioned.

TENTS

"On August 4, a 'bank holiday,' we saw fields of tents. There are no motels, so when the people travel, they put up tents at night. Everyday, the parks are filled, with persons sitting on the ground or sleeping in chairs, just getting the sun," he said.

No kilts in Scotland.

"We saw a few persons — guides — in kilts Otherwise, the people don't wear them," he smiled. Many clothes were plaid, though. In Scotland, the people speak with a slightly different accent. The highlands are beautiful — wooded mountanis, valleys, blue lakes."

In the capital, Edinburgh, the cadets were impressed by Princess Street, where brick shops line one side of the street, and on the other is a magnificient view across a half-mile park to a gray-stone castle high on a hill.

The Palace of Westminster, House of Commons, House of Parliament, Royal Rooms, London Bridge, 'Big Ben', the Royal Mews, London Planetarium, the famous Tussauds waxworks exhibition depicting famous persons, Tower of London, Thames River, Windsor Castle, Holyrood House—ancient, impressive, almost overwhelming in their effect.

"The water comes from hot springs, is 110 degrees, and is too hot to be used immediately. It goes through several cooling pools before being put into the main bath," Don pointed out.

On the west coast of England, Don shivered as he watched people enjoying swimming in 55 degree weather. Two days later, he visited the "Queen of the English Riviere," Torquay, an international resort town in the south of England.

Back in Monroe, after crossing the Atlantic in an Air Force C-118, Don has described Britain enthusiastically at CAP meetings and to friends.

"But there's one thing," he confided. "When you're travelling outside the United States, you grow to appreciate your American citizenship . . . you get to realize how much it means."

MISS AMERICA

King's Ransom Awaits Winner

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —A king's ransom awaits the queen who next Saturday will be crowned Miss America of 1959.

The girl who succeeds Marilyn van Derbur of Denver, Colo., in the coveted year - long reign can expect rewards totaling more than $150,000-broken down into a $10,000 scholarship, about $75,000 for personal appearances and endorsements, a wardrobe, auto and other gifts worth $25,000, and about 150,000 miles of expenses paid travel including a trip to Italy and a year - round New York hotel suite.

The Miss America Pageant also spends about $20,000 for the winner's business manager and chaperone to accompany her on trips and it picks up an estimated $3,000 telephone tab.

Seeking the title this year are 51 beauties from 46 states, New York City, Chicago, Washington, D.C., Hawaii and Canada. The only states not represented are Wyoming and Montana.

On. week of excitement, parades, interviews and competition in evening gown, swim suit and talent must be completed, however, before the new Miss America will be known.

And it's here that the Miss America Pageant claims it is different.

While most other contests mainly use the tape measure as a basis for judging, the Miss America Pageant believes beauty is not just skin deep.

THIS YEAR

The $10,000 first prize scholarship indicates the extent of this emphasis.

Last year's winner received a $5,000 scholarship and $5,000 in cash. But pageant officials felt a good college education for Miss America would run close to $10,000 so they dropped the cash award in favor of a bigger scholarship. Other high - ranking contestants will receive scholarships totaling $27,000.

Greater stress was also placed on brains at the local and state levels, where scholarships worth $150,000 were set up during the past year. This raised the total grass roots awards to a quarter of a million dollars.

More scholarships mean better screening of candidates and the selection of the more talented and intelligent girls as Miss America contestants, says Miss Leora S. Slaughter, the pageant's executive director.

"After all, Miss America comes from a local contest and these must be staged with the proper decorup to attract the right girl," she said. "The present Miss America, for example, would never enter a riff-raff contest."

Miss Van Derbur, a Colorado University coed, was a Denver debutante.

MOVIE

"We don't offer movie contracts," said Miss Slaughter. "We are looking for the ambitious girl with sufficient intelligence to know that success comes through work and training."

Miss Slaughter traveled all over the country during the past year supervising the local contests.

Her efforts have paid off. Virtually all this year's Miss America contestants are coeds or plan to enter college this fall. They won scholarships ranging from $500 to $1,500 in state and local contests and many picked up other prizes along the way.

Why all this emphasis on scholarships and brains anyway? Shouldn't a beauty pageant concentrate on the beauty, period?

That's how it was in the pageant's early years. But when Miss Slaughter came upon the scene in 1935 drastic changes were instituted.

She set up the scholarship foundation, insisted on chaperones for the contestants and was the prime mover in the search for talent.

The term bathing suit was dropped and swim suit substituted for the brief costumes the contestants now wear for briefer and briefer periods each year.

Miss Slaughter believes fine looks have their place but should not be over-emphasized She explains it this way:

"Miss America is one-third talent, one-third intellect and one-third beauty. We are trying to select the ideal American girl, not the most beautiful."

This is in sharp contrast with the first pageant, held in 1921 and featuring contestants draped in the most daring bathing suits of that era.

The pageant was originally devised to publicize this resort and fill hotel rooms an extra week after Labor Day, the normal close of the summer resort season.

He's Still Going Strong Despite 90th Birthday

WINNSBORO, (Special) — Although Bruce S. Landis Sr., of Winnsboro was 90 years old on August 14th, the years rest lightly on his sturdy shoulders. He is more alert and active than many persons 30 or 40 years younger, and is at work in his office at the Winnsboro State Bank every day the bank is open.

The 90-year-old patriarch has been, and still is, a power in the educational, financial, business, social, agricultural and political life in Franklin parish and Louisiana.

BRUCE S. LANDIS SR.

Landis is now chairman of the board of directors of the Winnsboro State Bank and Trust Co., president of L. and L. Motor Co., Inc., president of Five Point Service Station, holds an interest in B. S. Landis and Co., Insurance Agency, and has extensive farming interests.

He is a true pioneer of this area and is known as the "Father of the Franklin Parish School System."

B. S. Landis, Sr., was born on August 14, 1868, in Petersburg, Pa. He was educated in the public schools there and graduated from Juniata college in Petersburg, class of 1891. On the invitation of the late Colonel Boyd of Natchitoches, he came to Cheneyville High School and was principal there for four years, and then taught in the Lake Charles High School for two years.

PRINCIPAL

He came to Winnsboro in 1897 and was the first principal of Winnsboro High School, which was the first high school in Franklin parish, for five years. He was a member of the Franklin parish school board for 40 years, fifteen of which he was president. It was only six years ago that he retired as school board member.

During this time he was a charter member of the Louisiana State Teachers association; charter member and past president of Louisiana State School Board association; member of the Southern University board under superintendent T. H. Harris.

Landis has served as a member of the State Democratic Committee, and was delegate to the National Democratic Convention when Harry S. Truman was nominated.

He has been listed in the "Who's Who in America," and served as Colonel on the staff of Governor Sam Jones and Governor Jimmie Davis.

He was the first cashier of the Winnsboro State Bank which was organized in 1902, serving as cashier for 20 years and then was president for 20 years. He was also a member of the executive council of the La. Bankers association.

He was charter member and first president of the Franklin Parish Cattlemen's association; charter member of Winnsboro Lions club; was active worker in the Winnsboro First Baptist church; chairman of the Franklin parish Red Cross during the 1927 flood; and chairman of all five war loan drives in World War One.

French Puzzled About DeGaulle

PARIS (AP) — Does Gen. Charles de Gaulle seek personal power and intend to keep it, or will he step down, as he promised, after getting France on the tracks with a new constitution?

That is the question many Frenchmen are asking themselves today. And more and more seem to be coming around to the view that the general intends to stay.

They point out that in the new constitution he has proposed the post of president of the republic is tailor-made for him. The next president will have stronger powers than any French head of state since Napoleon. Many Frenchmen think he could be virtually a dictator if he wished.

De Gaulle has laughed off the very idea of wanting such personal power. "What, me a dictator at 67?" he told a news conference just before he became Premier. He implied the idea was absurd.

When De Gaulle formed his government after the military-civil revolt in Algiers brought France to the verge of civil war last May, he said he would stay in the job six months. His avowed aims: to restore the nation's shattered unity, give Algeria a new deal and France a new constitution.

NOW BEING

The constitution, now being studied by an advisory group of 39 experts headed by wartime Premier Paul Reynaud, is based on De Gaulle's cherished aim of strengthening the executive at the expense of Parliament. Until now French sovereignty has rested in the hands of the turbulent and factional National Assembly. Because the deputies never could agree on a common policy in the face of daily mounting problems, French governments formed and fell like ninepins. There have been 25 already since World War II.

The constitution, if adopted by a national referendum next Sept. 28, would start France out under its fifth republic with the kind of strong president De Gaulle has always wanted.

Instead of being just a ceremonial figurehead, whose only really important duty lay in naming the next premier, he will have a strong political role to play.

To preside at cabinet meetings;

To call referendums on important national issues;

To dissolve the National Assembly and call new elections within 40 days;

To be supreme commander of the armed forces.

Finally—and this is what disturbs many by its lack of preciseness - the president may "take the measures required by circumstances" in cases where the institutions of the republic, national independence or the integrity of French territory are threatened. That, the critics point out, could be a blank check for almost anything.

Such a president conjures up for many Frenchmen their old nightmare of "the man on horseback" - a military dictator who would give the republic its marching orders and rule alone.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

Group Plans Sentimental Journey

LONDON (AP) — Half a dozen men are getting set for a sentimental journey into the past.

They plan to retrace important sections of the historic trail Charles Darwin covered 125 years ago during his five-year, round-the-world voyage on the ship Beagle. The cruise gave him much of the material for his monumental work on evolution, "The Origin of Species," a book that advanced the theories of natural selection and survival of the fittest.

The six-man expedition will be headed by Dr. Martin Holdgate, a 27-year-old British zoologist. He leaves next week for Santiago, Chile, where he will join other members of the group.

The expedition will poke among thousands of little known islands off southern Chile, many of which were visited by Darwin. And the scientists hope to gather data enabling them to expand some of the great naturalist's concepts.

The expedition is sponsored by the Royal Society of Britain, foremost scientific organization in the country, and the Royal Society of New Zealand. Cooperating with them are the University of Chile, and the Chilean navy, which will provide ships to take the little expedition to remote, uninhabited spots among the islands.

POSSIBLY

"Possibly we'll spot something that escaped Darwin's sharp eyes," said Hodgate. "That may be too much to hope for, but our approach will be somewhat different from his. He was concerned with the origin of species. We will be more concerned with the spread of the species. Why should there be similiar creatures at the tip of South America and in New Zealand and Tasmania? How did they make the big jump? Over a bridge of land which may have existed long ago? Over Anarctica when, eons ago, it was a warm continent? Or did they ride on a log carried along by ocean currents?"

The team, including geologists Sen. Juan Karzulovic and Sen. Juan Yavera of the University of Chile, will make geological, botanical and zoological studies.

Holdgate believes that the botanist of the expedition, Dr. Eric Godley of the New Zealand Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, has the best prospects of turning up some scientific excitement.

"The southern end of Chile has some very old and deep peat bogs, and peat bogs abound with clues to scientific mysteries. A granule of pollen is a very durable object, even resisting the corrosive powers of mild acids.

POLLEN

"There is pollen at the very bottom of some bogs, and some of it is of plants which no longer grow in Chile. It can be identified. So there is a botanical history of the land concealed in the muck of the bogs, and if we are wise enough we should be able to read it. The geologists should help us estimate the age of the bogs, and maybe throw some light on climatic and other changes which have come over this fascinating corner of the earth."

The expedition is a part of the British observance of the 100th anniversary of Darwin's announcement of his theory of natural selection. He defined it as the process that brings about the survival of the fittest, the preservation of those forms of animals and plants best adjusted to conditions under which they live, and the extinction of poorly adapted forms. The process, involving very slow mutations, accounts, he believed, for evolution.

The scientists tracing the spread of species hope that at the southern tip of Chile they may encounter a few members of a vanishing race — the primitive Patagonian Indians.

"We should be happy to meet some of them, and will be prepared with some simple presents," said Holdgate. "Their understanding of local conditions might even be helpful, but they are not our primary interest. I'm taking some color film, just in case."

The studies will be confined to the southern third of Chile, the most northerly region being the island of Chiloe. Midway to the southerly tip of the country, studies will be made on Wellington Island. The most southerly region to be visited, where the Patagonian Indians may be encountered is Punte Arenas and the Strait of Magellan.

The expedition is a reconnaissance party, Holdgate said.

If its inquiries hold out a promise that there is much more to learn on the Darwin larger expedition may be sent.

JIM THEATRE

Twilight For Gods Appearing Here

"Twilight for the Gods," starring Rock Hudson and Cyd Charisse, opens at the Jim Theatre today amid reports of its successful runs in other cities. It has been hailed as one of the most dramatic stories of adventure to reach the motion picture screen and is presented by Universal-International.

The picture is taken from Ernest K. Gann's best seller and is expected to rank with an earlier book and picture, "The High and the Mighty."

Captured for the screen in the grandeur of color and CinemaScope, "Twilight for the Gods" tells a fascinating modern-day tale of the last voyage of a tattered little sailing ship plying the Pacific. Even more compelling than the brigantine's valiant struggle against the sea, however, is the story of its passengers, revealed with masterful vignettes of humor, pathos, love and excitement. Photographed against the tropic splendors of Hawaii, "Twilight for the Gods" achieves a scope and power that places it among the top productions for 1958.

Rock Hudson, currently at the top of the list as Hollywood's number one star, delivers a magnificent portrayal of the hard-shelled sea captain whose emotions are masked by his grim determination to keep his ship afloat. "Twilight for the Gods" is unmistakably the finest dramatic performance of his triumphant screen career, a poignant portrait of a dedicated man of the sea.

Cyd Charisse, in a rare appearance in a straight dramatic role, blends beauty and talent into a vivid etching of a too-worldly woman seeking a sanctuary from her shady past. Already acclaimed as one of the screen's most talented dancers, Miss Charisse proves to be equally adept as an actress of great skill and stature.

Arthur Kennedy, as the rebellious first mate, adds a golden notch to his brilliant dramatic career, playing the unsympathetic role with a deft artistry that few actors could ever match.

Rarely has such a supporting cast been assembled as appears in this film. Each deserves special critical applause—Leif Erickson, as the down-and-out promoter; Judith Evelyn as his untalented entertainment star; Charles McGraw, as the mutinous sailor; Ernest Truex, as the frail little missionary; Richard Haydn, as the British beachcomber; Wallace Ford, as the old sea dog, Vladimir Sokoloff and Celia Lovsky, as refugees; and crew members Charles Horvath, Robert Hoy, William Challee and William Yip.

"Twilight for the Gods," a distinct screen triumph for Producer Gordon Kay and Director Joseph Pevney, was brilliantly photographed by Irving Glassberg.

Taxpayers Of 6 States Paying Record Figures

ATLANTA (UPI)—The U. S. Department of Commerce reported Saturday that rising costs of state government operations found the taxpayers of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Carolinas paying a record $1,975,339,000 in taxes.

The department's Atlanta field office said the cost of taking care of state government functions in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, came to an average of $83.90 for every man, woman and child comprising th 23,544,000 residents of the seven state area.

Included were $230,276,000 in Alabama; $437,171,000, Florida; $317,437,000, Georgia; $162,585,000, Mississippi; $373,750,000, North Carolina; $184,826,000, South Carolina; and $269,294,000, Tennessee.

Merrill C. Lofton, department field manager, said the 1958 state tax collections exceeded those of 1957 by approximately $71,973,000, with all of the states sharing in the increase.

The climb in taxes was around a billion and a half dollars more than the seven state governments took from the taxpayers back in 1942 when collections in the region totaled $421,000,000. At that time, however, the region's population was only 19,026,000 persons.

Florida's 1958 state tax collections were the nation's eighth greatest. The Sunshine State also moved from ninth to eighth place between 1957 and 1958 in sales tax collections.

SNOWFIRE—Allied Artists' "Snowfire" one of the year's most delightful films, tells the love of a little girl for a wild white stallion, who believes that the animal actually talks to her. The picture stars Don Megowan, Molly McGowan and Clairs Kelly and opens today at the Star Drive In.

RANGE BATTLE—George Montgomery is set upon by two outlaws when, as an Arizona ranger, he comes in to clear up the territory in the scene from "The Toughest Gun in Tombstone." The first Monroe showing of this picture will start Thursday at the Delta Theatre. Also on the program is "Spacemaster X-7" a science fiction story.

BEE POPULATION DOWN

IONIA, Mich. — (UPI) — New insecticides which were only supposed to fight unwanted pests are blamed for a decline of 20,000 colonies in Michigan's bee population during the past five years. The insecticides have proved injurious to bees too.

BIG SUMMER RALLY

Question Mark Ahead On Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market reached this Labor Day weekend with a huge summer rally behind it and a question mark ahead.

An estimated 18 billion dollars was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange during June, July and August, based on the rise in The Associated Press average.

Labor Day is a traditional milestone or dividing line for business and the stock market. The question in Wall Street is, "where do we go from here?"

Will business and the economy continue to improve? Will the stock market resume its attack on the all-time highs?

Last week brought no firm indications of where the market was heading. Stocks ended the week with a slight gain, reflected by a 30-cent rise in the AP average. This was entirely due to a late rally on Friday caused mainly by technical factors and featured by a speculative flurry in lower-priced stocks.

A continued rise in steel production and the spurt in building construction awards over year - ago figures were bullish factors. On the bearish side, there was a stiffening in interest rates highlighted by the spreading to Kansas City of the discount rate rise to 2 per cent from 1¾ per cent.

Holland Has Publicist Job In Titan-Tex

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Titan - Tex Drilling and Production Corporation yesterday announced the creation of a public relations department and named a local newspaper oil editor as director of the new department.

Ray Holland, a member of The Shreveport Times staff for the past 4½ years and oil editor for the past year, has resigned to become director of Titan-Tex's new public relations department, effective Monday, September 1.

William H. Parker, president of Titan-Tex, said the locally-based company's "continued rapid expansion has necessitated the creation of a public relations department... Titan-Tex currently has operations in six states: Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Holland will also be in charge of public relations of all affiliated companies of Titan-Tex, Parker said.

Holland is a 1942 graduate of Bastrop High School, attended Northeast Junior College (now Northeast State College) in Monroe, and is a 1951 graduate of Louisiana Tech with a B. A. degree in journalism.

The 34 - year - old former newspaperman is a veteran of World War II, having served with the 20th Mountain Division in Italy.

He resigned a position as assistant superintendent of a production line at the Louisiana Ordnance Plant near Minden to join The Times in 1953. Prior to his employment at LOP, Holland was editor of The Minden Herald in Minden.

Holland is married to the former Miss Vivian Miller of Bastrop and they have four children, James Michael, 8; Janice Elaine, 7; Mary Katherine, 5, and Kenneth Vance, 3. They reside here at 315 Dalzell Street.

Cotton Mart Prices Drop During Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton prices in the domestic market continued to lose ground last week At the close of trading on Friday active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange were down 50 cents to $3.25 a bale for the week.

The sharpest net decline was recorded by the July, 1959 delivery, while the distant October and December deliveries again made new life of contract lows.

Pressure on July was attributed to active liquidation and hedge selling occasioned by its premium over the distant October and December deliveries. It was felt the July contract would be influenced more by the provisions of the new farm bill than by the high support level for cotton this season.

The most distant months were also depressed by the pending farm legislation.

Bond Market In Sharp Drop As Comeback Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government bonds declined sharply this week. The downturn brought further weakness in municipal bonds and some high-grade corporates.

Traders said the bond markets were making adjustments in line back.

Corporate bond losses were not as severe. Investment quality securities showed firming tendencies early in the week, but gave ground the last three sessions. The low yield and utility components of The Associated Press bond averages closed the week at new lows for the year. Foreign bonds improved slightly.

THERE'S NOT MUCH TO DO ON THESE HOT SUMMER AFTERNOONS, IS THERE?
NO-- IT'S BORING
DO YOU THINK MY FATHER COULD WHIP YOUR FATHER?
HOW SHOULD I KNOW? LET'S ASK HIM
POP, CAN YOU BEAT COOKIE'S FATHER FIGHTING?
MR. BUMSTEAD IS A GOOD FRIEND OF MINE- WE WOULDN'T FIGHT
WE STILL DON'T KNOW WHO'S THE BETTER FIGHTER
WELL, MAYBE YOUR FATHER WILL TELL US
DADDY-- COULD YOU BEAT ELMO'S FATHER FIGHTING?
FIGHTING DOESN'T ACCOMPLISH ANYTHING! ELMO'S FATHER AND I HAVE TOO MUCH GOOD SENSE TO FIGHT
WE STILL DON'T KNOW
WE DON'T WANT YOU TO REALLY FIGHT, POP-- JUST TELL US WHO WOULD WIN IF YOU DID
Z-Z
IT LOOKED TO ME LIKE HE NODDED HIS HEAD YES
I THINK HE DID, TOO, AND THAT MEANS HE COULD WHIP YOUR FATHER
MR. BUMSTEAD, MY FATHER SAID HE COULD BEAT YOU UP
WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY SPREADING IT AROUND THE NEIGHBORHOOD YOU CAN BEAT ME UP?
YEH
THANK GOODNESS, SCHOOL STARTS AGAIN NEXT WEEK

YES, I SAW IT ALL.
CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK
ROOKIES—LEARN TO USE THE 2-WAY PROPERLY. SPEAK DISTINCTLY. BE SLOW AND CALM. YOUR DISPATCHER MUST CLEAR MANY MESSAGES.
I SAW THE PLANE THAT BROUGHT YOU, AND I SAW THEM KICK YOU OUT—JUST LIKE THEY DID ME.
YOU?
MY QUARTERS ARE AT THE OTHER END OF THE CANYON. I COULDN'T HURRY TO FIND YOU—GOT TO CONSERVE MY STRENGTH, Y'KNOW.
I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE IT! HOW LONG HAVE YOU BEEN HERE?
SINCE THE TWENTY-EIGHTH OF MARCH.
HERE— HAVE SOME.
I'VE BEEN RATIONING IT TO MYSELF, BUT YOU NEED FOOD.
WHAT IS THIS?
THAT IS DRIED GOAT MEAT.
HOW DID YOU GET IT? I HAVEN'T BEEN ABLE TO GET ANYTHING.
I MADE A SLINGSHOT FROM MY PARACHUTE LINES AND DID A BIT OF PRACTICING.
BUT THERE'S NO GAME IN THIS HOLE!
THERE, THERE! THAT'S ENOUGH FOR NOW— YOU'LL FEEL BETTER SOON, OLD CHAP.
IT TASTED LIKE A CHRISTMAS DINNER.
WHO ARE YOU?

WHAT, SIR, $1¢? FOR A DINKY LITTLE MELON LIKE THAT? I WON'T PAY IT!
THEN YOU WON'T EAT IT, EITHER.
OOPS! I'M SORRY.
WHY, YOU-!
I'LL SUE YOU! WHAT'S YOUR NAME?
SMITH.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: © 1954 by News Syndicate Co. Inc.
$1¢ AIN'T SO MUCH, UNCLE WILLIE. COULDN'T YA MAKE A DOWN PAYMENT ON ONE?
NO... TSK-TSK. WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE, WE NEVER HAD TO PAY FOR MELONS. IT WAS CONSIDERED QUITE A LARK TO FIND A WATER-MELON PATCH AND...
HM-M... THAT GIVES ME AN IDEA, KAVO-- EVERY LITTLE KID SHOULD HAVE HIS FILL OF WATERMELON AT LEAST ONCE... I COULD PAY FOR IT LATER.
I JUST GOT TO HAVE SOME OR I'LL DIE.
HOW DO YOU TELL WHICH ONES ARE RIPE IN TH' DARK, UNCLE WILLIE?
AH, HERE'S A NICE HOLLOW ONE, KAVO.
THUMP THUMP
WOT'S A BIG IDEA, BUM? SAY, AIN'T I SEEN YOU BEFORE? SURE, YOU UPSET MY FRUIT STAND THIS AFTERNOON.
IT'S PEOPLE LIKE YOU THAT MAKE ME SIT UP ALL NIGHT, GUARDING MY PROPERTY!
WELL, WHERE HAVE YOU TWO BEEN? WE HAD WATERMELON FOR SUPPER, AND IF YOU HAD SHOWN UP, WE WOULDN'T HAVE MADE SUCH PIGS OF OURSELVES.
OH, NO!

KEEP A SHARP EYE FOR A HORSE'S HOOFPRINTS THAT MIGHT TURN OFF THE ROAD
ONCE WE SPOT THE THIEF, WE'D BETTER FOLLOW HIM, UNSEEN, TO THE JEWEL TREE, THEN TAKE HIM BY SURPRISE
THORPE WILL BE ARMED, BUT IF HE WANTS GUNPLAY, WE'LL OBLIGE!
MEANWHILE.....
HIS HORSE'S HOOFPRINTS END HERE, TIM, AND TURN OFF, GOING DIRECTLY NORTH!
AND THAT'S WHERE WE'RE GOING, SPUD!

SORRY, WHERE I'M GOING IS TOO DANGEROUS FOR A WOMAN.
AND I WANT THE STORY, MYSELF.
THAT SOUNDS LIKE JUST WHAT I'M LOOKING FOR ~ REAL COLOR! UNUSUAL! MISTER, YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING ALONE ~ BUT YOU AREN'T!

I JUST HEARD... YOUR MOM WAS EDITOR AN' PUBLISHER O' TH' "EXPOSER"! OWNED TH' PAPER! WOW!

SURE... I THOUGHT EVERYBODY KNEW THAT...

MUST REMEMBER, BEANIE, ANNIE JUST ARRIVED IN OUR TOWN...

YES... BESS INHERITED THE "EXPOSER" & HER GRANDFATHER STARTED IT WAY BACK... NEARLY BANKRUPT FIVE YEARS AGO...

BUT BESS WAS MAKING IT PAY AGAIN... AH, BESS... WE WERE SCHOOL KIDS... MY FOLKS HAD NOTHING... HERS WERE THE MOST PROMINENT FAMILY IN TOWN... RICH... RESPECTED...

BU' I LOVED BESS, FROM THE TIME SHE WAS NO OLDER THAN BEANIE... WHY SHE LOVED ME I'LL NEVER KNOW... BUT THERE NEVER WAS A HAPPIER PAIR THAN WE...

SHE WAS A BORN NEWSPAPER WOMAN... GAVE IT UP TO MAKE ME FEEL BIG, AS HEAD OF THE FAMILY... THEN I GOT SMASHED UP AT THE PLANT... FIVE YEARS AGO...

SO, BESS WENT BACK TO WORK... AND HOW SHE WORKED! DOUBLED THE "EXPOSER" CIRCULATION IN FOUR YEARS... THEN... THEN SHE VANISHED...

THERE MUST HAVE BEEN SOME REASON, UNCLE BERT... SHE'LL COME BACK...

OF COURSE, ANNIE... ...WILL... WILL YOU PLEASE TURN ON THE LAMP IN THAT WINDOW IN HER OFFICE? IT'LL BE DARK SOON...

SURE, UNCLE BERT... YOU BET...

"THE LIGHT IN THE WINDOW"... EVERY NIGHT NOW FOR OVER A YEAR... AND IT COULD GO ON FOR YEARS... LONG AS HIS HOPE AN' FAITH LAST, I S'POSE...

SHE CAN'T HAVE VANISHED, REALLY... BUT S'POSIN' SHE'S FOUND... THAT COULD BE MAYBE LOTS WORSE'N NEVER KNOWIN'...

'MAGINE... THERE SHE WAS, TEN O'CLOCK THAT LAST EVENIN', WORKIN' AT THAT OLD DESK... TEN THIRTY, GONE... JUST COMPLETELY GONE!

AMERICAN MILITARY HISTORY IS MADE AS THE U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY MOVES TO ITS PERMANENT SITE NEAR COLORADO SPRINGS...

MILTON CANIFF

WOW! WONDER IF WE'LL WALK PENALTY TOURS UP THE SIDE OF THAT MOUNTAIN?

THAT'S WHY THEY BUILT THE BIRD COLLEGE HERE-SO WE'D BE USED TO ALTITUDE WHEN WE...GET OUT!

I WONDER IF THESE SENIORS REALIZE JUST WHAT IT WILL BE LIKE TO BE THE FIRST GRADUATES OF THE ACADEMY

ERNIE! LOOK AT THIS VIEW!

MEANWHILE

—I-I DIDN'T AIM T' SPY ON YOU...

BUT WHEN I SAW YOU IN YOUR AUNT'S ATTIC IN AN AIR FORCE ACADEMY CADET DRESS UNIFORM, I...WELL...

POTEET, YOU'VE GOT TO BELIEVE THAT I DIDN'T STEAL THE SUIT!... I WAS A TAILOR'S APPRENTICE—

SO I COPIED THE PARADE UNIFORM, USING MY AUNT'S ODDS AND ENDS...

BUT IF YOU ADMIRE THE ACADEMY SO MUCH, WHY DON'T YOU APPLY FOR ADMITTANCE FROM THE RANKS?

I CAN'T DO IT...

I CAN'T TELL YOU...
